IV. THE ISAIAH SHAW FAMILY 682

NAME INDEX 691

FOREWORD

A family history, if it deserve that title, must be based almost entirely on public records and on data contributed by members of the family. Serious errors occur even in official records, and slight discrepancies are of frequent occurrence. For these we make no excuse. We have followed the records, and have stated the recorded ages at death, even when discrepancies of a day or a year are apparent.

We have tried in Volume I to make the account of the first seven generations a genuine history. Few infractions of the legal or moral code have come to our notice in the early generations. These were not of a serious nature and have been included, being too remote from descendants of to-day to disturb them. It cannot be expected, however, when a family multiplies into thousands of individuals, that every member will prove a paragon of virtue. The recent generations in the second volume of the Waterman Genealogy are close to, and include, living people. The compiler has to decide many delicate questions. As an historian, he cannot alter or falsify records. But since the book is intended for the family, he has the option of omitting what may generally be considered discreditable. A frank statement of the rules long ago drawn up for the second volume will be in order.

1. All causes of death are omitted, except when a life was cut short by an accident such as a railroad wreck or an automobile collision; and, of course, deaths in the country's service. The reason: we are not writing a medical treatise, and one never knows what diseases the uninformed may fear to be "hereditary." Cases of insanity and suicide fall under this ban.

2. Should any actual crimes or misdemeanors come to light in the course of our study of the family—thus far in our investigations the Watermans have proved an unusually law-abiding family—they will not be mentioned.

3. Cases of illegitimacy, if found, offer a difficult problem. The record cannot be complete if they are omitted, and if all people possessed the Christian virtues of kindness and charity, there would be no need to omit them. Unfortunately, allowance has to be made for common prejudice. It has therefore been decided to include (if found) children born out of wedlock prior to 1840, and to assign them to their proper place in the pedigree, but to omit such children born after 1840. If any in the latter category are found, they will be placed (without statement of parentage) in the appendix with others who, because of deficient information, have to be assigned to a "miscellaneous" section.

4. In compiling the genealogy of any family, one not rarely finds a recorded date of marriage too close to the recorded date of birth of the first child. As already stated, even the official records contain errors and discrepancies. We should like to believe that all such cases are the result of error, but we have no means of ascertaining the facts and are unable to make suitable corrections. In all cases of this kind we have followed either an official record or the data furnished by immediate members of the family, and disclaim personal responsibility. However, in the event that the records we have followed are incorrect, or that an unpleasant discrepancy has been caused by an overlooked typographical error, we shall be most happy, upon assurance that our printed statement errs, to publish a correction in the final volume of the Waterman history.

5. Multiple marriages are a stumbling-block to the genealogist, especially when the death of a former wife has not been located in the records. Marriages are sometimes found on record which may pertain to the same individual or to two persons of the same name. Every effort has been made to analyze such problems and to arrive at the true solution; nevertheless, mistakes of judgment may have been made. Corrections of such errors will be welcome. When a divorce occurred, we shall make the simple statement "divorced." Although some members of the family, when a divorce has occurred among their near relatives, might prefer to omit mention of it, we cannot "keep the record straight" for future generations without stating the fact when it is known to us; and if there is a subsequent remarriage, it is desirable to state the fact, if ascertained, of previous divorce.

6. Children adopted into the Waterman family, unless they were relatives born with Waterman blood, will usually be omitted; but we shall include their names when they are furnished by members of the family, so as to keep the evidence of blood descent or lack of it clear for future generations. Public records of adoption have not been sought.

No extensive work of this nature can ever be complete or entirely free from error. If any serious mistakes are detected, the editor accepts responsibility for them and deeply regrets them, even though some may be traced to faulty information received from descendants or to deductions based on deficient records. Corrections and additions will be welcomed and, if present plans are realized, will be included as an appendix in the third volume.

ARRANGEMENT

The first volume covered the first seven generations of the Waterman family. The standard arrangement was employed, with reference numbers for children who were carried forward as heads of families in the following generation. Children in the seventh generation who were to be carried forward into the second volume received reference numbers to aid in identification.

At the beginning of the present volume will be found Additions and Corrections to the first seven generations. Following this begins the chronicle of the recent generations, from the seventh generation to date.

A different form of arrangement has been adopted for the recent generations. It is a combination of two systems. Take for example No. 573, Capt. Daniel[7] Waterman, who is carried into this volume from the first volume. His children who are carried forward are numbered simply 1, 2, 3 and 4. These next follow, numbered 573-1, 573-2, 573-3, and 573-4. The last, Elisha[8] Waterman, has two children carried forward for more extensive treatment. They are numbered 1 and 2 in the list of children, and follow immediately as heads of families, numbered for identification 573-4-1 and 573-4-2. The former is Lewis Edson[9] Waterman, inventor of the Waterman pen; his number shows that he was the first of the numbered children of the fourth numbered child of No. 573.

When the material is not too extensive, the grandchildren and later descendants are placed under the head of the family. This condenses the data and saves space, and it also saves the reader the bother of hunting through the book to find each successive generation.

Through this combination of two systems of arrangement, it will be noted that all the descendants of No. 573 are listed before we reach No. 574. In every case, all the ascertained descendants of each numbered member of the seventh generation are listed before the next numbered individual brought in from Volume I is reached.

The explanation of any system always sounds complicated, but this arrangement is so natural that the average reader will find it simple when he actually uses the book. The great advantage of it is that closely related members of the family are closely grouped, because each member of the seventh generation is treated as the head of a group and his descendants, whether few or numerous, are listed in close proximity. But should any difficulty be experienced, the index will aid the untutored inquirer.

Some gaps in the numbers will be found, which were left in the hope, often not realized, that information would be received about missing members of the seventh generation, who would have filled in the numbers reserved for that purpose.

Children of women born with the Waterman name are given, when readily ascertainable. We have not attempted the hopeless (nay, the fantastic) task of tracing female lines of descent further. However, when descendants on female lines have shown sufficient interest to send their family records, we have included them. Hence there is no uniformity in this respect, but our aim has been to make the book as useful as possible and to include data not elsewhere available.

ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS TO VOLUME I

[The editor is much indebted to Mr. Clarence Almon Torrey, of Dorchester, Mass., for several additions and corrections pertaining to the early Watermans and to the Allied Families in the Appendix.]

5. Robert[2] Waterman (page 30) married 30 Sept. 1675, according to the History of Hingham, 3-278; Hobart's Diary notes the marriage as Oct. 1675 [New England Hist. and Gen. Register, 2-254].

7, iii. Joanna[4] Tilson (page 33) m. David Wood, son of David and Mary (Barker) (Pratt) (Coombs) Wood.

9, iv. Margaret[4] Shaw (page 35) m. Elisha Lucas, son of Benoni and Repentance (Harlow) Lucas.

20. Joseph[3] Waterman (page 58) m. Lusanna Snow, daughter of Josias and Rebecca (Barker, not Baker) Snow.

21, i. Josiah[4] Bartlett (page 60) m. Mercy Chandler. Her parentage is not proved. Mr. Clarence Almon Torrey states that considerable research has failed to produce positive evidence that Edmund and Elizabeth (Alden) Chandler left children. Mercy has been called daughter of this couple in printed sources which were followed in Volume I.

28. Lydia[3] Waterman (page 67) m. Samuel Capen. This Capen line is differently stated in Compendium of American Genealogy, 5-106; but the editor thinks his conclusions as given in Volume I are sustained by the evidence.

32. Mary[4] Waterman (page 70) m. Nathaniel Cobb. His parents were Ebenezer Cobb and Mercy Holmes, who m. 1 June 1693.

33. Samuel[4] Waterman (page 71) m. Mary Doten or Doty, daughter of Joseph and Deborah (———) Doty. The Doty-Doten Family in America (1897), which we followed, states (p. 633) that Deborah wife of Joseph Doty was daughter of Walter Hatch. Mr. Torrey informs us that Walter Hatch had no daughter Deborah recorded, nor did he name her in his will; nor has any other Deborah Hatch suitable for the marriage been found.

80. Samuel[5] and his son 230. Jesse[6] (pages 147-148, 327-329).

The Pension File of Elijah Hurlbut of Chatham, Columbia Co., N. Y., (Revolutionary War, W 19845), contains a deposition by his widow Ruth, dated 3 Sept. 1838, when she was 71 years old; she married him 16 July 1786, and he died 25 Sept. 1831. It appears from this and other papers in the file that she was born Ruth Frisbee, and that she was daughter of Philip Frisbee, Sr., by a former marriage; her step-mother, Sarah Frisbee of Canaan, aged 86, also made a deposition.

Jesse[6] Waterman of Chatham, aged 68, deposed that in 1784 he began at the trade of blacksmith in the near neighborhood of Elijah Hurlbut and within a few rods of his house, and became well acquainted with the family. In the spring of 1786 Hurlbut's wife died, and in the summer following he married Ruth Frisbee, "who was a niece of this deponent." Waterman attended the marriage.

From the Frisbee and Hurlbut genealogies, it appears that Philip Frisbee, Sr., from Branford, Conn., was born about 1740, settled at Sharon, Conn., and later moved to Canaan, N. Y., where he died 12 Mar. 1813. His migration from Sharon to Columbia County, N. Y., thus duplicated that of the family of Samuel[5] Waterman (see The Waterman Family, vol. 1, pp. 73-76). It is stated that Frisbee married first, Phoebe Hendricks, by whom he had Gideon (1759?), Samuel (1761), Philip (1763?), Mary, Nathaniel Hendricks (1771), Edward (1774), Ruth (wife of Elijah Hurlbut), and Phoebe. He married second, Mrs. Sarah Beebe (b. 1752, d. 29 Nov. 1842), by whom he had Sally (1782), Roswell Beebe (1786), and Pamelia (1788). This last wife of Philip Frisbee appears to have been widow of Capt. Roswell Beebe (b. at Kent, Conn., 12 Mar. 1750), son of John Beebe, Jr., and own nephew of Lucy Beebe, the wife of Col. Asa[5] Waterman (see The Waterman Family, vol. 1, p. 611).

Philip Frisbee, Jr., son of Philip, Sr., by a former marriage, married Jerusha Hammond, and was father of Calvin Frisbee, born 13 Aug. 1793, who married Polly Waterman, born 25 Apr. 1797, whom we placed (vol. 1, p. 329) as very probably daughter of Jesse[6] Waterman [No. 230].

We placed the birth of Jesse Waterman as "about 1764," but it appears from the deposition that he was born about 1770. Yet he stated that Ruth (Frisbee) Hurlbut was his niece, and she was born about 1767. Unless Phoebe Hendricks, named in the Frisbee Genealogy as first wife of Philip Frisbee, was half-sister of Jesse Waterman, it is necessary to explain the stated relationship by supposing that Philip Frisbee was married more than once before his marriage to Mrs. Sarah Beebe, and that the mother of Ruth was a sister of Jesse Waterman.

Since Ruth was born 1767, it is difficult to place her mother as a daughter of Samuel[5] and Sarah (Chapman) Waterman who were married in 1748 and whose son John must have been born by 1749. Even if we place the birth of Ruth's mother in 1750, she would be but 17 when Ruth was born. There is the further difficulty that Philip Frisbee had children older than Ruth, but that his son Nathaniel Hendricks was younger. This would make it necessary to assume that the Waterman wife preceded the Hendricks wife, yet the Waterman wife could not, if born 1750, be mother of the oldest Frisbee children.

We suggest, with some diffidence, what seems to be the only theory which reconciles all the records. Samuel[4] Waterman [No. 33] by his wife Mary Doty, may have had more than the five children assigned to them (vol. 1, p. 73). Next younger than Asa[5] (b. 1736), there may have been a daughter (b. 1738) who became the first wife of Philip Frisbee, Sr., and the mother of the following children:

Gideon, b. 1759?; d. at Delhi, N. Y., 14 Aug. 1820; m. (1) Huldah Kidder; m. (2) Freelove Fiske.
Samuel, b. 1761; d. at Canaan, N. Y., 13 or 31 Jan. 1813; m. Hannah Foote.
Philip, b. 1763?; d. at Delhi, N. Y., 1797; m. 1791, Jerusha Hammond.
Mary, b. 1765?
Ruth, b. 1767; m. 16 July 1786, Elijah Hurlbut.

It may be noted that Gideon was named after Philip's father; Samuel would be named after his wife's father, Samuel Waterman; Philip would be named after himself; Mary would be named after his wife's mother; and Ruth was a Frisbee name. By Phoebe Hendricks, the second wife, Philip would then be father of Nathaniel Hendricks (1771), Edward (1774), and Phoebe. The children by the third wife, Mrs. Sarah Beebe, are known.

This necessitates the assumption that Samuel[4] Waterman [No. 33], after the death of Mary Doty, married a second, younger wife, by whom at the age of 66 or 67 he became father of Jesse Waterman, born about 1770, who thus would be of the fifth generation and son of Samuel, Sr., instead of Samuel, Jr. This would make Ruth (Frisbee) Hurlbut niece of Jesse Waterman, as stated in his deposition.

The lack of records has made the line of the Samuels [Nos. 33 and 80] extremely difficult. For descendants of the hypothetical daughter of Samuel[4], putative first wife of Philip Frisbee, Sr., the reader's attention is called to the references below.

136. William[5] Waterman (page 211) married Deborah (Lobdell) Bryant, born at Plympton, Mass., 6 Jan. 1746/7. Doubtless she was the Deborah Waterman, Widow, who died at Boston, Mass., 19 Jan. 1821, aged 74. Probably she was living with her son, Daniel Lobdell.

This William, who was of Halifax, Mass., was credited with Revolutionary service as follows: Private, Lieut. Judah Wood's Co., in a regiment commanded by Lieut.-Col. Thomas Lothrop; company marched from Halifax to Bristol, R. I., on an alarm, 9 Dec. 1776. Separately from this, Mass. Soldiers and Sailors in the War of the Revolution, 16-691, shows a long service in 1775 and 1777 for a William Waterman of Bridgewater, Mass. Because of the place of residence, and because this William was reported to have died, the editor did not identify this soldier or include his services.

However, no other William Waterman of age for service has been located in Plymouth County. William[5] (No. 136) had an uncle, Perez, living in Bridgewater, and may have lived as a young man in his household; and the death of the soldier may have been a false report. We therefore state this service here as probably belonging to this William:

Matross, Capt. Daniel Lothrop's (Artillery) Co., Col. John Bailey's Regt.; service between 10 Apr. 1775 and 2 May 1775, 1 week 6 days; also, Private, Capt. Daniel Lothrop's Co., Col. John Bailey's Regt.; muster roll dated 1 Aug. 1775; enlisted 3 May 1775; service, 3 mos. 6 days; also, Capt. Lothrop's Co., Gen. John Thomas's Regt.; company return dated Roxbury, 6 Oct. 1775; also, return of men raised to serve in the Continental Army from Capt. Eliakim Howard's (1st) Co., Col. Edward Mitchel's (3d Plymouth County) Regt.; residence, Bridgewater; engaged for town of Bridgewater; joined Capt. J. Allen's Co., Col. Bailey's Regt.; term, 3 years (also given as duration of war); also, Private, 3d Co., Col. Bailey's (2d) Regt.; Continental Army pay accounts for service from 1 Jan. 1777 to 15 Feb. 1777; reported died 15 Feb. 1777; also, (late) Capt. Jacob Allen's Co., Col. John Bailey's Regt.; company return dated Camp Valley Forge, 24 Jan. 1778; reported missing 15 Feb. (also given 15 Jan.) 1777.

160. Adonijah[5] Waterman (page 244) married third, Dorcas (———) Treat. Her gravestone in Pine Hill Cemetery, Town of Throop, Cayuga Co., N. Y., reads: "In Memory of Dorcas, wife of Adenijah Watterman, who died Aug. 8, 1814, aged 76 years." [Inscriptions copied by Frank A. and Clara M. Skilton; courtesy of Mrs. Skilton.] "The Treat Family" (1893), p. 44, errs in calling the wife of Ashbel Treat, Dorcas Waterman, because that was her second married name, and also in stating the date of her death as 1804 instead of 1814.

Page 255. In the heading, "Children of Rev. Simon," the unfortunate and overlooked misprint "Dickerman" should read "Waterman."

167. Ezra[5] Waterman (page 255) has a gravestone in Bolton, Conn., which states born 11 Mar. 1739, died 28 Nov. 1826. There is a stone to his youngest child, Ezra [No. 464], who doubtless died in childhood, but no dates are decipherable. Ezra's son Daniel (vi) bought land in East Hartford from 1798 to 1800 [Land Rec. East Hartford, 5-408; 6-154, 226, 371, 372]. On 13 Jan. 1802, Josiah

Simonds and Carolina Simonds of Augusta, Oneida Co., N. Y., and Clarrissia Waterman of Bolton, sold to Timothy Wales of Bolton their share of the real estate of Daniel Waterman, late of Bolton, dec'd, held in common with Shubael Waterman; and on 30 Nov. 1808, Shubael Waterman of Bolton sold to Lytha Gaylord of Ashford, Conn., land partly in Bolton and partly in East Hartford, "lately the Estate of Daniel Waterman . . . . . and is one undivided third part" [ib., 7-77; 9-477]. These deeds are important because they prove that Shubael, Caroline and Clarissa were the only surviving children of Ezra; and that Caroline [No. 463, page 525], the correct form of whose name seems to have been Carolina, did marry Josiah Simonds, which was stated in Volume I as a probability.

196. David[5] Waterman (pages 290-293), baptized 26 Feb. 1749; married Elizabeth Wells. Anent the traditional account that his wife had two younger sisters who married William Swift and a Mr. Holmes, we identified the latter as Martha Wells, born 1763, married at Amenia, N. Y., 22 June 1786, Jehoshaphat Holmes. A letter from Miss Katharine S. Doty of New York City identifies the other by calling attention to "William Swift and Some of His Descendants" (1889) compiled by the Wells girl's grandson, George H. Swift of Amenia. She was Mary Wells, born about 1762-3, died at Amenia, 13 Feb. 1824, aged 61, married in 1782, Seth Swift. She gave two of her children the middle name Waterman. Her husband's name was incorrectly stated as "William" in the Waterman tradition. Her grandson calls her "of Franklin" and says that her sister married a Waterman.

This greatly strengthens the theory that Elizabeth Wells (as well as these younger sisters Martha and Mary) was daughter of Eleazer and Ruth (Waterman) Wells. They had a daughter Elizabeth born at Lebanon, Conn., 7 Aug. 1753, but the family was not further traced. The mother of Ruth (Waterman) Wells was probably named Martha, hence it would be natural for her to have a daughter of that name. The Wells family perhaps removed from Lebanon to the west parish of Norwich which became Franklin, Conn., for the name Franklin was mentioned as the Wells origin in both the Waterman and the Swift family statements. The Long Island theory of origin is therefore less likely.

201, iv. Foster[6] Waterman (page 301) did not die unm. as stated. His first marriage has not been found; but he m. as a "W[r]" [Widower] at the Second Church, Scituate, Mass., 2 Sept. 1792, the widow Sarah Neal [New Eng. Hist. and Gen. Register, 60-335]. No children have been found.

215. Zebulon[5] Waterman's correct date of death is 2 May 1792 (pages 312 and 313); it was wrongly read and printed 1794 in New Eng. Hist. and Gen. Register, 80-193, which we followed.

236. Asa[6] Waterman (page 332), born at New Concord [i.e. Canaan], N. Y., 15 Nov. 1767, died 25 Oct. 1808; married Abigail Locy, born on Long Island, 22 Aug. 1769, died 2 Jan. 1829. Their daughter Elizabeth was born in Florida township, Montgomery Co., N. Y., and Belinda at Ballston. From Bible of Elizabeth (Waterman) Curtis, published 1828, which also states death of John Waterman [son of Asa] on 21 Jan. 1831. [Courtesy of Harlow D. Curtis, Esq., Manlius, N. Y.]

248. Jabez[6] Waterman (page 341) died May 1825, aged 45, according to the Hartford Courant, as we stated, but his gravestone at Glastonbury, Conn., states that he died 11 May 1825, aged 58, and that is correct. Apparently no stone was put up to his widow, but probably she was the Mary Waterman who died 8 Oct. 1839, aged 67 [Hartford Times, 26 Oct. 1839]. A curious circumstance is that a John Waterman was listed at Glastonbury in the 1840 Census, 1 male aged 40 to 50, with 1 female aged 60 to 70. The female corresponds in age to Mary widow of Jabez, but her son John died by 1837 (see vol. 1, p. 342), and was younger in age than the John of the Census record.

256. Samuel[6] Waterman (page 345) first bought land in Bristol, Conn., 18 May 1808, and sold his land and house there, 9 Jan. 1815. [Land Rec. Bristol, 10-12, 287; 11-474.] He bought land in East Windsor, Conn., 13 Apr. 1815, being then of Bristol, and had other land dealings in East Windsor in 1830, 1832, 1835 and 1836, selling his home there the last year. In 1832 he mortgaged his home to Waterman Roberts of Hartford, Conn. [Land Rec. East Windsor, 14-77; 19-283; 20-280; 22-79; 23-155, 185, 198, 215; 24-23; 25-12.] Rev. Thomas Robbins wrote, 9 Sept. 1841: "Rode to the Neck in the forenoon, attended the funeral of Mr. Waterman, an elderly man and member of the church." [I. N. Tarbox: Diary of Thomas Robbins, D.D. (1887), 2-626.] Of his children:

iii. Samuel[7], bapt. 21 Mar. 1825; d. 27 Mar. 1825 ae. 1 yr. 6 mos. (gravestone, South Windsor, Conn.).

261. Zenas[6] Waterman (page 348). The following account of the head of the Nova Scotia branch has been received from Hon. Henry A.[9] Waterman of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia:

"The founder of the Waterman family of Nova Scotia was Zenas Waterman, of Kingston, Massachusetts, a soldier of the American Revolution, son of Ichabod Waterman and Hannah Rogers, whose Waterman ancestors had lived in Plymouth County, Massachusetts, from the time Robert Waterman arrived at Plymouth in 1638. The mother of Zenas, Hannah Rogers, had eight children who attained the united age of over 693 years, or an average of nearly 87 years.—And she herself lived to be nearly 84. Is it any wonder the early pioneers of Queens County, Nova Scotia, were of sturdy stock?

"When the American colonists rose in revolt against taxation without representation, like most of his neighbours, Zenas Waterman joined one of the Massachusetts volunteer regiments. He was a mere boy at the time, not old enough to carry a gun, but he was a good musician and played the flute in the drum corps. Later he enlisted as a private and then again as a corporal. Late in life for many years and until his death he received a pension in gold from the United States Government for such service.

"As almost always is true after peace has been declared, to find satisfactory employment was not easy. Zenas had two relatives who had been among the first shareholders of the town of Liverpool, Nova Scotia, but they did not make Liverpool their home. Long before the American Revolution, men of Massachusetts sailed along the coast of Nova Scotia bringing manufactured articles like furniture and hardware and taking back to Massachusetts fish and lumber. Immediately after the war, Zenas Waterman sailed with an uncle who had a vessel in such trade, and in the course of their voyage they landed at Liverpool for supplies. Liverpool had been settled almost entirely by people from the shores of Massachusetts. Correspondence and visits back and forth made Liverpool seem like home. So when Zenas[6] Waterman landed in Liverpool, Nova Scotia, he was among his friends. He himself told my father many times, and my father repeated to me when I was a boy, this interesting story: It was Sunday when the vessel landed at Liverpool. Zenas and his friends went to church. There was no organ. The minister announced the number and asked if someone would start the hymn. It was started too high and they broke down. Zenas then started the hymn on the right note. After church the members of the congregation asked who he was and where he came from and how long he was going to stay in Liverpool. He stated that the vessel sailed the next day. One of the men of the church invited him to his home for dinner. It was there that he met the young woman who was to become his wife. He was persuaded to give up his voyage and remain in Liverpool and teach music for the winter.

"In June 1784 he was married to Eunice Deane, the daughter of James Deane and Hannah Atkins. The graves of father and daughter can be found in the Old Burying Ground at Liverpool. Many years ago I went there to see if I could find those graves. I found the place neglected and grown deep in bushes and brambles. I went to the late good man Abram Hendry of Hendry, Ltd., Liverpool, an old school mate of my father at Pleasant River, and persuaded him to organize a committee and make the place respectable. The present beautiful, well-kept Cemetery is the result of that interview and his energetic supervision.

"Zenas[6] Waterman and his wife Eunice had eight children born in Liverpool, James Deane, Zenas, Uriah, Peleg, Hannah, Eunice, Nancy and Thomas; and the youngest child, John, born at Pleasant River, Nova Scotia. Zenas[6] learned the blacksmith's trade and established his own shop on the west side of the road between the present railroad station and the bridge, near the shipyard, at Liverpool. I have a pair of andirons he made for my great-grandfather Josiah Smith, who bought the first farm of South Brookfield from William Burke.

"When the boys were old enough to look for work, privateers were calling for young men to fight against France or Spain with whom England was at war. The mother considered privateersmen pirates, and to keep her boys from such adventure persuaded the father to give up his business in Liverpool and start a new life out in the country on a farm. There was no road then between Liverpool and Brookfield. Surveys had been ordered by the Government and a route had been blazed through the woods. William Burke and others, including Zenas Waterman, had been through that country seeking the best route. When William Burke arrived at the river at South Brookfield he was delighted and told his companions that there he would make his home. He built a log cabin on land now owned and occupied by Primrose Smith. Zenas[6] Waterman went through the woods until he came to what is now Pleasant River, returned to Liverpool and applied to the Government for a grant of five hundred acres.

"In 1802, shortly after William Burke established his home at South Brookfield, Eunice (Deane) Waterman with her two boys, James, 16, and Zenas, 14, followed this forty-mile trail to see for themselves the land which was to become their home. The mother rode horseback, the two boys walked. They stopped over night in the log cabin of William Burke, the first settler of North Queens County. They followed the course of what has been called the Old Road which in order to avoid bogs and meadows and need for bridges, went over the tops of all the hills, but there was no road then. They came to the river where it runs in rapids below the present railroad bridge, and the mother called it Pleasant River. They came to the brook. The horse was mired and nearly lost in the mud, and they called it Deep Brook. They came to the large granite boulder which rests against the bank at the foot of the hill where my present driveway leaves the old road, and made camp for the night, and they called that granite boulder The Camp Rock. And so these places have been named all these years. The next day they followed the crest of the hill overlooking the meadows and decided to build a more permanent camp. The boys built a log cabin half way up the hill at the head of what afterward became the old orchard. They then returned to Liverpool and shortly afterward, laden with such supplies as would be most needed, the whole family left Liverpool over that roughly hewn road and became the first permanent settlers of Pleasant River. My grandfather, John[7] Waterman, was born in that log cabin half way up the hill. As soon as material could be obtained a new house was built on what now is called the Old Cellar, on the top of the hill.

"Zenas[6] Waterman then was forty-two years old. His family grew up around him. Each son or daughter became established upon a farm of his own, so that for many years before his death the father could sit under the tree in his front yard and see the farms of eight of his children and their families spread out on the hills in a semi-circle around him, as his nearest neighbours.

"Zenas[6] Waterman lived to be ninety years of age. He had climbed a tree and was picking apples when the limb broke and he fell. His feet struck the fence and his shoulders the ground. My father, Lewis Edson[8] Waterman, son of John[7], who was fourteen, and a school mate were near. They ran to him and helped him to his feet and with their help he walked into the house. They called the doctor. The doctor bled him and that night he died.

"All the information I have concerning his life, his family and his associates, came direct to me when I was a little fellow, interested just as my father had been interested when he sat before the big fire place and listened to his grandfather.

"Zenas[6] Waterman as a boy lived in Massachusetts where Indian corn was plentiful. As he developed his farm he set aside a piece of land on the south slope of the hill for corn and called it The Corn Garden. All of the older people still know the west orchard by that name. There were until recently, and there still is one called the Joe Howe tree, four or five large apple trees on the top of the hill. Grafting of apple trees now is common, but Zenas[6] Waterman was the first person to graft apple trees in Pleasant River. These grafts were sent to him by relatives in Massachusetts.

"In those early days there was very little contact with outside life. The Indians came up the river in birch bark canoes, sometimes just a squaw in the stern managing the canoe and a whole lot of little fellows on each side paddling, to trade. They usually camped near the church. An occasional trip over the rough road to Liverpool for the sale of lumber and the purchase of supplies like sugar, tea, coffee, molasses, and for luxuries like silver buckles for shoes and silk stockings, fine linen and dress goods, to arrange for shipment from Halifax. I have in my possession a list of articles purchased by Zenas[6] Waterman from Halifax, as follows:

"These people who had come into this new country had been accustomed to associations of education and culture and good living. They now found it necessary to produce nearly all of what was required for the family. It was not long before other settlers came into that district, and then trade and purchase among themselves became more common and life was more interesting. Religious meetings first were held in their homes when some minister would come into the neighbourhood. The first church was erected at the location of the present United Church. It was stipulated that it was not to be in control of any one denomination but that any minister in good standing should have the privilege of preaching in the order in which application was received. That arrangement was broad-minded and helpful. In later years the Congregational Church of Liverpool by solicited petition took over the control of the independent church of Pleasant River.

"In 1858 my grandfather John[7] asked my father to build him a new house at the foot of the hill, the one in which Stephen[8] Waterman and his wife Dena Wile lived all their married life and which I now have moved up to the top of the hill. When the new house was built down below, the old well dug in 1804, was filled and it disappeared completely. In 1930 I decided if possible to make the old well a part of my new arrangement. I could find no one who knew where it was. And then I remembered that thirty years before, I had asked my father if he knew how I could find it. I had written in my book that he said if I would stand in the doorway of the ell of the old house and take so many paces and stop, I would be there. I started from the foundation of the old cellar where the doorway would have been, walked the suggested distance, and in the open field, where there was no sign of any excavation, we uncovered the ground and hit the spot exactly. The well had been filled with round granite boulders about two feet in diameter. I made a hoist and removed those stones. In the very bottom of the well we found the old spice-mill, badly rusted and out of service completely of course, which had been fastened to the beams of the old fireplace when the house was first erected in 1804. This well had been closed for seventy-two years and for a long time forgotten. The water is as clear as crystal and supplies the full need of the present house."

Pension Files, War of 1812, S. O. 1292, S. C. 2417. Service: Private, Capt. Robert Snell's Co., Maine Militia. He enlisted at Portland, Maine, 6 Jan. 1813, discharged 6 Jan. 1814. Application for pension, 11 Mar. 1871: Thomas Waterman, of Lincolnville, Waldo County, Maine, aged 81 years, states he was drafted Sept. 1814, for forty days, and served forty-seven days at Portland. He was in Battle of Shattagee Wood, and was discharged at Burlington, Vt. He had received a Bounty Land Warrant. The pensioner died 9 Aug. 1879, at Lincolnville, and a claim for reimbursement for certain expenses was filed by his daughter, Priscilla Clark. Mary E. Dunton and Nathaniel E. Clark attested her signature before Fred B. Dunton, J. P.

Child of Thomas and Nancy (———) Waterman, born probably at Milford, Maine:

i. PRISCILLA[7], b. 12 July 1830; m. ——— CLARK.

333. (CAPT.) BENJAMIN[6] WATERMAN'S widow (page 398), Irene (Emery) married second, in 1844, William French. Possibly the youngest child listed, [756] Addison E., was her child by the second husband.

337. STEPHEN[6] WATERMAN (page 399) did not die in 1838, when administration was taken out on his estate, but some years earlier, of a bilious fever after a short illness. We are indebted to W. Herbert Wood, Esq., of Elbridge, N. Y., for a copy of a deposition made 11 June 1838 by his brother Barnabas Waterman which sets forth:

Stephen Waterman . . . . . died according to the best recollection . . . . . between 11 and 12 years ago . . . . . at Hudson and left surviving him a Mother who has since died but no widow or children nor father nor descendant of any kind; that he left this deponent who is now his only surviving brother; that he left three sisters who are still living, to wit, Bethia Starbuck of City of Hudson, Lucy Kingsly of same place, and Abigail wife of Waterman Bartlet of Cabot, Vermont; that the said Stephen had also two brothers who are now dead leaving issue, to wit, Calvin Waterman and Benjamin Waterman and one sister (now dead), to wit, Ruth the wife of Nathan Hall . . . . . That the whole [estate] consists of a Claim against the Government for damage sustained from French spoliations which has been allowed by the Commissioners appointed for the purpose at $8,000 or thereabouts . . . . . but . . . . . may not actually be worth half that sum.

341. Barnabas[6] Waterman (page 403) served in the War of 1812 from 8 Sept. 1814 to 9 Dec. 1814 as Captain of his own Co., 3d Regt. (Col. Van Rensselaer), N. Y. Militia. His commission in 1816 as Major was revoked, because there were two officers who by seniority were entitled to the appointment ahead of Waterman.

341, vi. Henry[7] Waterman (page 404). The following obituary, from the files of the Evening Register, 7 April 1885, has been furnished by his grandnephew, Henry Waterman[8] George, Esq.

DEATH OF HENRY WATERMAN

It is the Register's solemn duty to make the not unexpected but nevertheless sad announcement of the death of Henry Waterman, which occurred this morning at the residence of his nephew, Henry Waterman, 2d.

The deceased, born in this city on the 31st of January, 1814, was consequently a little over 71 years of age at the time of his death. He passed most of his life in his native city. When 16 years of age, he went to New York and apprenticed himself to one of the best machinists in the metropolis. Having a natural aptitude for the business, he soon became an expert workman and when he reached the age of 18, he commanded the highest journeyman's wages.

In 1831, Mr. Waterman went to Albany where he resided for about six years and in 1833 was foreman of the then celebrated Volunteer Fire Engine Company of that city. It was while serving in that capacity that he invented the piano-box fire engine and the folding brake for engines both of which were very popular and the pride of the firemen at that period.

Mr. Waterman was not only an expert machinist, but also a practical inventor. Nearly 40 years ago, he turned his attention to the improvement of railroad appliances. At that time there were only about 20 locomotive engines in the state. The field was new and ungleaned, and it is not surprising that a person of his mechanical discipline, possessing an aptitude amounting to a passion for invention, should take an active part in the railroad improvements of the period. His inventions in this line are varied and numerous as well as a permanent utility. In 1839, he made the first 8-wheel locomotive engine, and so great was the prejudice against this bold innovation that he was required to give heavy bonds to the railroad company in order to obtain permission to give it a trial. Mr. Waterman also made the first cast iron saddle for cylinder base; the first vacuum chamber for pumps; the first "swinging lobster" for passenger cars; the first low exhaust pipe; the first deflecting cone for chimneys; the first crank balance for driving wheels; the first dummy engine; the first practical pop safety valve and many other improvements in railroad which we can not call to mind. Every traveller on a railroad line to-day is enjoying to a greater or less extent the fruits of his inventive genius.

Since 1854, Mr. Waterman has been employed as the expert of the railroad association. His duties in this line commenced with the Winan's 8-wheel patent and came down to the celebrated Tanner brake case. For many years he was engaged as special expert for the New York Central, Boston & Albany, Delaware, Lackawanna and Western, Delaware and Hudson Canal company railroads. He was the most important witness in suits arising out of the explosion of the locomotive "Lehigh" on the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad and the "Sacramento" on the Boston & Albany road.

Mr. Waterman never married and was so deeply absorbed in his special business that he was little known in social life outside his small circle of intimate friends. To those he was known to possess a warm and generous heart, the strongest ties of friendship, a tender sympathy for those in want or distress, an appreciation of the highest attributes of manhood and in his liberal charities he never allowed his right hand to know the beneficences his left hand dispensed, but they were neither stinted or grudgingly bestowed, as many of our citizens in the humbler walks of life will testify.

Mr. Waterman was the oldest Sir Knight of Lafayette Commandery on the Commandery roll, having united in 1842. He will be buried under the auspices of the Commandery from the residence of his brother, Hon. Joshua T. Waterman, No. 136 Allen Street, on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

346. Eliza (Coffin) Waterman (page 407), widow of THADDEUS[6], d. 25 Sept. 1820 (Stratfield Church Records); her gravestone gives her dates as "1785-1820." Cordelia (Sterling) Waterman, widow of Robert H.[7] Waterman, d. 29 Nov. 1885 ae. 72.

354. LUCY[6] WATERMAN (page 198), born at Nantucket, 14 Oct. 1793, may be the Lucy who published her marriage intention at Oakham, Mass., 13 Mar. 1814, to OREN PAINE of Montague, Mass. Lucy of Nantucket was first cousin of Benjamin Waterman [No. 342], whose home was then in Oakham.

378. NATHANIEL[6] WATERMAN (page 429), m. (1) at Springfield, Mass., 17 May 1799, OLIVE ASHLEY who d. 1 Mar. 1800 ae. 27 [Springfield Church Records].

395, v. ABBY WHITE[7] WATERMAN (page 444) was born 12 Jan. 1815; baptized at Halifax, Mass., 21 May 1815.

396. RUTH[6] WATERMAN (page 444), born 6 Aug. 1781, died at Portland, Maine, 30 June 185[1], aged 70 (gravestone). Of her children (by her husband, Eleazer Holmes):

ii. ELEAZER[7], b. 1807, d. 1882; his first wife, Ann B., d. Nov. 1857 ae. 40; his second wife, Sarah B., b. 1817, d. 1910 (gravestones, Portland).
iii. RUTH W., b. 3 Aug. 1806; d. 23 Dec. 1875 (gravestone, Portland).
iv. LYDIA S., b. 31 Jan. 1812; d. 22 Dec. 1885 (gravestone, Portland).

417, iii. WILLIAM[7] WATERMAN (page 478), born at North Haven, Conn., 27 Feb. 1802. According to family tradition, he was killed on a ship in war, was married, and had no issue. The following marriage item, from the Columbian Register, issue of 11 Oct. 1823, is believed to refer to him: "At Buenos Ayres (S. A.) June 5, by the American Consul, Col. Forbes, Mr. Wm. Waterman of New Haven to Miss Constantia Lee (aged 13 years) of the former place."

420. JOHN[6] WATERMAN (page 479) was born about 1774 and died at Berlin, Conn., 4 Jan. 1850, aged 75 (gravestone); married first, in 1794, SARAH HARRIS [No. 149, viii], born at Norwich, Conn., Nov. 1771, died at Bozrah, Conn., 21 June 1848; married second, at Kensington Church, Berlin, Conn., 25 Oct. 1807, SYBIL BUNNELL, born about 1789, died at Berlin, Conn., 1821, aged 32 (gravestone), probably daughter of Joseph and Sybil (Thorpe) Bunnell; married third, ——— ———.

As noted in the first volume, this John is entered as son of Darius[5] [No. 152, see page 230] almost entirely on the authority of the "Hyde Genealogy," which places his birth in the year 1761. This we felt to be too early and guessed that he was born "say 1768," but his gravestone statement of age would place his birth in 1774. He probably was son of Darius[5]; the only other candidate who was of right age and whose history has not been traced was John[6] [No. 553], page 311, son of Bildad[5] and Lucy (Buddington) Waterman.

It was inferred that John was separated from his wife Sarah Harris, because in 1821 she was living with her brother in Bozrah, while John was living in Berlin as late as 1832. This conclusion is now confirmed; and in addition to the three children by Sarah Harris (vol. I, pp. 479-480), there were the following children by the second union (Henry and George certain, Charles hypothetically placed):

920A+ iv. HENRY[7], b. abt. 1810; d. 10 June 1879.
920B+ v. CHARLES, b. 23 May 1816; d. 3 Oct. 1870.
920C+ vi. GEORGE, b. 25 Nov. 1821; d. 28 July 1899.

Children by third wife:

vii. Child, b. abt. 1823; d. 23 Aug. 1826 ae. 3 (Kensington Church records).
viii. Child, b. abt. 1825; d. 8 Feb. 1826 ae. 1 (ib.; see also Deacon Samuel Peck's Record of Deaths in Kensington Parish, Berlin).

424. ANSON[6] WATERMAN (page 482), of Addison, Vt., bought a lot in Plattsburg, N. Y., on the north side of River Saranac, 10 Nov. 1798. His widow Lucy made sales in 1812 and 1815. [Deeds, Clinton County, B-180; D-416; E-411, 412.] Administration on Anson's estate, was granted to his widow Lucy, 10 Jan. 1811. [Probate, Clinton County, 1-55.]

Page 487. Paragraph beginning "On 20 Dec. 1800," the reference should be "Land Rec. Cayuga County," not Onondaga County.

435, v. LYNDS[7] WATERMAN (page 496), b. abt. May 1813, d. at Watertown, Ohio, 25 Oct. 1861 ae. 48 yrs. 5 mos. (gravestone), was living unm. with his parents in Watertown in 1850; but the following record has been found of him in 1860:

Census of 1860, Windsor, Morgan Co., Ohio:

		age	born
Freeman	Scott	30	Ohio	Farmer
Nancy	"	28	"
Loly	"	6	"
Laura	"	4	"
Anson	"	1	"
Lynes	Waterman	47	"	Farm Hand
Loly	"	56	Pa.

If, as seems likely, Loly was wife of Lynes or Lynds Waterman, it is possible that she was the widowed mother of either Mr. or Mrs. Scott and that their daughter Loly Scott was named after her.

441. ROSWELL[6] WATERMAN (page 500) was of Lowville, N. Y., when he first bought land there, 3 May 1813. He bought again in 1829, and 1838. He sold with his wife Anna, in 1834 and 1836, and made his final sale alone [after her death], 8 Feb. 1844. Information is desired as to where he died, and whether he left children. [Deeds, Lewis County, N. Y., D-19; M-474; P-235; T-553; S-392; X-463; Y-249.]

443. DAVID[6] WATERMAN (page 500), born at Lenox, Mass., 22 Feb. 1779, died (probably at Detroit, Mich.), 17 Mar. 1837; married 10 Apr. 1805, ZILPHA TRUESDALE, born 26 Feb. 1786, died 7 May 1853. For dates of David and his family, from Bible records, we are indebted to Mr. Glenn Rouse Waterman of Los Angeles, Calif.

Children:

979 i. DAVID[7], b. 3 Mar. 1806; d. 31 Mar. 1850.
980+ ii. ALONZO, b. 10 Apr. 1810; d. 26 July 1877.
981 iii. DANIEL D., b. 17 July 1812; d. 10 Sept. 1845.
982+ iv. ROSWELL, b. 2 Apr. 1817; d. 17 Feb. 1903.
983 v. LOUISA, b. 18 Jan. 1821; d. 20 Sept. 1885.
984+ vi. GEORGE W., b. 18 Nov. 1832; d. 8 Nov. 1868.

461. CHARLES[6] WATERMAN (page 522) married ANNA[6] WATERMAN who died at Bolton, Conn., 20 Oct. 1820 (not 1823), aged 57 (gravestone). Their daughter (page 523):

v. MARY, b. 29 June 1801; m. at Hartford, 29 Aug. 1848, LEWIS T. PORTER, of Springfield, Mass.

466. DYER[6] WATERMAN (page 525) was in Herkimer County, N. Y., for a time with his brother John. He was Constable of Litchfield, Herkimer County, in 1799. His marriage and the births of his older children may have occurred there, before he settled in Orange, Vt.

483. Roger[6] Waterman (page 534) m. Eunice Bingham, who d. at Northampton, Mass., 4 Sept. 1817.

505, viii. Jemima Ann[7] Waterman (page 550), b. 6 Nov. 1809; m. at Bozrah, Conn., 17 June 1850, Samuel H. Fox, a merchant of Cleveland, Ohio, b. at Colchester, Conn., abt. 1794.

506. (Rev.) Elijah[6] Waterman (page 551) died according to the reported reading of his gravestone in Bridgeport, Conn., on 7 (instead of 11) Oct. 1825; from the same source, his first wife, Lucy Abbe, was born 9 (instead of 21) May 1778, and died 7 (instead of 17) Mar. 1822; and his second wife, Lucy (Wolcott), died 22 May 1848, aged 66. In the records of the Stratfield (Bridgeport First) Church, he entered on 17 Mar. 1822 the death of Lucy Waterman, "my dear wife," aged 44, and added this tribute to her: "A pattern of patience, meekness and submission." In his church records (vol. 2, p. 42) he entered the births of his children, and since some of the dates vary from those furnished by the family and printed in Volume I, we give his own record here: Mary, b. 15 Apr. 1797; Julia, b. 12 Jan. 1799; Thomas T., b. 24 Sept. 1801; Susan Isham, b. 19 Jan. 1804; these last four bapt. at Windham, the following bapt. 565. Clarissa[7] Waterman (John[6], ?Samuel[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born 19 Oct. 1781, died at Worcester, N. Y., 23 Nov. 1828, aged 47-1-4; married in 1803, (Hon.) Seth Chase, born at Sutton, Mass., 1 Apr. 1781, died at Worcester, 20 Sept. 1856, son of Josiah and Hannah (Goddard) Chase. He married second, about 1832, Anna (———) Davenport, who died in 1857, aged 71.

He was a tanner; Supervisor of the town; member of the N. Y. Legislature, 1819-20; Town Clerk, 1814, 1816-18; Judge; Sheriff, 1820.

In the Otsego County Militia, Seth Chase was Ensign, 1809; Captain, 1812; Lieut.-Col., 1818; Colonel, 12th Regt., 1819; retired 1820, upon his appointment as Sheriff [Council of Appointment, N. Y., 2-1107, 1311, 1380; 3-1968, 2050, 2212].

He was a man of substance and strict integrity. At one time, the Free and Accepted Masons had a Lodge in his house. The Worcester Artillery Co., 12th Regt., 3d Brigade, of which he was Colonel, had excellent gunners, and a three-pound brass cannon which had been captured from the British at Bemis Heights in 1777. It was kept in a gun-house near Judge Chase's residence, and was on duty in some locality every Fourth of July for many years.

570. JOHN[7] WATERMAN (John[6], ?Samuel[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Sharon, Schoharie Co., N. Y., 19 Apr. 1791, died at Sanford, Broome Co., N. Y., 6 June 1879; married at Westford or Worcester, Otsego Co., N. Y., [1 Jan.?] 1818, NANCY ESSEX, born 11 Feb. 1798, died at Sanford, N. Y., 4 July 1874, aged 76-4-23 (gravestone), daughter of Moses(?) Essex.

He lived in Tuscalum, a mile south of Worcester; removed to Sanford, N. Y., 1848. He served in the War of 1812, with the rank of Sergeant. In 1820 he was commissioned 1st Lieut., 12th Regt. of Artillery, Otsego County Militia [Council of Appointment, N. Y., 3-2212].

Pension Files, War of 1812, S. O. 18584, S. C. 8043, B. L. Wt. 3534-160-55. Application filed 9 June 1871, Sanford, Broome County, N. Y. John Waterman, ae. 79, of Sanford, made affidavit 30 Mar. 1871. Married Nancy, 1818, Worcester, Otsego Co., N. Y. Claimed service one year and a half. Was in Battle at Plattsburg, and was stationed at Fort Monroe during the investment and bombardment of the Forts at that place by the British forces. During his last service, he was First Sergeant under immediate command of Lieut. John E. Wool.

Samuel Donaldson and Wellmon S. Russ testified loyalty.

Applied for Bounty Land Warrant under the Act of 1850, and forwarded his discharge. Received Wt. 3534 for 160 acres, which he located, and paid for excess land located. The General Land Office Patent of 1 July 1851, signed by Assistant Secretary, Alexander McCormick, for Millard Fillmore, Secretary, shows the following location: W 1/2 of N. W. 1/4, Section 1, Township 98, North of Range 5 W, in District of Lands subject to Dubuque, Iowa, containing 162 acres and 58/100 acres.

The Application for Bounty Land was dated 28 Oct. 1850, Otsego Co., N. Y. John Waterman, of Worcester, said County, ae. 59, deposed service in Capt. Mills' 23d Infantry Regiment, under Col. Brown. He enlisted at Springfield, 23 July 1812, for 18 months and, on 21 Dec., reenlisted in Capt. John C. Rochester's Co., 29th Regt. of Infantry under Col. Smith for one year. He was discharged 21 Dec. 1814. His discharge dated Plattsburgh, N. Y., 21 Dec. 1814, was signed John E. Wool, Major Commanding, 29th Regt., and shows that he was born at Sharon, N. Y., was aged 21 years at enlistment, 5 feet 7 inches in height, light complexion, black hair, blue eyes, a farmer.

Capt. Rochester, under whom John Waterman had served, asked him to go with him to help form what is now the City of Rochester, but Waterman had just bought land in Otsego County and declined. His wife is said to have been daughter of a soldier in Burgoyne's army who deserted and remained in the United States.

On 2 June 1826, John Waterman and wife Nancy of Westford sold for $600 to Harvey W. Babcock of the same, #3 in Great lot #23, McKee's

Patent, 129 acres, reserving over 11 acres already conveyed to Smith Sunderland by Dean Chase jr., also over 18 acres deeded by Dean Chase jr. and said John Waterman to Eleazer Gove and Moses Gove jr. [Deeds, Otsego County, PP-410, 334.]

Directory of Broome and Tioga Counties, 1872-3 (p. 261), lists at Sanford, Broome County: John Waterman (Vallonia Springs P. O.), lot 9, Livingston Tract No. 3, farmer; William Waterman (Afton P. O., Chenango County), farmer; and Henry Watterman (Afton P. O.), lot 27, Livingston Tract No. 3, farmer.

On 12 Apr. 1854, John Waterman bought a tract of land in Sanford, Broome County, from Asa C. Melendy and Abigail his wife. John Waterman and Nancy his wife of Sanford conveyed, 3 Apr. 1858, to Henry Waterman, and 6 Sept. 1860 to Paul Waterman. [Deeds, Broome County, 42-108; 56-285; 57-391.]

571-1. HARRISON B.[8] WATERMAN (Asa[7], John[6], ?Samuel[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Worcester, N. Y., 2 Jan. 1820, died at Minnesota City, Minn., 24 Apr. 1901; married first, 4 Oct. 1845, PHOEBE ANN CHILDS, born , died 11 Dec. 1849; married second, 1 Nov. 1851, MARY E. FULLER, born in 1828, died in 1912, daughter of Barnabas M. and Polly (Chase) Fuller, of Worcester.

* Perhaps meant for Owatonna.
† Should be Amy.

After receiving a common school and academic education in his native town, he entered Hartwick Seminary and afterwards Cazenovia Seminary, from which he graduated with high honors. He had a great taste for books, and especially for history. He was a good classical scholar, being conversant with Latin, Greek, and French besides his mother tongue. But his special gifts were in the line of mathematics. His supreme thirst for intellectual pursuits gave inspiration to young men with whom he associated. He was chosen a Principal of the Worcester Academy, a position which he filled with credit.

He read law with Gen. S. S. Burnside, and was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court in 1844. In 1852 he preëmpted a homestead in Minnesota, and was prominently connected with Winona and Winona County while Minnesota was still a territory. He was Superintendent of Schools, and held different public offices in his native county in New York before coming west, and after locating in Winona was appointed Judge of Probate of Winona County by Gov. Ramsey, and afterward elected to the same office. He held various public offices in New York and Minnesota for over twenty years.

He was a very careful observer of weather conditions, which he compiled for the weather bureau at Minneapolis, and monthly reports were published for over eight years.

For several years he was broken in health; at length he suffered a stroke of paralysis, and endured a protracted sickness of more than eight months with great patience and fortitude. His funeral service was conducted by Rev. Richard A. Clark of St. Paul, who was one of his students at Worcester Academy when he was Principal there.

The second Mrs. Waterman's mother was first cousin of Chief Justice Salmon P. Chase.

573. (CAPT.) DANIEL[7] WATERMAN (Elisha[6], ?Samuel[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born in Columbia County, N. Y., 18 July 1780, died at Decatur, Otsego Co., N. Y., 25 May 1858, aged 77 yrs. 10 mos. (gravestone); married MARY YOUNG, born 3 Oct. 1782, died at Decatur, 25 Oct. 1863, aged 81 (gravestone), daughter of Joseph and Eleanor (Dumbleton) Young.

A newspaper item of unknown date (before the death of Hamilton[8] Waterman in 1887) states: "Mr. Waterman's father, Daniel, lived in Decatur, where he purchased a tract of land—then all woods—on which he erected a log house. Here was reared a family of eight children, four boys and four girls. During the War of 1812, he and six others from Decatur went to Cherry Valley and enlisted under Captain Clark. Hamilton was then but a small boy. His mother, himself, his brothers and sisters, remained in the old log cabin during the absence of the head of the family, and were obliged to subsist chiefly on roast potatoes and salt." Daniel Waterman of Decatur, N. Y., appears in the 1860 Index of Awards on claims of the Soldiers of the War of 1812 (Albany).

Daniel Waterman was appointed Ensign, 7th Regt. of Infantry, Otsego County, 1816; Lieut. (under Capt. Josiah Hubbard), Light Infantry, 1819; Captain in 7th Regt., 1821. [Council of Appointment, 2-1702; 3-1993, 2246.]

The family has a deed dated 20 Mar. 1833, from Daniel Waterman of Decatur (signed also by his wife Mary, by mark), for $100, to Russell Waterman, of half an acre on the road to Cherry Valley. There is also a document showing that Russell Waterman invested $30 in the Parsonage Lot and Buildings of the First Methodist Church in Decatur, 31 Mar. 1851, signed by Russell Waterman, also by Daniel Waterman and Orson Parker.

Census of 1820, Decatur, Otsego Co., N. Y.: Daniel Waterman, 1 male and 1 female aged 26 to 45; 1 female 16 to 26; 2 males and 1 female 10 to 16; and 2 males and 2 females under 10.

573-3. Peter[8] Waterman (Daniel[7], Elisha[6], ?Samuel[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Decatur, N. Y., 15 Dec. 1811, died there 15 Oct. 1893, aged 81 (gravestone); married first, about 1836, Polly C. Handy, born in Schoharie County, N. Y., about 1805, died at Decatur, 5 July 1870, aged 65 (gravestone); married second, after 1875, Rosabell Lewis, born about 1814, died at Worcester, N. Y., 24 Dec. 1884, aged 70 (gravestone).

"Uncle Peter was a peculiar man and looked very much like Ralph Waldo Emerson."

Peter with his wife Polly sold, 11 Apr. 1853, to Polly Tripp of Decatur, part of Lot 2, Decatur, of Great Lot 2, Loudon's Patent. [Deeds, Otsego County, 97-192.]

Polly C. Handy's mother, Mrs. Rosanna Handy, was one of the paternal first cousins of James Talcott Watson of New York City, and as such the Handy children were among the heirs to 61,433 acres mainly in Lewis County, with a portion in Herkimer County. The heirs of Rosanna Handy are named in a legal paper in 1842 as Kirkland Handy, John Handy, Benjamin Handy, Minor C. Calkins and Sally his wife in her right, Peter Waterman and Polly C. his wife in her right, and Marvin Handy, they being children of Rosanna Handy, dec'd, except Marvin, who was son of Richard Handy, dec'd. Another cousin and heir of the Watson estate, Sophia Watson, was wife of Frederick Y. Waterman [No. 588], under whom a more particular account will be found.

Peter Waterman and Polly C. his wife of Decatur, Otsego Co., N. Y., sold several pieces of land in Watson, Lewis County, between 1850 and 1863. On 9 Apr. 1890, Peter Waterman of Worcester, Otsego County, sold land in Watson, Lewis County, that came in his possession by Court decree. [Deeds, Lewis County, 6-629; 14-106, 195; 25-41; 79-488; 84-363.]

Peter Waterman of Decatur bought land in Richmondville, Schoharie Co.,

* The 1875 Census for Worcester lists a daughter Albertie, b. 22 July 1874, which indicates an error in some of the dates of this family.

N. Y., in 1866, and sold it, with Polly C. his wife, in 1869. [Deeds, Schoharie County, 50-108; 58-17, 18.]

573-4-1. Lewis Edson[9] Waterman (Elisha[8], Daniel[7], Elisha[6], ?Samuel[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Decatur, N. Y., 20 Nov. 1837, died 1 May 1901; married first, 29 June 1858, Sarah A. Roberts, born at Florence, Ill., 11 Jan. 1837, died 29 Apr. 1895; divorced; married second, 3 Oct. 1872, Sarah Ellen Varney, born at Newmarket, N. H., 10 Dec. 1840, died at Boston, Mass., 6 Apr. 1924, aged 83-3-27, daughter of George and Sarah (Balch) Varney.

His father, Elisha, was the most successful wagon-maker in his vicinity. His father died when he was three years old, and his mother became the village tailor and three years later married the village blacksmith, who gave up his shop for a farm.

He was a studious boy, and the best scholar of his age, wherever he attended school. While sawing wood for the winter's fire, he would study his lessons by the light of a tallow candle, sitting beside his book on the head of a barrel, standing by his saw-buck. His college was the country district school, and only in winters after he was ten years old. During the summer he was fifteen, he had three months at the Seminary at Charlottesville. From that time, he earned his own living, and commenced to teach the country school.

When sixteen, he went with his step-father to Illinois, where he taught the winter's term of the district school and worked summers at carpentry. The change of climate affected his health, so that he had to give up manual labor. He took to traveling, soliciting subscriptions for books and papers published by Fowler & Wells, New York City. About this time he began the study of Pitman Phonography, learning it from text-books without a teacher, making himself so expert that he taught it in the University of Virginia just before the Civil War. In later life he employed it to make notes for the use of his stenographers.

After several years of book-selling, he entered the business of life insurance in 1862, going to Boston in 1864 as the representative of the Aetna Life Insurance Co., of Hartford, Conn. He wrote its canvassing documents and circulars, and compiled tables illustrative of the results of investments, as well as others showing the comparative results of the plans and methods of the different companies, such as are now used so extensively in that business. He remained in the company until 1870, when the business of the Boston agency alone, which he had built up, was larger than the total of the company's business in 1864 when he began with them.

Life insurance was too engrossing and taxing a business, and failing health compelled him to relinquish it. Most of the time until 1883 he spent in traveling over the States with a roving commission, and resulted in recuperated health. In all his occupations, he had taken a delight in working out problems, often succeeding where others had failed. He now decided to establish himself in New York in the fountain pen business. Nearly two hundred fountain pens had already been patented, but he devised and patented the Waterman Ideal Fountain Pen, the first successful fountain pen on the market, which is still a leader in its field although a large number have been patented since. Previous to the Waterman pen, only one other had used capillary attraction as its method of feed, but the device for applying the principle had been so defective that it never became a merchantable article.

From small beginnings, a world-wide business has been built up.

573-4-2-1. Frank Dan[10] Waterman (Elisha Silas[9], Elisha[8], Daniel[7], Elisha[6], ?Samuel[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Altorf, Ill., 20 July 1869, died at New York, N. Y., 6 May 1938; married at Englewood, N. J., 16 Feb. 1898, Helen Louise Huson, daughter of Isaiah and Catherine Louise (Morris) Huson.

Manufacturer; member of Protestant Episcopal Church; residence, Brooklyn, N. Y., 1893-1907; Madison, N. J., 1907-1921; New York City since 1921.

Frank Dan Waterman, son of Elisha Silas Waterman and Delia (Robinson) Waterman, was born at Altorf, Illinois, July 20th, 1869. At about four years of age his parents moved to Kankakee, occupying a house on Chicago Avenue, immediately south of the Big Four Railroad. They afterward moved to a house next to the River, on Indiana Avenue. His early life shows evidence of good home training and years of useful activity. What formal education he had was limited to the common school grades, though this handicap was minimized by the efforts of his mother, who had been the Rockville village school teacher. Frank's father died in 1883, leaving behind a wife and four children, but no funds to support them. Since the wagon shop, which had been the source of livelihood for the family, was not prosperous enough to warrant the employment of a wagon maker, Frank's mother opened a millinery shop in Kankakee. Young Frank did his mite by raising chickens and taking care of a vegetable patch for the family. Youth must play—and the time he could spare from school, or work at home, Frank spent chiefly at baseball and fishing.

Unfortunately, the millinery shop attracted few customers in the small town. Frank, therefore, was obliged to leave school and seek work. His first job was in Babcock's confectionery store, about 345 Court, at three dollars a week. The ill health of his employer made it necessary for Frank to do the bulk of the work, which was in the main to deliver merchandise, wait on incoming patrons, and keep the books. But a three dollar weekly income was insufficient. Accordingly, he added a night job at the town skating rink. This meant a day which began shortly after sunrise and ended close to midnight. Hard work and menial duties held no terrors for Frank. So keen was ambition that he filled in his only spare time with a third position, that of pumping the organ at the Episcopal Church on Sundays. This added two dollars to the monthly coffer. Already he had become the family's chief wage-earner. Such industry in a youth prognosticated a noteworthy future.

His conscientious interest in whatever work he undertook attracted the attention of the manager of the Arcade Theatre, and Frank, who now was sixteen, became his assistant. The young man proudly printed his first business cards, which read "F. D. Waterman, Assistant Manager, Arcade Opera House, Kankakee, Illinois." Though the prestige attached was great, the job could not have been especially effective, for the theatre itself was housed in a small building and depended on the chance visiting show. In company with Church Todd he later ran a dancing class, employing a noted teacher from Chicago, who visited Kankakee one night each week. Much of the art of dancing as shown in the present generation, is no doubt attributable to this class. For a time, before studying shorthand, he was a clerk in Erzinger's fruit store on East Avenue, and for a short period was a printer's devil at the old Kankakee Times printing office. Then the leading legal light of the town, Mr. W. R. Hunter, offered Frank an office boy's position which held promise of advancement, and he accepted. Meanwhile he studied shorthand and became quite a proficient stenographer. After perfecting himself in shorthand he secured an engagement with the I. I. I. Railroad general offices, and worked there, in the Car Accounts office, for the Superintendent and the General Freight Agent, and was later taken to the Chicago office by Mr. Theodore P. Shonts, who was then President of the Company.

But fate had other plans in store for him. Horace Greeley's "Go West, young man!" appeared for a time to have had effect on Frank, too. The scene now shifted to Pueblo, Colorado, where he formed an association with a former Kankakee tailor. His duties brought him into contact with the business men of the city. He went among them soliciting orders for suits, on a commission basis. This was his first experience in canvassing, which is the soundest basis for practical training of the effective salesman.

Again the scene shifted, this time to a field of activity two thousand miles away. Frank had received a letter from his uncle, L. E. Waterman, apprising the young man that many years previously this brother of his father had borrowed, and had not yet repaid, two hundred dollars from the latter, for which sum no note had been given nor record made. In consideration of this fact his uncle induced Frank to come east and enter the fountain pen business. Frank knew something about the pens, for he had already sold some now and then to his acquaintances. He found the business in a very primitive stage of development. It was connected in the rear of a cigar store. There was no factory. The gold pens were purchased at one place, the holders ordered from another. Frank and his uncle sold the assembled pens to individual customers by office to office canvass. The pen worked well, and the young man also. The combination of good salesman and good product brought to Frank increasing business from old customers and new.

The critical point in this company's infancy came when Bulwinkle, owner of a stationery store near City Hall, Brooklyn, ordered a fountain pen for a customer. A family conference decided the future policy of the company as to wholesale orders. To obtain the concession of a wholesale price the dealer had to buy a minimum quantity of six pens. Bulwinkle, their first wholesale customer, continued to buy Waterman pens until his building was torn down, several years ago.

Young Mr. Waterman was doing so well that it was decided to entrust the whole western territory to him, with headquarters at Chicago. Now came another turning point in the Company's sales. They were given a new spurt from an exhibition in a concession bought in the Manufacturers' Building at the Chicago World's Fair in 1893. People wanted to learn as much as they could about new inventions, and they needed fountain pens. Frank Waterman sold an encouraging amount of pens to visiting merchants, and persuaded many to take up local agencies. From that time the Waterman Ideal Pen was sold almost solely by the agency form of distribution. Mr. Waterman stimulated sales throughout the country, canvassing for agents who were willing to take on sample sets of pens. The company had been incorporated, Frank had bought one thousand dollars' worth of shares, and in 1895 was appointed Secretary and General Manager. This money he had secured from discounted shares of the building and loan association of his home town.

Before the end of the century the Waterman Fountain Pen Company had reached a firm commercial basis. True it is that the sales volume was still comparatively small. But business policies were sound, the sales were on a steady upward trend, future prospects promised well, and those who guided the company's destiny knew their problems and solved them with efficiency and expedition.

At this time—1901—Mr. L. E. Waterman, the founder of the company, died. Justified now was the confidence the uncle had placed in the nephew. With success as his inspiration, ability as his basis, experience as his guide, and an universal market as his goal, Frank Dan Waterman took up the reins of control of his company and guided it until, at this day, the Waterman Ideal Fountain Pen is a criterion of the best. Avoiding the admittance of outside capital, Frank made his own parts, drew directly on sources of supply for raw materials, used the most progressive methods of manufacture, advertised extensively in every type of medium, opened offices in all continents, and up to this time he has specifically guided the export end of their business, having traveled all around the world, making thirty-six trips to Europe alone. His greatest pride expressed is the fact that he has a large acquaintance in every important capital of the world. The name Waterman is now synonymous with excellence for millions of pen users.

The realization of what Mr. Waterman has accomplished in the world of business might easily bring the conclusion that he was not active in any other fields. This his life proves otherwise. Interest in the civic welfare of New York, his adopted city, Mr. Waterman always has had, and he was unostentatiously a member of various associations which had as their purpose the betterment of its citizens. When leaders in public life grew to realize that they had in their midst a man of such great organizing capabilities, a man who could mould into effective shape that too often refractory and formless giant, Public Opinion, these leaders drew more and more upon Frank Waterman to aid them.

His first great opportunity came after the nation entered the Great War. The United States Treasury Department chose Mr. Waterman to head the War Savings Committee of Manhattan, which admittedly held the cream of wealth of our country. He opened headquarters at 51 Chambers Street, and from there directed an intensive selling campaign, the like of which had never been known. His minute men made speeches everywhere, in theatres, in schools, on street corners, and at neighborhood rallies. War Savings advertising and War Savings parades were inaugurated. In fact, no means of pushing the idea of saving to lend our government much needed money was left untried. Through Mr. Waterman's efforts millions of dollars were collected far beyond the quota of the city.

His next great opportunity for public service came in 1923, when he headed the Citizens Committee of One Thousand, the purpose of which was to urge the building of more subways. Mr. Waterman only too well knew the discomfort of the subway straphanger, for he himself was one daily. And only too well did he know of the failure of the mayor and his henchmen to keep election promises of adequate subway construction. Mr. Waterman thereupon presented his views of the problem to the Merchants Association, of which he was an active member, and he met with enthusiastic response. The result was the Citizens Committee, of which he became chairman. He set about to mobilize public sentiment in support of a program to dig and not talk subways. The slogan "Say it with shovels" struck at the mayor's dilatory policy. Fully eighteen thousand petition blanks were mailed out. Forty thousand names poured in the first week. By the end of July over one hundred and sixty thousand men and women petitioned for new subway construction. Pressure was so great that the mayor had to approve two new subways demanded. It was said of Waterman that he was one of a very small number who had ever forced the mayor to act against his will. For this Mayor Hylan disliked Waterman and hurled bitter invective in attempts to besmudge his reputation. But all the mudslinging was to no avail! The "New York Times" in an editorial in August, 1925, spoke of Mr. Waterman as "a man of excellent standing in the business world."

Early in 1925 the Republicans of the City, convinced of his ability, began to consider him as a possibility for mayor of New York in the approaching election. Mr. Waterman was strictly a business man, in no sense a politician. He had never run for public office, and until he aided the federal government in its campaigns for the "sinews of war" he had never figured in public life. Of such strength, however, was the impression raised by his "Say it with shovels" campaign, that it seemed almost inevitable for him to be nominated as the best man the Republicans could present for the approaching mayoralty battle.

In July, 1925, he returned from a visit to Europe, where he had attended the International Chamber of Commerce Conference as a delegate of the Merchants Association of New York. On August 11th, 1925, Frank Dan Waterman was named as Republican Citizen candidate for mayor of New York City. Spirited and yet dignified was his campaign. He won the Republican primaries handily in September. Then began the battle royal. Tammany realized that the public had finally pierced the haze of Hylanism, that Hylan had lost his hold upon the public. Accordingly that personage was thoroughly squashed in the Democratic primaries, and Tammany placed State Senator Walker to the fore. Waterman, with the transit question as his chief issue, and a shovel as emblem, made a myriad of speeches, addressing sometimes as many as five groups in one day. He promised more schools for the children, more subways for their elders, reform in the police department, business efficiency in government, aid to the public libraries, decrease in crime, cooperation with labor. The Citizens Union, a non-partisan organization of voters interested in aiding the public to unearth men who really represent the best public interests, endorsed Waterman. Charles Evans Hughes, former Governor of the State, and then Secretary of State in the Coolidge Cabinet, endorsed Waterman. Ex-Governors Miller and Whitman, Attorney-General Ottinger, Nicholas Murray Butler, Chief Justice William H. Taft, and many other prominent men endorsed him. And on election day more than three hundred and fifty thousand voters endorsed him. But he was defeated. So great was the power of Tammany Hall that to elect a Republican mayor in New York was at that time almost a political impossibility.

As a manufacturer of wide experience he has served as director on the boards of several banks, as a member as well as officer in several Chambers of Commerce and civic bodies. He has been Chairman of the Board of Flower Hospital and the New York Homeopathic Medical College. He also built at Eustis, Florida, in 1922, Fountain Inn, one of the most substantial and excellently managed hotels of this period.

580. Palmer[7] Waterman (?Jesse[6], ?Samuel[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born about 1795, died at Franklin, Delaware Co., N. Y., 30 Sept. 1875; married first, Lucy Clark who died at Delhi, N. Y., in 1844; married second, at Walton, N. Y., 9 Nov. 1852, Anna Hoag, born about 1808, died after 1887.

Pension Files, War of 1812, S. O. 16261, S. C. 9934, W. O. 22178, W. C. 15697. Application for pension, 10 May 1871, Delaware County, N. Y. Palmer Waterman, aged 76, resident of Franklin. His wife's name was Anna Hoag; they were married at Walton, 9 Nov. 1852. He enlisted under Capt. Bentley and Col. Fox at Canaan, Columbia Co., N. Y., 31 Aug. 1814, and was discharged at New York City, 3 Dec. 1814. He was on picket and guard duty at Steevison's Fields on East River. Had received 160 acres of Bounty Land, and sent discharge to Washington, D. C., at that time.

William Smith and Thomas Bartlett, of Franklin, deposed credence.

Application for pension, 8 May 1878, of Anna Waterman, widow. Palmer Waterman died 30 Sept. 1875. Service as above claimed.

Third Auditor's report of 25 Oct. 1851 shows Palmer Waterman served in Capt. Lodwick S. Babcock's Co., N. Y. Militia, 13 Oct. to 14 Dec. 1814.

Marriage, 9 Nov. 1852; "Legal barriers removed by death."

Affidavit, 26 Apr. 1878, of Anna Waterman, aged 70, of Franklin, Delaware Co., N. Y. At enlistment, Palmer Waterman was about 6 feet high, brown hair, dark eyes; fair complexion, inclined to be ruddy. Married 1852, at Walton, by Benjamin Gee, J. P.; her own first marriage. Palmer Waterman married first Lucy Clark, who died at Delhi in 1844, where he resided after the War until 1852, when they were married and soon after removed to Franklin.

Amos Douglas, aged 64, and Lucia F. Hanford, aged 56, had known both Palmer and Anna for 30 years; they witnessed her signature and identified her.

The Bible, containing Family Record, was shown to the Court. No public record of marriage known.

Harvey Morton, aged 68, testified 19 Apr. 1878 that he was present at the marriage.

Same date, Lucy Houck, aged 68, of Walton, testified that she was well acquainted with Anna Waterman, widow of Palmer; was present at the marriage of Anna, her sister, now aged 70.

Palmer Waterman drew a pension (Certificate 9934) and Bounty Land Warrant.

24 June 1887. Special Examiner, John Frelinghuysen, reported in the case of Anna Waterman, of Franklin, that she is still living and unmarried. He had interviewed William B. Hanford, of Franklin, aged 83, who had known the pensioner for 40 years, and had known Palmer Waterman and heard him speak of his service.

Palmer Waterman was not found in the 1850 Census in Delhi, Walton, Franklin, or Meredith, N. Y. At Delhi in 1850 was listed Abel Palmer, aged 76, farmer, born Conn., with a family; William Waterman, aged 22, student, born N. Y. (living with Stephen C. Johnson, aged 48, born Conn., and Mary Ann Johnson, aged 42, born N. Y.); and Harriet Waterman, aged 10, born N. Y. (living with Frisbee Beardsley, aged 33, and Cynthia Beardsley, aged 32, both born N. Y.).

582. Roswell[7] Waterman (Samuel[6], ?Samuel[5], Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born 16 Aug. 1792, died at Worcester, N. Y., 12 Sept. 1869; married 25 June 1814, Olive Wilder, born in Vermont, 7 Nov. 1793, died at Worcester, 4 Nov. 1876.

Pension Records, War of 1812, W. O. 7402, W. C. 3229, B. L. Wt. Roswell Waterman enlisted 19 Sept. 1814, discharged 21 Nov. 1814; Private, Capt. D. Houghton's Co., N. Y. Militia. Olive Waterman, ae. 77 years, of Worcester, Otsego Co., N. Y., widow of soldier, applied 26 Sept. 1871. Married 25 June 1814, Roswell Waterman and Olive Wilder, by Mr. Tuttle, J. P. Roswell died at Worcester, 12 Sept. 1869. Witnesses to Olive's signature, E. R. Thurber and M. S. Deeker.

Philip Crippen, of Schenevus, N. Y., ae. 74 years, served in Capt. D. Houghton's Co., and had received a Bounty Land Warrant for said service. Roswell Waterman was a Private in said company during Sept., Oct. and Nov. 1814 at Sackett's Harbor. He married Olive Wilder before we went to War. He died 12 Sept. 1869 at Worcester, where his widow still resides.

Amos H. Brown, of Schenevus, Otsego Co., N. Y., ae. 75 years, was well acquainted with Roswell Waterman at the time of his marriage, and witnessed the ceremony by John Tuttle, Esq., J. P. Has known them ever since, and they always lived as husband and wife and had a large family of children. It was not the custom at the time of their marriage, nor for many years afterwards, for Justices to give marriage certificates. "He is a Magistrate himself of many years standing and knows whereof he speaks." Roswell has been dead three years, and his widow is a reputable lady of about 79 years.

Olive Waterman later gave marriage, etc. Her first child, born 6 Mar. 1815, now dead. No church record of marriage was ever made. A Bible record was injured and finally destroyed. Only one witness to the marriage is now living, Samuel Waterman having died a few months ago. The accompanying record was taken from the Bible which was injured many years ago by storm and water.

John Fields and W. E. Crippen knew Roswell Waterman for thirty years prior to his death, and attended his funeral, and had known Olive for many years. Philip Crippen was dead prior to 3 July 1872. Samuel Waterman was enfeebled by a stroke, so could not testify.

(The copy of the Bible records gives the births and marriage of Roswell and Olive, and the births of their children.)

587-3. Andrew Jackson[8] Waterman (David[7], Asa[6], Asa[5], ?Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Ballston, N. Y., 18 May 1816, died at Round Lake, N. Y., 3 Aug. 1877; married at Waterford, N. Y., 18 Jan. 1837, Harriet Underhill, born 3 Dec. 1815, died at Schenectady, N. Y., 7 Feb. 1897, daughter of Stephen and "Charity (Honor) Onner" [sic] Underhill.

Andrew J. Waterman was admitted to the Presbyterian Church at Ballston, N. Y., 4 May 1834, and later dismissed. Harriet Waterman was baptized and admitted to membership, 5 Mar. 1843.

N. Y. Census of 1855, Clifton Park, Saratoga Co., N. Y.:

	age	relationship	born	res. in township
Andrew J. Waterman	39	Farmer	Saratoga Co.	8 yrs.
Harriet "	39	wife
Stephen Underhill	75	father	Vermont	4
Ona "	75	mother	Mass.	—
William Waterman	5	child	Saratoga Co.	3

From the above it appears that his wife's mother was named Ona, perhaps meaning Honor, and the statement of her name in the "Underhill Genealogy," quoted above, is not understood.

Child of Andrew Jackson and Harriet (Underhill) Waterman:

i. William[9], b. abt. 1850; [evidently an adopted child, born William S. Winslow, see below].

Note

The 1855 Census shows that the child William had resided in Clifton Park only three years, although Andrew J. and his wife had lived there eight years. This raises the question whether he was their own child or adopted, and the solution is found in records of the N. Y. State Legislature, 77th Session, Chapter 355, p. 734, passed 17 Apr. 1854: "The name of William S. Winslow, of town of Clifton Park, in co. of Saratoga, an infant, is hereby changed to William S. Waterman, by which latter name he shall be hereafter known."

588. Frederick Y.[7] Waterman (Asa[6], Asa[5], ?Samuel[4], Samuel[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born 29 Jan. 1790, died at Cohoes, N. Y., 28 Aug. 1834 in 44th yr. (gravestone); married at Ballston, N. Y., 13 Dec. 1809, Sophia Watson, born 11 Oct. 1786, died 13 Feb. 1840 ae. 53-4-2 (gravestone), daughter of Titus Watson.

Census of 1820, Chatham, Columbia Co., N. Y.: Frederick Y. Waterman. 1 male and 1 female aged 26 to 45; 1 female 16 to 26; 1 male and 3 females under 10.

On 13 Mar. 1826, Jonathan H. Ford and wife Mary of Canaan, N. Y., for $142.80, sold to Daniel B. Lovejoy, Frederick Y. Waterman, and Peter R. Crandell, of Chatham, woodland in Canaan containing over 5 acres. [Deeds, Columbia County, I-321.]

In 1823, the house of Mr. Waterman in Cohoes, N. Y., was situated on the hill just south of the ravine at the northwest of the junction. He was the first Justice of the Peace in the neighborhood. He was appointed the first Postmaster of Cohoes, 23 Feb. 1832, and served to 13 July 1833; the office was located at the junction.

Administration on the estate of Frederick G. [?] Waterman of Watervliet, N. Y., was granted, 25 Sept. 1834, to his son Frederick W. Waterman. [Administrations, Albany County, 6a-243.]

Gravestones of Frederick Y. Waterman and his wife are found in the New Cemetery, Waterford, Saratoga Co., N. Y.

Chancery records in Court of Appeals, Albany, N. Y., show that James Watson of New York City, in his will dated 1 Mar. 1806, gave to his brother Titus Watson the use of testator's farm in Ballston, whereon said Titus then resided, for life, and after death of Titus in fee simple to the then surviving children of Titus; said children were also to receive $150.00 after death of testator's brother William Watson; James had wife Mary and son James Talcott Watson, the residuary legatee. The will of James Watson was proved 21 May 1806, after his death; his son, James Talcott Watson, soon after came of age and became executor. Titus Watson died about Jan. 1821, and left surviving him, Titus Watson, Jr.; Clarissa Watson now the wife of Ezekiel Horton; Sophia, wife of Frederick Y. Waterman; Mary, wife of Larry Bennett; and James Watson. On 17 Oct. 1822, said William Watson died, and the legacies are due to the children of Titus. Action was brought by Frederick Y. Waterman and Sophia his wife of Canaan, Columbia Co., N. Y., 22 June 1824; and the bill was in Chancery at Albany, 5 May 1827.

James Talcott Watson, gentleman, of the City of New York, died intestate about 26 Jan. 1839. His estate included 61,433 acres mainly in Lewis County, with a portion in Herkimer County, which were claimed by his cousins on the paternal side. Petition was made by one of the heirs, Maria W. Williams, vs. John Watson et al. The suit was in Chancery before the Vice Chancellor of the 5th Circuit, File No. 108. The papers are in the Court of Appeals at Albany, N. Y., and are voluminous.

The oratrix with other paternal cousins claimed the large tract of land, and named the cousins german, and the heirs of deceased cousins. Sophia Waterman died in Feb. 1840, shortly after the original bill was filed, and a supplemental paper named her heirs as Mary B. Vandemark, wife of Lawrence Van Kleeck Vandemark; Clarissa S. White, wife of George I. White; Frances E. Waterman; Sidney S. Waterman; Samuel H. Waterman; Alexander S. Waterman; Sarah J. Waterman; and also George S. Waterman and Mary Ann Waterman, children of Frederick W. Waterman, dec'd, who was a son of said Sophia Waterman.

Another cousin of James Talcott Watson and heir to this estate was Rosanna Handy, mother of the wife of Peter Waterman [No. 573-3], q. v.

vi. ARTHUR ALLEN, b. 19 July 1859; d. at Brooklyn, N. Y., 12 Mar. 1939; m. at Cambridge, Mass., 11 Aug. 1887, EMMA A. FULLER, b. at Chelsea, Mass., abt. 1857, living (1937), dau. of Guerdon and Hannah (———) Fuller. He was a member of the Class of 1885, Harvard College. In the Spring of 1882, he became the first superintendent of the Harvard Cooperative Society, which began with a five-foot shelf of books in a shop in College House and no capital except the membership fees of a few students. He was in large measure responsible for the success of an experiment which solved the problem of stabilizing the cost of supplies for Harvard students; and when Waterman retired twelve years later, the enterprise was on its way toward its present greatness, with assets of $500,000, a well diversified stock in a handsome colonial structure in Harvard Square, and an annual sales account of more than $1,250,000. Mr. Waterman returned to Cambridge in 1935 for the fiftieth reunion of his college class, and had the satisfaction of seeing what had been accomplished since his day.

* This line crossed out on book.

He then established his home in New York, N. Y., and was the first inventor and manufacturer of a "middle joint" fountain pen, which he manufactured under the name of the A. A. Waterman Fountain Pen Company, later moving to Chicago, where he carried on the business until his retirement about 1919. As a result of the similarity in name, there was at one time litigation between his company and the L. E. Waterman Company, but his family states that it was purely a coincidence that two Watermans were making fountain pens at the same time. Children:

I. John Fuller[10], b. at Arlington, Mass., 3 June 1889; living unm. (1939).

II. Dorothy W., a high-school teacher, unm. (1939).

III. Emma F., a high-school teacher, unm. (1939).

Witnesses, Curtis Filley, Moses Day, Timothy Jones. The probate states that he died 12 Jan. 1889, leaving widow Clarissa Ann, and as his only next of kin Eliza Fargo of Warsaw, N. Y. [Probate, Berkshire County, File No. 16300.]

The will of Clarissa A. Waterman of Otis, made 22 Sept. 1892, presented 3 Nov. 1897, gave all her estate to Mary Janet Chatfield, whom she named Executrix. Mary J. Jones, Executrix, petitioned that Clarissa A. Waterman died 5 Oct. 1897, leaving as her only heirs at law:

Ezra W. Jackson	Council Bluffs, Iowa	brother
Bennett A. Jackson	Bridgeport, Conn.	nephew
Lulu M. Carter	Lee, Mass.	niece

[ib., File No. 19757.]

The identity of Alonzo Waterman is proved by the probate of his father's estate, and by the mention of his sister Mrs. Fargo in the probate of his own estate.

602. Robert[7] Waterman (Asahel[6], Robert[5], Isaac[4], Robert[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Glastonbury, Conn., 11 June 1795, died at Westmoreland, Oneida County, N. Y., 9 Dec. 1866; married at Canterbury, Conn., 11 Nov. 1828, Emily Bradford, born at Canterbury, Conn., 6 July 1801, died at Westmoreland, N. Y., 22 Aug. 1878, daughter of Benjamin and Ruby (Allen) Bradford.

Robert Waterman of Blandford was admitted to the Church in Sheffield, Mass., 5 May 1816. He was recommended from Sheffield Church to Westmoreland, N. Y., 30 June 1849. "Brother Waterman" served on committees of the church at Sheffield, 17 Apr. 1840 and 28 Apr. 1843. [Records of the Sheffield Church in the Pittsfield Library.]

He was called of Sheffield when he married in 1828 Emily Bradford of Canterbury.

He bought land at Sheffield, Mass., from David Graves, 26 Apr. 1824 and 18 Aug. 1825; Guy Johnson mortgaged land to him, 27 July 1825; he bought 23 June 1834 and sold 12 Sept. 1828; Abner Piper mortgaged to him, 5 Aug. 1842, Robert assigning the mortgage 31 Mar. 1845; he last bought on 2 Apr. 1842, and sold out his property at Sheffield by three deeds dated 14 Feb. 1845. [Land Registry, Great Barrington, 59-138, 644; 60-28; 64-27; 85-301; 86-110; 88-390, 391, 538; 89-294.]

Robert Waterman of Sheffield, Mass., bought land in Glastonbury, Conn., 23 and 26 Dec. 1826, and sold it 23 May 1829, 4 Sept. 1832, and 17 Nov. 1835. [Land Rec. Glastonbury, 21-389, 390, 536; 22-539; 25-26.]

Henry D. "	28	"
Robert R. "	24	"
George B. "	19	"
Charles "	16	"
Mary S. "	12	"

In 1860 Elizabeth Waterman was listed, aged 74, born Conn., a couple of houses from Robert Waterman.

He was a farmer; held the office of Coroner and Sheriff in Sheffield, Mass. He owned a farm of 240 acres, with good buildings in Westmoreland. He and his sons were Republicans; and did not drink anything stronger than sweet cider. The boys all had a good common school education.

The will of Robert Waterman of Westmoreland, "of the age of 70 years," dated 27 Mar. 1866, proved at Clinton, 13 May 1867, named wife Emily, after whose death his estate was to be equally divided between his children, Pearl, Henry, Rockwell, George R., Charles A., and Mary S.; Nehemiah F. Metcalf, sole executor; witnesses, Timothy Brockett and Francis M. Metcalf. Administration papers, formerly filed in Rome, name widow Emily; Pearl Waterman of Adrian, Mich.; Henry, Rockwell, and George R., of Westmoreland; Charles A., of Adrian, Mich.; and Mary S., a minor, of Westmoreland. [Wills, Oneida County, 19-301.]

Pearl[8] Waterman (1829-1884) left three brothers, Rockwell R. Waterman, Henry D. Waterman of Westmoreland, and George B. Waterman of Charles City, Iowa, and one niece Lena B. Waterman, only child of a predeceased brother. He died in Adrian, Mich.; funeral held in Westmoreland. Clear estate, $8321.14. Lena B. resided in Clinton, N. Y.; her general guardian was Amelia S. Waterman. [Surrogate Rec., Oneida County, N. Y.]

604. HARVEY[7] WATERMAN (?Asahel[6], Robert[5], Isaac[4], Robert[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born after 1800, died ; married ——— ———.

Census of 1830, China, Genesee Co., N. Y.: Harvey Waterman, 1 male and 1 female aged 20 to 30; 1 female 40 to 50; and 1 female 60 to 70.

The parentage of Harvey is not known; he is placed hypothetically as son of Asahel because in 1830 he was living at China [now Arcade, Wyoming County] where Asahel's son Eli was resident. It should also be noted that Rockwell [No. 601], another son of Asahel, named a son Harvey.

The 1850 Census shows the following family resident at North Plains, Ionia County, Michigan:

	age	born
Harvey Waterman	49	N. Y.	Farmer
Freelove "	48	" "
Sibil "	20	" "
Walter "	15	" "
Jay "	12	Mich.
Joshua "	10	"
Salmon "	7	"

The indicated dates for the birth and marriage of this Harvey coincide with the age of the Harvey who was in China, N. Y., in 1830 and then was under 30 years old, married, but without children. However, if the statement is correct that he was born in New York, he could not have been son of Asahel of Blandford, Mass.

606. MARY[7] WATERMAN (Jabez[6], Robert[5], Isaac[4], Robert[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Glastonbury, Conn., 5 Jan. 1797, died there 7 Jan. 1874, aged 77; married first, at Glastonbury, 3 Feb. 1813, (CAPT.) CHAUNCEY COOLEY, Jr., born about 1790, died at New York City, Sept. 1815 in his 25th year, son of (Capt.) Chauncey Cooley, of Providence, R. I.; married second, JEHU SMITH, born at Glastonbury, about Apr. 1788, died there 26 Jan. 1865, aged 76 yrs. 9 mos.

ii. JOHN HARLEY, b. 4 Mar. 1852 (or 1854); d. 14 Nov. 1859 (or 27 Nov. 1860).

iii. MAUDE M.,‡ b. (perhaps 1854); m. at Boston, Mass., 16 Mar. 1875,

* 27 Mar. 1851, according to a grandson. But the earlier date, given by the Whitman book, seems more likely.

† The Whitman book omits Maude M. and assigns dates of birth to other children which conflict with dates given by the family. Many of the dates of birth are therefore uncertain.

‡ She was called daughter of Zenas and Bertha in her marriage record, and aged 23, which conflicts with birth of John Harley unless she was his twin. The Whitman book omitted her, and a nephew has no information about her.

(Hon.) Henry Arthur[9] Waterman was born at Yarmouth, N. S., 7 June 1872, and secured his early education at Milton School. He was graduated from Malden (Mass.) High School, where he had been president of the Literary Society, an organization of the boys for debating. He was Colonel of the Second Mass. School Regiment, comprising the high school cadets of a dozen towns including Malden, a regiment of 1,800, regularly drilled by army officers throughout the year for annual encampment.

He received the degree of S.B. from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, was Orator of his class, and took for his subject, "The duty of the engineer in civil life."

After graduation he served his time at the Brown & Sharpe Manufacturing Co., Providence, R. I., makers of fine tools, starting at a dollar a day, working six days a week, ten hours a day, with no pay for frequent overtime. After three years he ended his association with that company, having risen to the position of Assistant Mechanical Engineer.

Then he became associated with the McCormick Harvester Co. as Master Mechanic in the modernization of the plant at Chicago. Later he was engaged as Engineer in charge of the new huge plant of the Western Electric Company at Hawthorne, Ill., just outside Chicago, which manufactures electrical devices and Bell telephones used all over the world. This plant was designed to employ 16,000 people, and has since exceeded that number. Built on vacant prairie at a railroad intersection five miles from Chicago, it has become a city in itself.

Mr. Waterman was induced by the McCormick Company to return as Chief Engineer of the newly formed International Harvester Company. In a short time he was promoted to the post of General Superintendent of the Milwaukee Division. He was sent to Europe to study and report on problems of production and organization of factories in France, Germany, Hungary, Russia, and Sweden.

Upon his return, he became President and Managing Director of the Abell Company (American) at Toronto, Canada. Before the United States entered the First World War, Mr. Waterman was expert without compensation assisting the purchasing agency of the French and British governments in Canada and the United States.

Mr. Waterman became Consulting Engineer for the University of Chicago and other institutions requiring outside assistance. He is a life member of the Mass. Society of Mayflower Descendants, and an active member of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

During his engineering career, except when abroad, he made regular summer visits to Yarmouth. In 1919 he retired and returned to Yarmouth to pick up old associations, to enjoy his great-grandfather's farm at Pleasant River, Queens County, N. S., and to gain the leisure for some of the experiences of ordinary life of which the exigencies of his professional career had deprived him.

He had never changed his Canadian citizenship or lost interest in the land of his nativity. Following his return to Yarmouth, he served as President of the Board of Trade, member of the Town Council, Mayor, President of the Boy Scout Association, President of the Children's Aid Society, of the V. O. N., of the S. P. C. A., of the Yarmouth Male Choir, and of the Yarmouth County Liberal Association, Vice-President of the Nova Scotia Liberal Association, and Director of the Yarmouth Public Library and of the Yarmouth Hospital.

In November 1938, Mr. Waterman was nominated Liberal candidate in the provincial by-election, to fill the seat left vacant by the death of Hon. L. C. Gardner. He has since been a Member of the Nova Scotia House of Assembly.

In 1822 John Waterman of Limerick, York Co., Me., mortgaged to John Griffin of Alfred, same county, 50 acres in Bridgeton, Cumberland Co., Me. [Deeds, Cumberland County, 92-314.] No other record pertaining to the Bridgeton land has been found. Since Moses, son of John [No. 642], was born at Limerick in 1823, according to his death record, it appears certain that it was this John who was of Limerick in the 1822 deed.

John Waterman of Gorham bought land in Sebago, Maine, in 1837, and moved there, being of Sebago when he mortgaged in 1838, also in 1842 when he sold with wife Lydia. He was of Gorham in 1864, also in 1867 when he received a conveyance from his son Moses. [Deeds, Cumberland County, 155-213; 160-426; 187-516; 331-152; 357-160.]

650-1. SAMUEL BROWN[8] WATERMAN (Guy Bates[7], Prince[6], ?Ephraim[5], Josiah[4], Robert[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Turner, Maine, 1 Apr. 1825, died at Oxford, Maine, 2 Jan. 1910, aged 84-9-1; married 28 Apr. 1853, SARAH ABBIE MILLETT, born at Otisfield, Maine, 29 July 1834, died at Oxford, Maine, 10 Nov. 1903, aged 69-3-12, daughter of Edmund Chase and Sally (Greenleaf) Millett.

He engaged early in the business of hauling freight between West Minot, Buckfield and Portland. With the building of the railroads, this business was ruined, and he became a powder agent, supplying the contractors, who were building the railroads, with powder. This had to be delivered over poor roads and ofttimes in a wilderness with horses. He had many narrow escapes from disaster, once having to carry 600 kegs of this explosive material through a burning forest. He then engaged for a short time in lime quarrying at Rockland and then bought a farm at Oxford. This town he served as Selectman in 1874 and 1875.

(Rawson) Garland. He was educated in the schools of Oxford, Me., and at Hebron Academy. He learned the printing and publishing business in the office of the Oxford Democrat; was connected in a reportorial way with the Norway Advertiser, Lowell Morning Times, Boston Herald, Portland Express, Lewiston Journal, and Auburn Gazette; and was a contributor to the Springfield Republican, Portland Transcript, Boston Commonwealth, The Nationalist, and the New England Magazine. He published a volume of short stories, and a History of Mechanic Falls. He was candidate for Representative and Senator in the Legislature, and Representative to Congress. In 1893 he moved from Paris to Mechanic Falls, where he became part owner and editor of the Mechanic Falls Ledger. He served that town on the school board; was trustee of the cemetery association; secretary of the board of trade; and director of the Loan and Building Association. He published an account of the Waterman family in the Mechanic Falls Ledger in 1906, reprinted as The Maine Watermans.

iii. FRED SAMUEL, b. 13 Sept. 1864; m. at Oxford, Me., 24 June 1906, GENEVERE A. MAYBERRY, b. at Gray, Me., abt. 1868, dau. of Randall F. and Mary A. (Walker) Mayberry. He settled on the home farm in Oxford. He was married by R. F. Staples, Justice of the Peace, and among the wedding gifts was a pair of little pigs. A few years before, Justice Staples said jokingly, "Geneva, if you'll marry Waterman, I'll give you a pair of pigs." Miss Mayberry did not forget the remark, and just prior to her marriage reminded Mr. Staples of his promise. He, true to his word, came to perform the ceremony with a young pig securely held under each arm.

This Thomas Waterman of Yates County, N. Y., has been identified with the son of Ebenezer[6] because two census records state his birth-place as Massachusetts, and his stated age agrees closely with the birth-date of Ebenezer's son. No other Thomas Waterman born in Massachusetts at the right date has been found. Furthermore, Ebenezer[6] had a son Lewis, and Thomas of Yates County gave that name to a son.

Note

There is a problem concerning the marriages of David F.[8] Waterman. The family record obtained by C. C. P. Waterman was meagre, and mentions only the wife Sarah A. Churchill and her children. However, the marriage of David Waterman, aged 24, son of Freeman, was recorded at Raynham, Mass., in 1846 to Roby D. Woodward. No other

David of this age and parentage is known. When Alden A. W. Waterman married in Raynham in 1866, he stated his age as 18, birthplace as Raynham, and name of mother as Roby D. Waterman, but gave no father, which was then customary. It is surmised that David separated from Roby D. and that they were divorced.

There are also problems regarding the marriages of Frederick Churchill Waterman, and it is not certain that all belong to the same individual.

* He is placed as son of Lathrop[7] by Charles E. Waterman in "The Maine Watermans." His birth, however, is stated as 1827; too early, for his age as stated in Maine Vital Statistics puts his birth in 1832, and calls him son of L. Waterman, born at Hanover, N. H., leaving the mother's name blank. Apparently, therefore, he was son of Lathrop by an earlier marriage, of which details have not been learned. The compiler of "The Maine Watermans" lived in Mechanic Falls, where John Z. died, so was in a position to learn his parentage.

680. CYRUS HAMILTON[7] WATERMAN (Zebadiah[6], Seth[5], Samuel[4], Robert[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Ellery, Chautauqua Co., N. Y., 28 Jan. 1821, died at Mill Village, Erie Co., Pa., 1 Dec. 1864, married at Stockton, Chautauqua Co., N. Y., 26 Dec. 1841, SARAH FREELOVE[7] WATERMAN, born at Stockton, Chautauqua Co., N. Y., 1 Aug. 1822, died at Centreville, Pa., 14 Apr. 1902, daughter of Oliver[6] [No. 294] and Mariam (Jennings) Waterman.

He was an industrious farmer and carpenter; Baptist. His wife read the Bible through from twelve to fifteen times. She was the last survivor of her generation, and gave much information to her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Calvin Waterman, who supplied most of the data on this branch of the family.

Zebadiah[6] Waterman and Oliver[6] Waterman in the 1840's were living in Chautauqua County about ten miles apart; although their fathers had been half-brothers, the two families had long been separated and lost track of each other. The two men met at a mill one day, talked while waiting for their grist, and found they were related. Later, Zebadiah went over to visit Oliver. On his return, he told what a pretty girl Oliver's daughter was. His son Cyrus said, "I am going over there, and if there is as pretty a girl as you say, I am going to marry her." And he did. This marriage united the two branches of the Waterman family which were in Chautauqua County.

They came to Mill Village, Pa., in the Spring of 1844, and the widow and sons moved to Centreville in 1871.

685. (REV.) GRANVILLE CLIFFORD[7] WATERMAN (Dexter[6], Sylvanus[5], Samuel[4], Robert[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Boothbay, Maine, 4 May 1835, died at Laconia, N. H., 21 Apr. 1927, aged 91-11-17; married first, at Walesville, Oneida Co., N Y., 20 Apr. 1861, JULIA ANGELINE MANSFIELD, born at Westmoreland, N. Y., 15 Oct. 1838, died at Verona, N. Y., 23 Apr. 1871, daughter of Charles M. and Lucy Mary (Littlejohn) Mansfield; married second, at Oneonta, N. Y., 4 Dec. 1872, MARIETTA STEWART, born at Hampden, N. Y., 28 Mar. 1835, died at Laconia, N. H., 20 Feb. 1918, daughter of Lester and Nancy (Coe) Stewart.

He attended public and private schools in the towns of Phillips, Franklin Co., Me., and Unity, Waldo Co., Me., and completed his preparation for college at the Litchfield Liberal Institute. He entered Bowdoin College in Sept. 1853, and graduated (B.A.) in 1857. While in college he was a member of the Peucinian Society and the Psi Upsilon fraternity. Immediately after graduating, he went to Central New York to teach in Whitestown Seminary, then a large and popular school. He remained in the state of New York seventeen years, fourteen of which were spent in teaching in different academies (Whitestown, 1857-59, Ames, 1860-62).

From 1863 to 1868 he was Principal of the Seminary at Pike, Wyoming County. In 1869, while Principal of the Attica Union School, he was ordained to the ministry of the Free Baptist denomination, and on the first of April in that year became the pastor of the Free Baptist church at Lowville, Lewis Co., N. Y. He continued in that relation three years, when, in consequence of a change in circumstances, he returned to his former occupation and became the Principal of Lowville Academy, which position he held for two years. In 1874 he was called to the pastorate of the Washington Street Church in Dover, N. H., and remained there more than five years. After that he held pastorates, successively, in Laconia (1880-81) and Littleton, N. H. (1886-1901), Providence, R. I. (1901-05), St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Hampton, N. H. (1914-19).

In 1881 he was chosen to be the first editor of the Sunday School Quarterly then about to be published by his denomination, and devoted five years to that work between his pastorates at Laconia and Littleton. He was a frequent contributor to religious and secular papers, and greatly enjoyed journalistic work. He was given the degree of A.M. by Bowdoin College in 1885.

He was Recording Secretary of the Free Baptist Education Society, five or six years, then Recording Secretary of the Home Mission Society; was member of the General Conference four times. He served on School Committee in Dover, N. H., three years, and in Littleton the same length of time.

724. Samuel Freeman[7] Waterman (Tillson[6], John[5], Joseph[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Poland, Maine, 21 June 1812, died at Mechanic Falls, Maine, 18 Nov. 1876; married at Minot, Maine (reported in Portland Transcript of 10 Feb. 1838), Mercy Angerona Dwinal, born at Minot, Maine, 13 Aug. 1815, died at Westbrook, Maine, 13 Feb. 1899, aged 83-5-0, buried at Mechanic Falls, daughter of (Capt.) Isaac and Mercy (Bridgeham) Dwinal.

Born on a farm, one of several children, with his own way to make in the world, he hired out in a lumber mill, preferring the night shift so that he could study days. He read law in David Dunn's office, and was later admitted to the Bar.

He was also a contractor and builder, erecting seven houses and a church at Mechanic Falls, also the county buildings and Universalist Church at Auburn, Maine.

He was the first Postmaster at Mechanic Falls, 1841-45, and 1861-66; Selectman of Minot; Justice of the Peace for twenty-five years, receiving his first commission 27 May 1847; and County Commissioner of Androscoggin County, 1856-59. He was a Universalist.

Samuel F. Waterman of Minot, trader, bought land in Minot, 24 Apr. 1837, which he sold that Autumn to Tillson Waterman of Poland, Esquire. With Isaac Dwinal, he bought a mill in Poland, 22 Dec. 1843. He bought land in Minot in 1846, in Poland in 1848, and in Mechanic Falls in 1848. He had numerous land transactions subsequently, and was usually called Samuel F. Waterman, "Esquire," or "Gentleman." His residence changed from Minot to Poland between 1849 and 1851. In 1851 his wife signed with him as Angerona Waterman. [Deeds, Cumberland County.]

Children of Samuel Freeman and Mercy Angerona (Dwinal), Waterman, born at Poland:

He served the town as member of school board, Selectman, secretary of cemetery association and Chamber of Commerce; and was Postmaster of Mechanic Falls under Presidents Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft. His love of his State was expressed in the following lines written during his illness:

"Maine, Maine, dear old Maine,
We are going back to your hills again
Where the robins sing their songs so sweet,
And our dear and loving friends we meet.
The trees and the fields give us welcome there,
We are in Maine, and free from care."

763. CHARLES COTESWORTH PINKNEY[7] WATERMAN (Barnabas[6], Perez[5], Perez[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Wareham, Mass., 18 Jan. 1801, died at Sandwich, Mass., 22 Nov. 1884, aged 80; married at Newton, Mass., 4 Sept. 1822, CHARLOTTE CHAPOUIL, born at Cambridge, Mass., [Apr. 1805], died at Sandwich, 4 Sept. 1887, aged 82 yrs. 5 mos., daughter of Anthony and Susannah (Neil) Chapouil.

Mr. Waterman as a boy lived in his father's family in several places,—Hudson, N. Y., Salisbury, Conn., and Oakham, Mass., and enjoyed only a common school education. But he was an apt scholar. His stay in Salisbury was short, not long enough for his father to acquire a residence, and he attended the district school there as a privilege and not as a right. He took all the premiums offered to his class, for superiority in reading, spelling and the like, until the parents of the other children complained and it was agreed, if he might attend the school, that he should remain uniformly at the foot of the class.

He was superintendent of the Boston and Sandwich Glass Company for many years, serving with the company from 1825 to 1858. In 1858 he became associated with Mr. Deming Jarvis in the Cape Cod glass works at Sandwich, and retired in 1876. He was a deacon in the Congregational Church. He was a resident member of the New England Historic Genealogical Society, was much interested in genealogy, and collected Waterman data. In 1849 he was on the committee for School District No. 5 in Sandwich.

Mr. Waterman was a large land-owner, and figures often in the Land Records of Barnstable County.

Antoine Chapouil was born in the Corporation of Mayssac, and baptized 12 Apr. 1767, son of Peter Chapouile and Anna Bruine; his godparents were Antoine Chapouile and Joeinette Lafon. He remembered the ringing of bells in his native place at the news of the taking of the Bastille. Being placed in a monastery to become a priest, he ran away to Spain, and from there came with Capt. Atkins of Provincetown and finally located in Boston. There he established the first confectionery in the stand on Hanover Street opposite Marshall's Lane.

The will of Charles C. P. Waterman of Sandwich, dated 2 Feb. 1885, proved 10 Mar. 1885; to daughters Sarah S., wife of Howard S. Williams, and Mary T., wife of Jonathan Leonard, and sons Charles H., George T., and Allan T. Waterman, and granddaughter Marion B. Graves, daughter of my deceased daughter, Louisa M. Graves, each $1.00; residue to wife Charlotte for life, and at her decease to son Allan T. Waterman. The petitition for administration states that he died 22 Nov. 1884, leaving a widow Charlotte and the following children and grandchild:

Sarah S. Williams	res. Sandwich	born 9 Aug. 1827
Charles H. Waterman	New York City	19 Oct. 1830
George T. Waterman	Boerne, Texas	5 Apr. 1833
Louisa M. Graves, wife of Albert, mother of Marion B.		10 May 1835
Mary T. Leonard, widow of Jonathan of Sandwich		8 Mar. 1837
Allan T. Waterman	res. Sandwich	17 Oct. 1838

[Probate Rec. Barnstable County, Case No. 8776; vol. 127, p. 329; vol. 125, p. 370.]

The will of Charlotte Waterman of Sandwich, dated 6 Aug. 1878, proved 13 Dec. 1887, named her husband and the same children and grandchild. The petition recites that she died 4 Sept. 1887, names the same children, and calls the grandchild Marion Day wife of Clinton S. Day of Cleveland, Ohio, daughter of Louisa M. Graves. [ib., Case No. 9535; vol. 137, p. 112, vol. 125, p. 470.]

The will of Allan T. Waterman of Sandwich, dated 29 Aug. 1916, proved 8 May 1917, gave to wife, Emily S., all household furniture; to son Theodore A. Waterman, $2,000.00 and collection of stamps and coins; to brother, Charles H. Waterman, $500.00; to son Theodore A., and to Warren Provost of Brooklyn, N. Y. (brother-in-law of said wife), as Trustees for his wife, the residue of estate. He died 28 Feb. 1917; heirs named as Emily A. S. Waterman, of Sandwich, widow, and Theodore A. Waterman, of New York City, son. [ib., Case No. 18115; vol. 188, p. 48; vol. 179. p 456.]

HIS LIFE CLOSED

Hon. Joshua T. Waterman Peacefully Passes Away from Earth

It becomes our sad duty this morning to chronicle the death of one of our oldest and most esteemed citizens, Hon. Joshua T. Waterman, who passed away from earth yesterday afternoon. The news of the death of this man will fall heavily on a wide circle of friends and acquaintances and cause universal sorrow as it becomes known.

Mr. Waterman had been in feeble health for several years past, his illness being a general breaking down and wearing out of old age, but not until a few days since was he obliged to go to bed and stay there. In claiming him death has taken from the earth one whose lifework was completed. It was as long a work as Mr. Waterman himself expected, and it was as long as those who knew the garnered wisdom and force of character that were in him perhaps expected. But however we may relieve the shock and sting of death, still when it comes to one beloved it never fails to lay upon our hearts a peculiar burden of disappointment and grief.

Mr. Waterman was born in this city in September, 1807, and was therefore in his 84th year. With the exception of about one and one-half years he always lived in Hudson. His advantages for education were such as the common schools of that day afforded, to which was added the inestimable blessing of intelligent and high-minded parents, whose influence in his intellectual development and the moral training of his childhood and youth cannot be too highly estimated. In early life he was a prominent builder, but later and for many years he conducted the various business affairs of the Hudson branch of the Boston and Albany Railroad at this place, always to the highest satisfaction of the superior officials.

In his younger days he was one of the most active volunteer firemen in the city, and was made Chief of the Fire Department of Hudson upon the resignation of Judge W. Edmonds in 1837, holding the position for about twenty years, during which time occurred the large fires of 1838 and 1844 which were two of the most destructive that ever visited Hudson, sweeping both times the ground which is now Franklin Square. In the newspapers of that time it was mentioned that the firemen, who had only hand engines to cope with the conflagrations, exerted themselves to the utmost to check the ravages of the fire and the gallant services performed by Chief WATERMAN and his fire brigade were spoken of in terms of highest commendation.

Deeply interested from early manhood in all questions affecting local, State and National politics, he was clear, decided and unwavering in his views. While the Whig party remained in existence he was one of the most ardent and energetic supporters, one of its most valued and trusted young leaders in the city, and a warm and active advocate of its policy and candidates. When the Republican party was organized he became one of its earliest and most efficient members and continued true to its principles till death.

Mr. Waterman had been honored with public trusts. For four terms he was elected Mayor and he served the city with unusual acceptance and approval as its chief magistrate, being first chosen in 1852, after serving five terms as Alderman and winning a splendid record. He was also Under Sheriff of the county in 1859, and the first Collector of Internal Revenue for this collection district. He was appointed by President Lincoln and collected and disbursed a very large amount of money during and after the war with the most scrupulous fidelity and painstaking care, at a time when, by reason of there being entirely new forms—or rather no forms—of procedure, and with no established precedents, the duties of the office were comparatively difficult.

During all these years, Mr. WATERMAN was a man whose integrity was never questioned. He could look back over an active career, in which nothing of respect or esteem had been sacrificed to any exigency however pressing. Advancing age and declining health led him five or six years since to relinquish his position with the Boston and Albany Railroad Company to younger and more active hands. For the past three years he had been in infirm health, though until quite latterly that had somewhat improved, so that he was occasionally seen upon the streets. His family consisted of seven sons and five daughters, six of the former and four of the latter still living and were around his bedside when the final summons came. He had also twenty-eight grandchildren and six great grandchildren, who are living at the present time.

To many, especially our older citizens, the sad news of his death will bring a deep sense of personal affliction, like unto the loss of a beloved brother. Many knew him as a warm friend, always helpful and sympathetic, and to all he was ever cordial and friendly. He treated all equally well and was an every-day-alike kind of a man, to whom the heart warmed more and more as acquaintance ripened into friendship and high esteem. He leaves behind him an unsullied name and a large family of sons and daughters and their descendants who honor his memory as they strove to make his last days as peaceful and pleasant as his infirmities would permit.

788. Dwight Bartlett[7] Waterman (West[6], Theophilus[5], Perez[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Lee, N. Y., 2 July 1807, died at Utica, N. Y., 4 Jan. 1890; married at Oswego Falls, N. Y., 28 Feb. 1833, Maria Fredericka Alvord, born at Salina, N. Y., 19 Jan. 1815, died at Whitesboro, N. Y., 22 Aug. 1876, daughter of Asahel and Eva Regina (Mong) Alvord.

He was a shoemaker and tanner by trade and started a shop at Oswego Falls, N. Y., in 1825, which was a business success. He married in 1833 the daughter of a hotelkeeper at Oswego Falls. Soon after the death of his first child in 1837, he removed to Taberg, Oneida County, N. Y., to engage with his brother Marcus in the woolen mill. This proved a financial failure, and Dwight then returned to the home farm in Lee, of which he took charge until his father's death. Here both he and his wife were converted under the preaching of Rev. Mr. Hodges. They were earnest Christians and joined the Presbyterian Church. After the death of his father, he gave up farming and went to assist in building the first tracks of the New York Central from Albany to Syracuse. When the road was finished, he was given charge of the four-mile section from Utica to Whitesboro, and in 1848 moved his family to the latter place. He kept the position of "section boss" for several years, but finding it rather a hard life he returned to his trade and established a shoe shop in Whitesboro which he conducted up to four weeks before his death. He and his wife joined in Whitesboro the Independent Congregational Church with the Rev. Beriah Green at its head. They were his near neighbors and staunch friends and, like him, strong Abolitionists and Prohibitionists. Always true to his own convictions, he had rather, like Henry Clay, "be right than be President." In Dec. 1889 he was stricken with paralysis, and was removed to St. Luke's Hospital in Utica where he died.

"Mrs. Waterman was an estimable woman, of great force of character and an ardent friend of the slave in the days that tried men's souls, when it cost something to be an Abolitionist. Her labors were arduous and indefatigable and will not soon be forgotten by her co-laborers in the Anti-slavery struggle. Her sickness was protracted and one of great suffering." She was educated at Whitestown Seminary, and became a musician and singer. Employed to sing in St. John's Episcopal Church in Whitesboro, she learned to love its services and was confirmed there by Bishop Huntington on 27 Apr. 1870. Mr. Nutting had charge of the forge department of the Remington Arms Co.

789-1. JAMES MADISON[8] ["MATT"] WATERMAN (Marcus[7], West[6], Theophilus[5], Perez[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Taberg, Oneida Co., N. Y., 19 Mar. 1841, died at Geary, Okla., 26 Apr. 1903; married 1 Feb. 1865, EMMA LOUISE WEST, of Pewaukee, Waukesha Co., Wis., born in Wisconsin, 1846, died at Carnegie, Okla., 29 June 1924.

Prior to 1860 he moved, with the family, to Waupaca, Waupaca Co., Wis., where he enlisted in Co. I, 1st Wisconsin Cavalry. He served as Adjutant, and was later commissioned as First Lieutenant.

In 1870 he removed, with his family, to Hamburg, Fremont County, Iowa, where he edited the Fremont Times; and in Oct. 1885 removed to Kansas, settling first near Cawker City, Mitchell County, and in Feb. 1886 at Delphos, Ottawa County. In 1888 he engaged in the newspaper business at the latter place, and was well known in newspaper circles for some years as a ready and brilliant writer, of verse as well as prose.

GEORGE MADISON[9] WATERMAN (James Madison[8], Marcus[7], West[6], Theophilus[5], Perez[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Waupaca, Wis., 19 Dec. 1866, died at Carnegie, Caddo Co., Okla., Easter Sunday, 4 Apr. 1926; married at Sidney, Iowa, 8 Sept. 1891, MAUDE ALICE WILSON, born at Sidney, Iowa, 27 July 1868, living (1939) at Wellington, Kansas, daughter of Thomas Jefferson and Phoebe (Bartlow) Wilson.

He removed with his parents to Hamburg, Iowa, where he early learned the printing trade. In 1882 he went to Sidney, the county seat of Fremont County, twelve miles north, where he was foreman of the Fremont County Herald. He served faithfully in this position for six or seven years, when he became the owner of the newspaper. He also served as Postmaster at Sidney for eight years during Woodrow Wilson's Administration.

In 1922 he sold the newspaper and removed to Carnegie, Caddo Co., Okla., where he joined his brother, William West Waterman, in the oil distributing business (Lake-Waterman Oil Co.) and remained until his death. His widow lives (1939) in Wellington, Kans.

He was a Methodist, and was a member of the Official Board of the Methodist Church in Sidney, Iowa, 1920-21. He was a member of the Masonic, Odd Fellows, and Knights of Pythias fraternities.

789-1-2. WILLIAM WEST[9] WATERMAN (James Madison[8], Marcus[7], West[6], Theophilus[5], Perez[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Waupaca, Wis., 21 Jan. 1869, died at Apache, Caddo Co., Okla., 12 May 1935; married in 1894, BERTHA E. RICHARDS, born , res. (1937) Apache, Okla., daughter of Benjamin F. and Margaret (Clendinen) Richards.

He removed with his parents in infancy to Hamburg, Iowa, where he obtained his early schooling. He went with the family to Kansas in 1885, where he spent a few years working on farms. In 1888, when his father purchased a newspaper at Delphos, he entered the office and learned the newspaper business in all its phases. He succeeded his father upon the latter's retirement as editor and publisher of the Delphos Republican.

Late in the 1890's he sold the newspaper, and with his family removed to Geary, Blaine Co., Okla., where he established a newspaper in that then new and growing railroad division town. In 1902 he gratified a lifelong ambition by embarking in the banking business. A new bank had just been established in this little city, and he became assistant cashier. A year or so later he left to become cashier of a bank in the adjoining town of Bridgeport, just across the county line in Caddo County. He subsequently engaged in banking at Cyril and Apache, in the same county, where he resided until his death.

He was a Republican, and served the county for two terms as Treasurer, at Anadarko. Upon his retirement from office, he returned to Apache and established the Waterman Oil Company, engaged in the wholesale and retail distribution of petroleum products. Upon being joined by his brother, a branch of the oil business was opened at Carnegie. Throughout his long commercial, financial and official career, he was most ably and devotedly assisted by his wife as his deputy. Their two daughters were graduated in 1915 from Anadarko High School.

789-1-3. ARTHUR BENTON[9] WATERMAN (James Madison[8], Marcus[7], West[6], Theophilus[5], Perez[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Hamburg, Iowa, 22 Apr. 1873, res. (1937) Los Angeles, Calif.; married at Beloit, Mitchell Co., Kans., 22 Apr. 1895, ORO ELMA COOPER, granddaughter of Col. James F. Cooper, pioneer settler and "opera house" owner of Beloit.

Mr. Waterman kindly furnished an account of his career:

"Must early have inclined to the family profession, for my memory runs not back to the time when I did not know the lay of the old type case. On my fifth birthday, in my father's shop, I set my first 'stick of type,' and then and there began a career from which I have never been able wholly to escape. In 1881 I began my pursual of the Three R's and kindred subjects in the old red brick school on the bluffs at Hamburg, which subsequently burned down on a cold winter day, I believe in 1884. When the family departed for the wilds of Kansas in 1885, it seemed expedient that I should accompany them. The first winter in the new home was largely spent, in collaboration with my father and brother Will, in cutting down a great many of the ubiquitous cottonwoods which line the shores of the old Solomon River near Cawker City, in order that we and others might escape the rigors of the season. The following February we all moved about 35 miles down the Solomon to a little town called Delphos. There I pursued my elementary education and in 1889 graduated from the Delphos Grammar School. In the summer of 1887 I began working in the local newspaper office during my vacation days, and when school resumed I worked nights, mornings, and Saturdays.

"When, in 1888, my father bought the newspaper, I continued with even greater enthusiasm and determination to conquer. In 1890 I first broke away from the home ties and went out to subdue the earth. The trip taken at that time eclipsed any that has ever been taken since. To my immature and unsophisticated thought the distance was much greater than any ever compassed by Drake, Magellan, or Balboa. Away down to Kansas City! My first quest for work, on the old Kansas City Journal, netted me a stretch of about six weeks. From there I journeyed on up the Missouri to the little Iowa town where my eldest brother held the foremanship on a prosperous country weekly, and soon became a member of the 'force.' Again in the footsteps of my father, I had always been interested in things musical. I had previously made the acquaintance of a man in Topeka, who was the leading Kansas music dealer of his day, and had applied for a position with him. In 1892, while yet in the little Iowa town, I received a call from this gentleman to come and fill a position that had just been vacated. I remained with him until after the 1893 depression, which so crippled his business that it remained but a mere skeleton of its former importance and greatly depleted the number of employees. During my sojourn in Topeka I was a member of the then famous 'Modoc Club,' an organization of some 24 male voices with guitar and mandolin accompaniment, which dated its inception away back in the early days of that section of Kansas. Through the good offices of its president, Major Tom J. Anderson, vice-president of the Rock Island Railroad at that time, and Kansas member of the Columbian Exposition Commission which held the World's Fair in Chicago in 1892, the Modocs were taken up to the Windy City for a month's engagement. During that engagement, I had the great honor of meeting and conversing with the Hon. William McKinley, then Governor of Ohio.

"After leaving Topeka I returned to the parental roof in central Kansas, and for a while again 'at the case' on the family newspaper. Having once tasted the freedom of the broad world I was not content with the provincial things which had before so intrigued me, so in the summer of 1894 I joined one of the traditional Kickapoo Indian traveling shows of those days, alternating on the nightly programs with a cornet solo and a vocal number. Two- and three-week stands were made in some of the larger and more promising towns, which provided an opportunity for more or less social intercourse and acquaintance. On April 22, 1895, in Beloit, Mitchell County, I married Oro Elma Cooper, granddaughter of Col. James F. Cooper, pioneer settler and 'opera house' owner of that city. Having made a pleasant and lasting acquaintance with that veenrable director, Andy Manifold, I had before this become a member of an organization famous throughout that section of the Middlewest, 'Manifold's Military Band,' and for several years held myself subject to call at any time and from any place to fill an engagement. In June, 1896, with a three-months-old daughter and her mother, I again trekked to the old newspaper stamping ground in Southwestern Iowa, where I remained with the Fremont County Herald, until in January of 1900.

"I felt that the opening of a new century demanded some incident that would definitely mark the passing of the old—a change so pronounced that it would always remain a mile-stone in my memory. Therefore, about January 10th we moved to Colorado Springs, Colorado, heeding the famous advice of old Horace Greeley. Incidentally, my salary in the old Iowa town, at its peak, had been $9 per week of 60 hours and up. My first job in my new home, in a commercial job plant, paid me $19 for a 48-hour week. I remained in that position for about six months when an opportunity was offered for me to go on to the Telegraph, the afternoon newspaper of the city, at a salary of $21 for the same hours. I held that job for just one month, when my services were sought in the composing room of the morning paper, the old Colorado Springs Gazette, at $24 per week. Then I began to wonder if it would not be the better part of wisdom for me to establish some sort of a financial foundation to insure the healthy turn-over of my rapidly increasing wealth. However, I soon discovered this would not be necessary. While yet on the Gazette, 1901, I was afforded the opportunity, and embraced it, to learn to operate the linotype. This incident brought back to my memory a scene that had been enacted many years before, in the middle '80's. Two of my youthful contemporaries who were typographically inclined back in those days had met with me in solemn conference over a matter fraught with great moment to our beloved profession. Over the grapevine route had sifted down to our ears the first faint rumors of the invention of a machine to 'set' type. Of course, our superior intelligence immediately assured us of the utter impossibility of any such contingency, but if through any providential dispensation such a disastrous affliction should be permitted, we then and there swore direst vengeance on the culpable offender whose devilish brains might be responsible for it.

"I left the Gazette to establish a weekly newspaper of my own early in 1902, an adventure which proved anything but successful, and ended before the year had begun to wane. After a few months of physical disability in the latter part of 1902 and early in 1903, I returned again to the Gazette and Telegraph. In the summer of 1905 I established my own printing and publishing business, known as The Waterman Press, in Colorado Springs. By dint of perseverance and hard work I succeeded in building up a plant second to few in that section, only to see it swept away in 1910 as a direct result of the depression of 1907. Following this loss I went down to Little Rock, Ark., as manager of a weekly newspaper and commercial printing plant, which did not last long, due to internal conflict among its owners. While retaining my residence in Colorado Springs, I was subsequently connected with several newspapers of the South, including the Shreveport Times and the Journal, Shreveport, La.; the Fort Worth (Tex.) Record and Star-Telegram, and the Dallas News.

"In October, 1912, I went from Dallas, Tex., to Santa Barbara, Calif., in response to a call for a position on the Santa Barbara Independent, the remainder of the family already having gone there from Colorado Springs. In 1914 I homesteaded on 320 acres of land in what is now known as the Phelan District of the Mojave Desert, in San Bernardino County, California, the largest county in the world, containing 20,157 square miles. In 1915 I purchased an Intertype machine and went into the trade linotyping business in Los Angeles. In response to a call from Hilo, Hawaii, I sold my plant and took a position there as superintendent of the mechanical department of the Hilo Tribune Publishing Co., Ltd., in August, 1918. After a few months in this position, a change was made in the management and I was instated as manager, a position I held until 1921, when I returned to Los Angeles.

"I was subsequently connected with the Santa Monica Outlook, the Venice Vanguard, Long Beach Press-Telegram, and superintendent of the Long Beach Morning Sun. In 1926 I again entered the field of linotype trade composition with two linotypes, and later with an Intertype, in Santa Monica, continuing until early in 1930. From September, 1931, to January, 1936, I was connected with the Southwest Wave, the largest community newspaper west of Chicago, at Los Angeles.

"In 1909, while a resident of Colorado Springs, I joined El Paso Lodge, No. 13, Free and Accepted Masons, demitting to Santa Barbara Lodge, No. 192. While in Hawaii, I took the Scottish Rite Degrees in Honolulu Consistory, No. 1, Valley of Honolulu, Orient of Hawaii, where my membership still remains."

ii. MARK C., b. 15 Aug. 1885; m. 9 Apr. 1907, LEAH CHAPIN, of Erie, Pa., b. 6 June 1883, dau. of Samuel Farnum and Emily (Hill) Chapin. He early left school to seek employment, at first as a salesman in a shoe store in Clarinda. He afterward became buyer and manager of the shoe division of a department store in Fremont, Neb. From there he was called to manage a large shoe store in Erie, Pa., and after two years his firm sent him to Cincinnati, Ohio, as manager of a chain of stores. He was also, for a period, manager of a store in Jamestown, N. Y. Returning to Clarinda, Iowa, he became a traveling salesman, covering the states of Nebraska, Iowa, and Kansas, for an affiliate of the U. S. Rubber Co. This position he held until 1919, when he became associated with four other business men of Clarinda in organizing The State Automobile Insurance Association, which began operating 19 Apr. 1919, with the home office in Des Moines. One of the original five later sold his interest to the remaining four, who since have owned the entire stock, Mark being treasurer of the Association. He is a 32° Mason; past president of the Cosmopolitan Club of Des Moines; past president of the Des Moines Golf and Country Club; and for four years served on the executive board of the local Community Chest. Children:

I. Robert Chapin[10], b. at Erie, Pa., 24 May 1909. He attended high school in Des Moines, and the New Mexico Military Institute (Roswell, N. M.), graduating from the High School Division in 1926, and from Junior College in 1930, with the rank of Captain. He is now (1939) 2d Lieut., U. S. Reserve Cavalry Division. In 1932 he graduated (A.B.) from Drake University (Des Moines). After completing his law course at Drake (LL.B., 1934), he became associated with The State Automobile Insurance Association, of which he is (1939) head of the legal department.

* She was baptized there 25 Feb. 1801, with other children of "Verval" and Hannah Banister.

He lived most of his life on a farm near South Byron, N. Y., where he settled in 1816. He cleared the site on which the old brick homestead owned by Wilbur and Dorance Waterman stands (1933). "The wolves nearly got him one night when he stayed out of his little cabin longer than usual, cutting down trees." He managed well; later built a good house, and raised a family of eleven children.

He used the following table-blessing thrice daily, while his wife and daughter Hannah stood up to serve the meal: "Heavenly Parent, we would adore Thee as our great Creator. While Thou art feeding our weak and decaying natures, wilt Thou much more abundantly feed our souls with that spiritual food which shall abide with us forever. Amen."

In 1873 Anthony Waterman and his wife Sophia conveyed land in Stafford to Gordon Waterman, reserving one room on ground floor, and two on second floor, for life use of Minerva M. Waterman. [Deeds, Genesee Co., 137-370.]

802-4. MARIA MELINDA[8] WATERMAN (John[7], James[6], Anthony[5], Anthony[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Dunkirk, N. Y., 15 June 1848, died at Chagrin Falls, Ohio, 25 Sept. 1910; married at Chagrin Falls, 29 Aug. 1873, AUSTIN CHURCH, born at Chagrin Falls, 19 Sept. 1838, died at Redlands, Calif., 16 Apr. 1916, son of Henry and Clarissa (Sanderson) Church.

Mr. Church was a blacksmith; a Protestant in religion; and served as Town Treasurer for about forty years, and on the Board of Education for about the same period. He served in Co. H, 150th Regt., Ohio Vol. Inf., from 5 May 1864 for 100 days. He and his family were strong abolitionists. His father came from Amherst, Mass., to Ohio in 1833, and was instrumental in aiding the escape of large numbers of slaves to Canada, over a period of twenty years before the Civil War, by means of the "Underground Railway." They were kept in the home for a few days, then carried by night to Cleveland and put on boats for Canada. Henry Church was born at Amherst, Mass., in 1805, died at Chagrin Falls, 11 Nov. 1878, son of Joseph; and married first, Jerusha Bigelow, by whom he had one daughter; and second, Clarissa Sanderson, daughter of Abraham and Elizabeth (Whitney), who was the mother of Austin Church and six other children.

806. Calvin[7] Waterman (Calvin[6], Anthony[5], Anthony[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Cummington, Mass., 29 Oct. 1792, died after 1850; married first, ——— ———; married second, in Geauga County, Ohio, 10 July 1849, Clarissa Colson, born in Mass., about 1799.*

Around 1815-17, he came with his father's family to Perrinton, then in Ontario County, since 1823 in Wayne County, N. Y. The 1820 Census lists him there as Calvin Waterman, Jr., with a wife under 26, and a boy and a girl under 10.

In the 1850 Census, Calvin Waterman, a farmer, aged 56, born in Mass., was living in Troy, Geauga Co., Ohio, with wife C. Waterman, aged 51, born in Mass, and J. Waterman, aged 13, born (unknown). He is identified by birth in Massachusetts, and his age, which is reasonably close to the birth date.

Nothing positive has been learned about his family, but it is extremely probable that he was father of Austin B. and Calvin [J.] who married in Geauga County in 1843 and 1847 respectively. The census records state that both were born in New York, where the senior Calvin was living at that period. The younger Calvin was living at Grand Rapids, Mich., by 1850, and Austin, who was then at Chagrin Falls, Ohio, followed him there shortly.

808. OLIVE[7] WATERMAN (Calvin[6], Anthony[5], Anthony[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Cummington, Mass., 27 Nov. 1800; died 19 Mar. 1886; married at Perrinton, near Palmyra, Wayne Co., N. Y., in 1818, GEORGE WASHINGTON WESCOTT, born at Clarendon, Vt., 27 Feb. 1793, died at Union City, Pa., 14 Apr. 1869, son of George W. and Phebe (———) Wescott.

The Waterman and Wescott families had settled near each other in Perrinton, Wayne Co., N. Y. Olive was raised in the Presbyterian faith, and attended evening singing school with the other young people. After marriage, she lived about three years in Perrinton, then the family moved to Hamburg, Erie Co., N. Y., about two miles from Lake Erie, and three miles from the Indian reservation. They had a small farm, a tan-yard, and a shoe shop. The house was large, having been used for a tavern, and was made of logs hewn on both sides, and the extended beams in front formed a porch. One door was cut across the middle so that the lower half could be closed and the top half left open for a window. The family were sometimes the guests of the Indians and feasted on venison, bear, and puddings handsomely variegated with black beans.

They were quite prosperous until, in trying to help a friend, Mr. Wescott lost his property. Taking his brave, industrious wife and five little children, he settled in the woods in Harmony, Chautauqua Co., N. Y., upon 60 acres of land on the road from Steadmanville to Panama. There they struggled in the wilderness, clearing their farm, raising their provisions and making cloth for their clothes. In those days there were not men enough to raise the log houses, and the women often went to assist in pulling on the top logs. Many times Mrs. Waterman went a number of miles to these "raisings."

Here they lived about fourteen years. Wolves, bears and other animals prowled the woods. One night a cry was heard on a near-by hillside like that of a woman in distress, but it turned out to be a panther.

In 1836 Mr. Wescott's brother Jeremiah and family visited them, and proposed taking the daughter Diana back to Vermont with them. She was then nearly sixteen, and the plan was for her to stay three years. Her parents consented, but after the party left Mrs. Wescott felt so badly that her husband started out in the night, hoping to overtake them before the boat left Westfield, but before he reached there his brother and party had embarked. Diana had a sweet disposition, and letters which she wrote from Vermont have been preserved. She died at the home of Amos Wescott in Clarendon, Vt., in 1838 at the age of seventeen.

In the Spring of 1840 the family moved to a farm of 100 acres located on high ground. A beautiful creek flowed near the house. The buildings were made of logs. The house, with its gable to the road, had a fire-place in the north end with solid stone jambs, a long split stone for the mantel, and flagstone hearth. The crane hung on the jamb, and the andirons were large and heavy with a hole in the top of the front standard. The fire was built with a heavy two-foot back log, then a back stick one foot thick laid on the back log, then the fore stick laid across the andirons and small wood laid between. On the east side of the fire-place was a pantry with a small window in the north end. On the west side of the fire-place was a stone oven, and for a number of years the cooking was all done with this oven and fire-place. The stair led up over the oven into the chamber where there were beds for five boys. In the main room below there were doors facing the east and west, and a bedroom and bedsink occupied the south end of the house. The bed in the bedsink had a square frame suspended horizontally above it upon which was stretched a sheet, and a short curtain with linen fringe was hung from it in front of the bed. A trundle bed was rolled under it in daytime, and out at night, and the babies were tucked up in it to sleep safe within reach of the mother's hand. After a time, an addition was put on the west side with a brick chimney in the north end. As Sybil had much to do about its building, it was called her room. The house was nicely finished inside with putty and paint made from pulverized pumice stone from the creek mixed with milk.

The nice green in front with its hard beaten walk to the road gate, where stood the beautiful butternut trees, was the playground of the Wescott children, dressed in linen suits that had been made by their mother from the raw material. Mrs. Wescott's life was a busy one, carding and spinning at night and in the day-time weaving shawls and both linen and woolen cloth for the household, also making thread to sew cloth and shoes. The elder children assisted. Mr. Wescott had a brick yard that he and his sons worked in connection with the farm. He was a tall man with light complexion and blue eyes. At fifty his hair, which grew about two crowns, was white, and he was partly bald. He had a high forehead, long thin nose and thin lips. Pleasant and kind in his family, he was firm in discipline. He used to amuse the children with Bible stories, and often held them and sang to them, although unable to carry a tune correctly.

He and his wife and three of the children were members of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and family worship was regularly engaged in. He was an independent thinker, with courage to support what his conscience dictated. An Abolitionist when that was a term of reproach, he remained a Republican and cast his last ballot for the re-election of Lincoln.

Mr. and Mrs. Wescott continued to live on the farm, with their youngest son and his family. This son's sudden death in 1865 was a great blow to them. Mr. Wescott died four years later at the home of his youngest daughter in Union City, Pa., but his remains were carried back to Harmony for burial in Ebenezer Cemetery. His widow survived seventeen years, spending the time in the homes of her children, and died in that of her son Abram. She also was buried in Ebenezer Cemetery.

855. Lucius Henry[7] Waterman (Eleazer[6], Jabez[5], Eleazer[4], John[3], John[2], Robert[1]), born at Rochester, Mass., 22 Aug. 1819, died at Marion, Mass., 3 Mar. 1854, aged 43-7-9; married at Rochester, 25 Nov.

1846, Lydia C. Morse, born at Rochester, 29 July 1828, died at Marion, Mass., 13 Nov. 1857, aged 28 yrs. 3 mos., daughter of John Norris and Lydia (Look) Morse.

He was a carpenter, and lived in the part of Rochester, Mass., which in 1852 was incorporated as the town of Marion.

John N. Morse of Wareham was appointed guardian, 3 Nov. 1858, of William B., Blanch H., and Lydia M. Waterman, minor children of Lucius H. Waterman, late of Marion, Plymouth County, deceased. Inventory of the estate belonging to his wards (the eldest was here called William Bradford Waterman) was made at Marion, 2 Nov. 1858, real estate, $897.00; personal estate, $170.00. On 7 Nov. 1860, John N. Morse of Rochester, guardian of Blanch H. Waterman and Lydia M. Waterman, minor children of Lydia C. Waterman, late of Marion, deceased, represented that both of these children have removed to the County of Barnstable, and are now residing with a relative and intend to reside there during their minority, and the relative intends to take legal guardianship of them; and upon his petition, he was discharged from his guardianship. [Probate, Plymouth County, 11K-140; 100-421; 102-418.]

John N. Morse of Rochester was appointed Administrator of the estate of Lydia C. Waterman of Marion, deceased, 7 Dec. 1857. Inventory: $1,129.60. [Probate, Plymouth County, 13D-472; 100-20.]

Arza Fish of Falmouth was appointed guardian, 11 Dec. 1860, of Blanch H. Waterman and Lydia M. Waterman, children (under 14 years) of Lydia C. Waterman of Marion, Plymouth County, deceased, the former guardian, John N. Morse, having resigned. An appraisal of their property in 1861 calls them children of Lucius Waterman. [Probate Rec. Barnstable County, Case #4208.]

Children of Lucius Henry and Lydia C. (Morse) Waterman, born at Marion:

i. William Bradford[8], b. 13 Sept. 1847; d. at Augusta, Me., 23 Nov. 1925 ae. 76-2-12, unm. See below.

ii. Blanche H., b. 23 Dec. 1848; m. at Wareham, Mass., 12 July 1871, George O. Tobey, b. at Wareham, abt. 1841, son of Joshua B. and Susannah K. (———) Tobey. Child:

I. George O.[9], d. s. p.

iii. Morse Granville, b. 21 July 1851; d. at Marion, 20 Dec. 1852 ae. 1-4-29.

iv. Lydia Morse, b. 25 Dec. 1852; m. at Boston, Mass., 15 Jan. 1874, Edward E. Remick, of Cambridge, Mass., b. at Augusta, Me., abt. 1850, son of James W. and Caroline L. (———) Remick. She was living at Falmouth at the time of her marriage. Child:

I. Harry B.[9], m. Clare ———. She m. (2) abt. 1923, Robert Alexander Cox, of Newton, Mass. Child:

(1) Barbara Bradford[10], b. 21 July 1915; her mother, Clare Remick, was appointed her guardian, 16 Aug. 1922, and she was adopted by her step-father, 27 Dec. 1923, her name being changed to Barbara Remick Cox.

Note

William Bradford[8] Waterman lived in Augusta, Maine, about 35 years before his death. His will, dated 15 Aug. 1924, left $5,000 apiece to Thomas A. Cooper and Edward B. White, both of Augusta; provided for perpetual care of the Tobey lot in Forest Grove Cemetery, Augusta; gave $15,000 in trust for the benefit of the Abnaki Club at Augusta; residue in trust for the benefit of Susan D. Sewall of Hallowell, Maine, and at her death to provide an Endowment Fund for the George O. Tobey, Jr., Memorial Free Library, of Wareham, Mass. The only heir-at-law named in the petition for administration was a grandnieee, Barbara Bradbury Remick; but papers in the estate show the name to be an error for Barbara Bradford Remick, of Cambridge, Mass., who had been adopted by her step-father and mother under the name of Barbara Remick Cox. 862. Thomas[7] Waterman (Thomas[6], Silas[5], Thomas[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Lebanon, N. H., 14 Sept. 1791, died at Boston, Mass., 27 Feb. 1875, aged 83-5-13; married 12 Jan. 1832, Joanna Towle, born at North Hampton, N. H., 10 Apr. 1803, died at Boston, 22 Apr. 1864, aged 61, daughter of Jonathan D. and Elizabeth (———) Towle.*

He remained at the old homestead until he was 18 years of age, working on the farm and attending village school. He then worked in the store of Peter R. Field at West Lebanon until 1812, and the following year taught in one of the local schools. Soon after, he removed to Hartford, Vt., now White River Junction, where he was employed in the store of Justin and Elias Lyman. In Dec. 1817 he came to Boston, where he was a clerk in the store of Stearns & Danforth, on India Street. In Sept. 1819 he commenced business in Concord, N. H., with Sampson Bullard, under the firm of Bullard & Waterman. Five years later, he relinquished the business to the senior partner and returned to Boston, where he engaged in the West India goods trade until Jan. 1829. The following September, he took the position of discount clerk in the Bank of the United States in Boston, where he remained until the charter expired in 1836, when the affairs of that bank were closed. An agency of the Bank of Pennsylvania having been established in Boston, Samuel Frothingham, Esq., former cashier of the old Bank, was appointed Agent, and made Mr. Waterman his confidential clerk. The agency was discontinued in Apr. 1841, and for a short time he was Mr. Frothingham's clerk

* The mother of Joanna Towle, by her death record, was Elizabeth. But Jonathan D. Towle m. Sarah Lane, b. 17 July 1772, who m. (2) Asa Lane [Joseph Dow: History of Hampton, N. H. (1893), 2-802, 1004; New Eng. Hist. and Gen. Register, 27-178].

in the Sub-Treasury at Boston. In Dec. 1841, the Sub-Treasury having been discontinued, Mr. Waterman was chosen bookkeeper in the Traders' Bank, where he remained until his retirement.

"Mr. Waterman was one of the most honest, conscientious and faithful of men. He had the entire confidence, love and respect of everyone who knew him. He was a gentleman of antiquarian tastes, and collected a valuable library."

He joined the New England Historic Genealogical Society in 1852, and contributed considerable Waterman data to the Register of that Society, of which he was a vice-president in 1858. He was for 53 years a member of the Mt. Lebanon Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons, and for 44 years its secretary. He was connected for 33 years with the St. Andrew's Royal Arch Chapter; associated 57 years with the Boston Royal Council of Select and Royal Masters; and 30 years a member of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Massachusetts. In 1859 Mr. Waterman published biographical sketches of distinguished members of St. Andrew's Royal Arch Chapter, Boston, a second and enlarged edition of which was published in 1866.

[Probate Rec. Orleans County.]

Justus Waterman of Albion in his will dated 7 Oct. 1926 gave all his property to his nephew Walter J. Waterman. The petition of Walter J. Waterman shows that Justus died 28 Feb. 1932, leaving next of kin:

George Waterman	brother	Albion, N. Y.
Frank W. Love	nephew	Buffalo, N. Y.
Berdie Lewis	niece	Buffalo, N. Y.

[citation signed "Mary Edna Lewis, sometimes known as Berdie"]

Maud Roberts	niece	Albion, N. Y.
Florence Wright	niece	Albion, N. Y.
Gertrude Edwards	niece	Franklinville, N. Y.
Walter J. Waterman	nephew	Albion, N. Y.

[Probate Rec. Orleans County, 43-21.]

George M. Waterman of Albion, in his will dated 26 June 1924, gave in trust for his brother Justus Waterman during life, and at death of Justus to Hope Waterman, daughter of Walter, and to Marian Edwards. He gave to William E. Baldwin of Albion, N. Y., in recognition of services to self and wife, and to Gladys Baldwin [afterwards Smith], daughter of William E. He gave to Christ Church, Albion, "in memory of my mother, Mary B. Waterman." He gave to the Arnold Gregory Memorial Hospital "in memory of my wife late deceased," to be known as the Clara M. Waterman fund. Bequests to Marian Lewis of Buffalo and Mrs. Geraldine Stacy of Buffalo [described in petition as daughters of Mrs. George W. Lewis], and to Mrs. Jennie Beals of Alabama, N. Y. A codicil dated 30 Apr. 1931 gave to Virginia Love, wife of Frank W. Love, M.D., of Buffalo, N. Y. The petition states that George M. died 2 Sept. 1932, and names the heirs at law:

Mary Edna Lewis	niece	Buffalo, N. Y.	[widow of George W.]
Frank M. Love, M.D.	nephew	Buffalo, N. Y.

874. SIMEON[7] WATERMAN (Simeon[6], John[5], John[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born 1 Sept. 1775, died at Cooperstown, N. Y., 19 Sept. 1864; married FANNY ———, born 15 Oct. 1775, died at Cooperstown, 29 Mar. 1860.

He is probably the S. Waterman listed at Otsego, N. Y., in the 1810 Census, his family consisting of 1 male and 1 female aged 26 to 45, 1 male 10 to 16, and 2 males under 10.

In the 1820 Census, his family consisted of 1 male and 1 female aged 26 to 45, 2 males 16 to 26, 1 male 10 to 16, and 2 males and 1 female under 10. In the New York State Census of 1825, his family consisted of 2 males (one, doubtless himself, a voter), and 2 females (one unmarried, under 45).

On 10 Sept. 1842, Simeon Waterman of Cooperstown, N. Y., with Fanny his wife, sold for $1200 to Renselaer Waterman of the same, land on south side of Front Street, which Simeon had bought from Joshua Starr, 9 May 1826. Fanny signed with her mark. [Deeds, Otsego County, 71-131.]

The dates of birth and death of Simeon and his wife are found on the family monument in Lakewood Cemetery, Cooperstown, N. Y. The Freeman's Journal, issue of 23 Sept. 1864, notices his death on the 19th inst. aged 89 years, and calls him "the oldest resident, we believe, on the corporation. Mr. Waterman was a native of Connecticut, and came into this part of the country in the year 1800."

Notes

Petition of Mary M. Waterman of Binghamton, 22 Apr. 1901, that Chauncey B. Waterman late of Binghamton died 6 Apr. 1901 leaving a will dated 30 Dec. 1898. Heirs and next of kin:

Mary M. Waterman	widow	res. Binghamton, N. Y.
Harriet Harris	sister	Albany, N. Y.
Francis Marquissee	"	Cooperstown, N. Y.
Rensselaer H. Cory	nephew	St. Paul, Minn.

She states that a Marie Waterman had resided with Chauncey B. and herself for some time. The will mentions Mary Cook, a daughter. [Probate Rec. Broome County, File No. 987.]

Presumably Mary Cook was an adopted relative of Mrs. Waterman.

The will of Mary M. Waterman, dated 18 Aug. 1903, proved 3 Mar. 1905, gave legacies to her daughter Marie Waterman; to her brother William T. Cooke and four of his daughters; and to Mrs. Hattie Hungerford, niece of her late husband. [Wills, Broome County, 36-91.]

* Error for grandson.

The petition in her estate shows that Hattie Hungerford was of Cooperstown, N. Y.; that the brother William T. Cooke lived in Owego, N. Y.; and that Marie Waterman had become Mrs. Leslie and lived in Rochester, N. Y. [Probate Rec. Broome County, File No. 361.]

878. TIMOTHY[7] WATERMAN (Simeon[6], John[5], John[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born (probably at Lebanon), Conn., 18 Sept. 1785,* died at Otsego, N. Y., 21 Oct. 1853; married LUCY TANNER, born at New Lebanon, N. Y., 14 Jan. 1791, died at Otsego, 27 May 1855 in her 65th year (gravestone), daughter of Thomas and Anna (Baldwin) Tanner.

He received 40 acres of the farm adjacent to Otsego Lake, 22 Mar. 1810, by purchase from his father; and with his wife Lucy joined his father in sales of the old homestead, 9 Dec. 1818. On the same day, Timothy and Simeon Waterman purchased Lot #15 in Pierstown, Otsego township. Timothy was the residuary legatee in his father's will, 1819, under which he inherited the realty in 1822. [Deeds, Otsego County, L-457; Z-220, 309; BB-67; Wills, F-83.]

Timothy Waterman of Otsego purchased 7 acres from David Wattles of Otsego, 15 Feb. 1813. [Deeds, Otsego County, S-52.]

Lucy Waterman was admitted to the Baptist Church at Unadilla Forks, Otsego County, 1821, and excommunicated, 2 Oct. 1834 [D. A. R. Library, Washington, D. C.: N. Y. Cemetery Rec. 8-209, 214.]

Timothy Waterman of Otsego bought land in Gainesville, Genesee Co., N. Y., 1840, and with his wife Lucy sold to Hiram Waterman of Belvidere, Ill., the same year. Hiram of Boone County, Ill., sold in 1840. [Deeds, Genesee County, 56-297; 62-40; 61-350.]

On 1 Nov. 1847, Timothy Waterman sold for $1500 to Philander Waterman the undivided half of two lots in Otsego, George Croghan Patent, one being 94 acres off the east end of Lot #11 in Pierstown Settlement, the other 54 acres off the east end of #12. On 5 May 1849, Timothy Waterman of Otsego sold for $1600 to William Waterman of Otsego, the other undivided half of the same lots. Philander, with wife Judith C., of Otsego, sold his half, 21 Mar. 1851, to Timothy. [Deeds, Otsego County, 85-117; 90-197, 549.]

The will of Timothy Waterman of Otsego, dated 14 Oct. 1853, proved 25 Feb. 1854, gave to wife Lucy all household furniture for life, then to five daughters,—Lucy, Mary Ann, Emily, Harriet, and Clarissa; to son William,

* His stated age in Census records would make him born 1782.

two pieces of land, containing respectively 94 acres and 54 acres, which he had from executors of Thomas Fuller dec'd on 1 Nov. 1847, being the whole farm where Timothy now lives; he had already conveyed half to son William, so he will have all, subject however to the support of "my daughter Elvira" during her life; to daughter Lucy Chaffee, $50 within two years of my decease; to daughters Mary Ann and Emily Waterman, $450 each, they to be supported by William as long as they remain single; to daughters Harriet Drake and Clarissa Brainard, $50 each; William to be executor. Witnesses: Horace Lathrop of Cooperstown, Cornelius Van Horn of Otsego. [Wills, Otsego County, 10-15.]

He was doubtless the T. Waterman who was listed at Otsego, in the 1810 Census, as 1 male aged 26 to 45, with 1 female 16 to 26, 1 female 10 to 16, and 1 male under 10. In the 1820 Census, his family consisted of 1 male and 1 female aged over 45 [his parents], 1 male and 1 female 26 to 45 [himself and wife], 1 female 16 to 26, 1 male 10 to 16, and 2 males and 4 females under 10. The New York State Census of 1825 listed Timothy Waterman at Otsego, his family consisting of 4 males (one aged 18 to 45 and a voter, doubtless himself), and 6 females (five of them unmarried females under 45).

In May 1820, Hiram, Harriet, Philander, Ann Eliza, Clarissa, George and Elvira, children of Mrs. Waterman, were baptized at the Presbyterian Church, Cooperstown.

The Freeman's Journal, issue of 21 Oct. 1853, states: "Died—In this town on the 19th inst. Mr. Timothy Waterman in the 69th year of his age. Mr. Waterman had been a resident of Pierstown for most of his life."

Timothy, his wife, and some other members of the family, are buried in Warren Cemetery, near Leather Stocking Falls, Otsego. His own stone when examined in 1938 was fallen and his name missing, but "died Oct. 19" and "ae. 68 yrs." are legible and the footstone is marked "T.W." His wife's stone is fallen but entirely legible.

The petition for administration, dated 15 Dec. 1853, states that Timothy died at Otsego, 21 Oct. 1853, and names the following heirs:

Lucy Waterman, widow	res. Otsego	County
William "	"	"
Elvira "	"	"
Mary Ann "	"	"
Emily "	"	"
Clarissa Brainard, wife of Lewis	"	"

Lucy Chaffee, wife of George		Illinois
George Waterman		"
Hiram "		"
Philander "		"
Oliver Drake Jr.	minor heirs of Harriet Drake dec'd
George Drake

The three elder sons of Timothy Waterman removed to Illinois before his death in 1853. The youngest son, William, remained with him on the homestead. The N. Y. Census of 1855 shows only the following remaining of this family in the Town of Otsego:

	age		yrs. res. in town
William Waterman	29	Farmer	29
Emily "	21	sister	21
Alice "	14	niece	14
George Drake	13	nephew	13

A relative of Oliver Drake who married William Waterman's sister states that William married Anna Warren, removed to the West, and had a daughter.

On 28 Jan. 1856, William Waterman, with wife Anna W., of Otsego, sold for $6,000 to George Waterman of Boone County, Ill., 154 acres, being the farm he lately occupied. William acknowledged 28 Jan. 1856 before a Justice in Boone County, Ill., and he and his wife afterwards acknowledged in Otsego County, 17 May 1856. On 22 July 1856, George Waterman and Phebe his wife of Belvidere, Boone Co., Ill., and William Waterman and Anna W. his wife of Otsego, sold for $7,700 to George McNamee of Otsego, land formerly possessed by Timothy Waterman, deceased, and now occupied by the grantee, together with 10 acres bought by William Waterman of Russell Warren and conveyed by William to George Waterman. [Land Rec. Otsego County, 107-57, 568.]

Tanner Family

Thomas Tanner, son of Thomas and Martha, was born at Cornwall, Conn., 30 June 1743, and married 30 Oct. 1765, Mrs. Anna Baldwin of Goshen. Some of the older children are recorded at Cornwall:

Ira, b. 12 June 1767.
Thomas, b. 7 Apr. 1769.
Isaac, b. 8 Sept. 1773.
Anna, b. 2 Jan. 1777.

Starr's History of Cornwall, p. 515, states that the wife Anna died 30 May 1782; if correct, he had a second wife Anna; but the Tanner Genealogy published in 1893 knows of but one wife, and is probably correct.

The will of Thomas Tanner of Otsego, dated 11 Feb. 1811, proved 24 Feb. 1818, gave to son Thomas his carpenter and joiner tools; to son Zera, $100.00; the remainder in five parts to my four sons Ira, Thomas, Zera and Isaac equally, the fifth part equally among my three daughters, Anna, Sally and Lucy; Ira and Thomas Jr. executors. Witnesses: Armereda Clark, Olive Andrews, Ambrose Clark. [Wills, Otsego County, F-20.]

Thomas Tanner became a member of the Presbyterian Church in Cooperstown, 16 June 1800, and was removed by death Jan. 1818; Anna Tanner became a member, 5 July 1802, and was removed by death, date not stated. A William Tanner died 3 Oct. 1802, aged 20. Simeon Waterman joined the church by baptism, Mar. 1820; Lucy Waterman [his daughter-in-law] became a member at the same time. [Cooperstown Church records.]

The Freeman's Journal, issue of 29 Aug. 1825, notices the death on the 24th inst. of Widow Anna Tanner in her 82d year. The son Thomas Jr. appears to have removed to Genesee County, N. Y., for on 7 Mar. 1836 the same weekly notices the death at Attica, Genesee County, on the 17th ult., of Mrs. Anna Tanner, wife of Capt. Thomas Tanner, "formerly of this Town."*

The Impartial Observer, 1 Apr. 1809, notices the death on the 21st ult. of Mrs. Julia Tanner, wife of Mr. Ira Tanner, "leaving a family of 11 children to deplore her loss." The Cooperstown Federalist, 25 Nov. 1809, furnishes the marriage, on the 16th inst., of Mr. Ira Tanner to Miss Rhoda Hubbart. This Ira, with so large a family in 1809, was born in 1767, and was eldest brother of Lucy (born 1791). The widow Anna who died in 1825 would have been about 47 when Lucy was born.

The small Tanner book adds considerable detail to the above from family sources, but it seems of value to preserve the above items, obtained from the sources quoted, some of which are not in the Tanner book.

878-4-1. (REV.) HENRY BARZILLAI[9] WATERMAN (George[8], Timothy[7], Simeon[6], John[5], John[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Belvidere, Ill., 18 May 1842, died at Oak Park, Chicago, Ill., 14 Jan. 1903; married at Belvidere, Ill., 21 Aug. 1877, AURONETTE M. SHERMAN, daughter of Osman H. and Huldah (Ingersoll) Sherman.

He entered Yale College with the Class of 1862, but left towards the end of Junior year, and joined the Class of 1863, with which he graduated, in its Junior year. For six months after graduation, he served in the 134th Illinois Regt., and spent the winter of 1863-4 in St. Louis as Aide-de-camp to Governor Yates.

In 1864 he commenced the study of law in the old University of Chicago, from which he received the degree of LL.B. the following year. In the Fall of 1865 he entered the Chicago (Congregational) Theological Seminary, but, after a tour in Egypt and the Holy Land, completed his course at Newton (Baptist) Theological Institution, graduating in 1869. In July of that year he was ordained to the ministry in the First Baptist Church, New Haven, after which he was pastor of Baptist churches in Illinois, serving at Moline and Mt. Carroll for a year each, at Wheaton three years, and at Normal from 1883 to 1886. During this period he also continued the study of law in Chicago, and went abroad again in 1872 and a third time in 1878. From 1886 to 1888 his home was in Griggsville, and the next three years in Carthage, Ill. He received the degree of D.D. from LaGrange (Mo.) College in 1890.

In 1890-91 he made a tour around the world, visiting missionary stations. For several summers he lectured at Chautauqua, N. Y., on Palestine, and in 1895 published "A Handbook of the Holy Land." During the last twelve years he resided in Chicago, and was pastor of the Maplewood Avenue Baptist Church from 1897 to the close of his life.

883. DAN[7] WATERMAN (Joseph[6], John[5], John[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Lebanon, Conn., 24 Apr. 1793, died about 1828, married ANNA BURLINGHAM, of Schuyler, N. Y., born between 1790 and 1794. She married second, Orville Gardner of Fulton, N. Y.

He probably followed his older brothers to central New York State. His grandson states that he came from the Mohawk Valley and lived at Sackett's Harbor; that he died early, being killed when his son Chester was only two years old; and that his widow remarried.

Dan Waterman of Brownville, Jefferson Co., N. Y., bought land in Ellisburgh, 7 Dec. 1816; and Anna Waterman of Hounsfield, Jefferson Co., bought land there 25 Sept. 1821. [Deeds, Jefferson County, I-275; D[2]-204.]

v. CHARLES.

Because of the identity of name, and his birth in Otsego County in 1819, where the earlier Western Waterman enlisted in 1812, the record of the second Western Waterman is given here. He could have been son of Western[7] by a former marriage, but his identity is not established.

885-A. WESTERN WATERMAN, born in Otsego County, N. Y., 10 July 1819, died (at Horicon?), N. Y., 9 Feb. 1882; married 20 Jan. 1845, CATHARINE GRANTS, born in Herkimer County, N. Y., 17 Sept. 1823, died 3 Apr. 1907, daughter of John and Lana (———) Grants.

The dates of Western Waterman, his wife and children, are from the family Bible, in possession of his daughter, Mrs. Ida Eva (Waterman) Atkins, of Richfield Springs, N. Y.

The family monument in the cemetery of the Reformed Dutch Church of Columbia, Herkimer Co., N. Y., bears the following inscriptions:

Western Waterman	1819-1882
Catharine his wife	1829-1907
Our Children
Arthur F.	1849-1879
Emma H.	1855-1863
George M.	1856-1863

Others of the family have separate gravestones near-by.

Mrs. Waterman belonged to a Grants family, which now appears sometimes in the form Grant; it was an old Mohawk Dutch name, probably of German origin. Her mother, Mrs. Lana Grants, born about 1801, died 28 Aug. 1881.

Children of Western Waterman state that he had cousins at Frankfort, N. Y., named Rastus Frazier, Steve Frazier, and Mike Frazier, also cousins at Ilion, N. Y., named Walter and Herman Green, whose mother was a Frazier. Western's daughter Mrs. Edwards (born 1850) did not in 1938 recall the name of Western's father, but thought his mother was a Frazier, and that her name was Polly (Mary). She thought Western was born in Connecticut, and that he was an only son and had two sisters. His mother Polly married again and lived at Horicon, Warren Co., N. Y. Western, she states, died at Horicon while visiting (in company with his cousin Rastus Frazier) his mother or Frazier relatives there.

N. Y. Census of 1855, Richfield, Otsego County (taken 18 June 1855, all had resided two months in the town):

Western served in the Civil War in the 76th Regt., N. Y. Vols., and was a pensioner.

The will of Catharine Waterman of Richfield, aged 66, dated 4 Nov. 1899, recorded 13 Nov. 1907, named sons John W. Waterman, Baker W. Waterman, Wallace G. Waterman, daughters Ellen J. Edwards, Elizabeth A. Adams, Ida E. Waterman, Izetta M. Chadden, and granddaughter Flora E. Flagg. [Wills, Otsego County, 60-79.]

887-7. (HON.) ROBERT WHITNEY[8] WATERMAN (John Dean[7], Gladding[6], William[5], John[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Fairfield, N. Y., 15 Dec. 1826, died at San Diego, Calif., 12 Apr. 1891; married at Belvidere, Ill., 29 Sept. 1847, JANE GARDNER, born at Stanstead, Lower Canada, 8 Nov. 1829, died at Barstow, Calif., 12 Apr. 1914, daughter of Cephas and Pamelia (Bodwell) Gardner.

His father died in 1837, and a year or two later he went West to join two older brothers who were located in mercantile business in Newburg, Ill. At fifteen, he was employed as a clerk in a general merchandise store, with Alexander Neely, in Belvidere, Ill., and in 1846 commenced business on his own account in that town. He was Postmaster at Geneva, Ill., 1849-50. In the 1850 Census he was listed as a merchant in Belvidere Village, with wife and two children, but soon after he crossed the plains to California, and engaged in mining.

In 1852 he came back to Illinois and settled in Wilmington, where he published the Independent 1852-60. He was a member of the convention that met at Bloomington, Ill., when the Republican Party was organized.. He took part in the Fremont and Dayton campaign, 1856; and was an earnest and devoted supporter of Lincoln.

He moved to California in 1873, and in 1874 bought a ranch near San Bernardino. In 1880 he discovered and developed a silver mine on the Mohave Desert near Barstow, San Bernardino County. About 1886 he purchased and developed the Stonewall (gold) Mine in San Diego County. He acquired a large fortune; and was one of the builders and later president of the San Diego, Cuyamaca & Eastern Railway. He was elected Lieut.-Governor of California, 1886, on the Republican ticket, and upon the death of Gov. Washington Bartlett, 12 Sept. 1887, became acting Governor, his term to expire in 1891. He died in the last-named year.

On 26 Nov. 1826, Eliza, Ralph, Sarah, Emeline, and Cornelia, children of Henry and Sarah Waterman, were baptized at the Presbyterian Church, Salisbury, N. Y.; and their children Nancy and Frances were baptized there by Mr. Goodrich, 13 Mar. 1831.

He settled in Newport, N. Y., where he and Ralph were lawyers, 1815-17. Henry was Supervisor of Newport, 1830, and a merchant there 1844.

In his lot in the cemetery at Newport are stones to himself and wife Sarah, with their dates of birth and death; also a stone to his sister Mary A. Holbrook, and the following:

Eliza, b. 4 Jan. 1818, d. 9 July 1844.
H. Ralph, b. 11 Oct. 1819, d. 1 Aug. 1869.
Sarah, b. 25 Oct. 1821, d. 30 May 1848.
Frances, b. 12 Dec. 1825, d. 10 Sept. 1903.
Anna Waterman Woodin, 1859-1916.

His will, dated 26 Oct. 1869, named his daughter Frances Waterman; to daughter Abby, wife of Watford L. Watson, of St. Paul, Minn., property there on which she resides, and $800 yearly; to George and Frederick S. Kretsinger, grandsons, and Maria Adele Kretsinger, granddaughter, of deceased sister, Catharine Kretsinger; to niece Charlotte Ann McCumber, daughter of deceased sister, Nancy Livingston, $2000 "in consideration of her past kindness to and her continuing care in the rearing and education of the children of her sister Catherine now deceased"; to Mary, daughter of deceased brother William, by marriage Mary Sepple wife of Peter Sepple; to Elizabeth and Frederika Chatfield, daughters of Clinton Chatfield; to daughter Frances Waterman, $2000 for the rearing of Anna Crogan, should she continue to reside in the family and adopt the name of Anna Waterman; to Janette Waterman, Catherine Waterman, Ida Waterman, and Elva Waterman, children of nephew Harvey Waterman (as he is most commonly called); to brother George Waterman, $50 annually, subject to a condition; residue of estate to daughters Frances Waterman and Cornelia Burlingame, executrices. [Surrogate's Rec. Herkimer County, T-111.]

The petition of Frances Waterman and Cornelia Burlingame of Newport, only heirs at law, states that Henry died 13 July 1878. Report to Surrogate dated 4 Aug. 1879 of payment of legacies states that the daughter Abby died soon after her father. The following received legacies:

George Kretsinger, Cook Co., Ill.
Frederick Kretsinger, Lee Co., Iowa.
Maria Adele Kretsinger, Lee Co., Iowa.
Charlotte Ann Macomber, Herkimer Co.
Mary Sippell, Oneida Co., N. Y.

Elva Waterman, now Elva Pomeroy, Herkimer Co.
George W. Waterman, Herkimer Co., in lieu of legacy, a bond of James H. Waterman for a certain amount yearly during his life-time.

The will of Frances Waterman, dated 19 Jan. 1903, gave to James Harvey Waterman a note for $500; to Gladding Waterman, his indebtedness to me; to Bessie and Marjorie Burnham, children of W. C. Burnham; to Ray Ferguson, $200; Ida W. Fenner, daughter of James Harvey Waterman; to Mary Waterman West; to Anna Waterman, for her life-long devotion, care and faithfulness, all property belonging to the "Henry Waterman Homestead," land known as the "Burlingame Homestead," also the "Kane Farm," to go after her death to heirs of William H. Kretsinger dec'd. Executors, Anna Waterman, Frederick S. Kretsinger, and John W. Fitzgerald. A codicil, 26 Aug. 1903, provided for employees. [Wills, Herkimer County, 27-698.]

The petition of John W. Fitzgerald of Little Falls states that Frances Waterman died at Newport, 10 Sept. 1903, leaving no husband, children, brothers or sisters, aunts or uncles, and the following, her only heirs and next of kin:

[The heirs are on the Waterman side down to Elizabeth Chatfield, who begins the heirs on the maternal side. Mary Waterman West, named in the will, was not a relative, and appears to have been Mary Crogan, sister of Anna. Anna Crogan, now 45, lived in the Henry Waterman family from childhood, took the Waterman name under Henry's will, lived with his daughter Mrs. Burlingame, and then with Frances. Papers in the estate call Frances "Mrs. Frances Waterman" and indicate that she married a Dr. Perkins who told her she would keep him or the girl (meaning Anna), and she kept the girl and got a divorce. Anna married a Woodin by 1914. A Walter H. Ward is mentioned as brother of Frances Waterman's step-mother, Harry's last wife.]

911. Darius Chester[7] Waterman (Chester[6], ?Darius[5], John[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born 18 Feb. 1785, died ; married Mary [Polly] Mead, born in Vermont, 16 Sept. 1792, died at Buffalo, Erie Co., N. Y., 9 May 1867, aged 74 [Newspapers, Buffalo Hist. Soc.], daughter of Israel and Lydia (Cutler) Mead.

His father lived in Middlesex, Ontario Co., N. Y., in 1820. The children of Darius Chester (except perhaps the last two) were born in Ontario County, and the family settled in Buffalo, Erie County, not long after 1830, as indicated by the N. Y. Census of 1855. Polly, widow of Darius C., first appeared in Buffalo City Directories in 1837, and her name continued through 1866.

Darius C. Waterman and Polly his wife, late of Naples, Ontario Co., N. Y., sold 7 Aug. 1813 to Thomas Beals of Canandaigua, Ontario Co., land in township no. 7, 4th range, willed to Polly by her late father, Israel Mead; Maria Waterman made affidavit that she knew the grantors. Darius C. and his wife Polly of Canandaigua, Ontario Co., N. Y., made several purchases and sales, 1813-15. [Deeds, Ontario County, 23-568, 572, 574; 24-1, 38, 39; 131-429.]

Mary Mead's parents were Israel Mead, a Revolutionary soldier, and Lydia daughter of David Cutler, Jr., who were married at Hubbardston, Mass., 7 Aug. 1770. Israel died at Naples, Ontario County, N. Y., in 1805. Lydia was born 25 May 1752, married second, in 1806 or 1807, Josiah Hall of Hall's Mills, Onondaga County, N. Y., and died 8 Sept. 1847. She was a pensioner, and one of her surviving children was Mary wife of Darius Chester Waterman.

The City Directory of Buffalo, Erie Co., N. Y., 1847-48, contains Mrs. P. Waterman, and Chester J. Waterman.

Census of 1855, Buffalo, 8th Ward, Erie Co., N. Y.:

	age	born		yrs. res. in town
Mrs. P. Waterman	62	Vermont	widow	25	washerwoman

Darius M. [sic] Waterman of Buffalo, on 9 Feb. 1843, bought from Samuel Wilkeson, Jr., and Catherine his wife, the west quarter of lot 55 in blocks 2 and 12, beginning at a point in the north line of 5th Street 100 feet from

Georgia Street; and on 26 June 1843, Darius W. Waterman and Elizabeth his wife sold the same property to Polly Waterman, widow, Mary Ann Waterman, Mercy Waterman, Polly Waterman the younger, and Melissa B. Waterman, all of Buffalo, to be held by Polly Waterman the widow during life, and then to the others. On 1 Aug. 1848, John H. Abbott and Mercy his wife of Buffalo, the said Mercy before marriage being Mercy Waterman daughter of Polly widow of Darius C. Waterman, quitclaimed their interest to her sister Polly Waterman, Jr. On 12 Sept. 1851, Mary Ann Clark and Edward Clark her husband, Mercy Waterman Abbott and John H. Abbott her husband, Polly Waterman Hathaway and James W. Hathaway her husband, and Melissa B. Waterman Andrews and David B. Andrews her husband, all of Buffalo, sold the same property to C. John Waterman and Maria T. Waterman his wife; and on 23 July 1853, Melissa B. Andrews confirmed this deed which she signed when under 21. Chester J. Waterman and his wife, 23 July 1853, conveyed to Hiram C. Day, who the same day conveyed back to Maria T. Waterman wife of Chester J. Waterman. [Deeds, Erie County, 69-354; 70-122; 100-100; 147-335; 137-193, 194.]

On 24 Nov. 1851, David B. Andrews and Melissa B. his wife of Buffalo conveyed to Polly widow of Darius Waterman, the west half of subdivision lot 57 of blocks 2 and 12, on 5th Street; and on 7 Aug. 1852, the said Polly Waterman conveyed the same to Darius W. Waterman in trust, for the support of Melissa B. Andrews separate from the control of her husband, David B. Andrews, and at her death the title to vest in her lawful heirs. [ib., 127-61; 130-329.]

Members of the family had a number of other land transactions, some in the village of Black Rock. The son Chester J. appears under that name and also as Charles J. and C. John.

Darius W. Waterman, a ship-joiner, was first listed in the Buffalo City Directories in 1838, and his name appears as late as 1875.

Henry Swartz, late of Buffalo deceased, died in Medina County, Ohio, 26 Mar. 1838, having gone there to visit some members of his family. He left no will; his wife died some years ago. Petition of his son John that he and his brother Abraham S. Swartz be appointed administrators, dated 26 Apr. 1838. Darius W. Waterman was appointed guardian of Susan Swartz. In the proceedings in the Surrogate's Court, 30 May 1846, it was stated that Henry Swartz had eight children; "Darius W. Waterman and his wife, she was one of the children of the aforesaid Henry Swartz," etc. [Probate Rec. Erie County.]

Darius W. Waterman of Buffalo, N. Y., bought from Joseph Swartz of Buffalo, 27 Dec. 1838. Darius W. Waterman and Elizabeth his wife sold to Joseph Swartz, the same property, 9 May 1840, and the same date Darius W. bought from him an undivided eighth interest in land on the west side of Franklin Street, and another eighth part from Jacob Swartz of Buffalo and Harriet N. his wife. On 20 June 1842, Elizabeth wife of Darius W. Waterman bought another eighth from Chandler L. Tucker of Buffalo and Susan his wife, and on 27 June 1842 she bought another eighth from George W.

Swartz of Buffalo and Anna Margaret his wife. On 14 July 1842, Darius W. Waterman bought from Chandler L. Tucker and Susan his wife, a daughter and heir of Henry Swarz, all her interest in her father's estate. George W. Swartz, son and one of the heirs of Henry Swarz, assigned all his interest in the estate, 27 June 1842, to Darius W. Waterman. [Deeds, Erie County, 53-196; 60-209, 210, 211; 66-445, 446; 68-17, 19.]

Darius W. and his wife were very active in realty dealings in Buffalo, and his name appears in the index of deeds at least until 1870.

915. Titus[7] Waterman (William[6], Darius[5], John[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at North Haven, Conn., 16 Sept. 1799, died 17 Jan. 1868; married first, about 1822, Lucretia Comstock, born about 1804, died at North Haven, Conn., 24 Feb. 1823, aged 18 [reported in Connecticut Herald, issue of 1 Mar. 1823], daughter of Ebenezer Comstock of Montville, Conn.; married second at North Haven, 15 June 1823, his cousin, Caroline Thorpe Blakeslee, born at North Haven, 25 Feb. 1806, died 20 Mar. 1877, daughter of Seth and Naomi (Thorpe) Blakeslee.

In 1823 Titus and Caroline moved to Pennsylvania, traveling by ox team the entire distance, which took about a month. They brought what household goods they could carry in one wagon, and rolled up a log house on their place near what is now Rushville.

Caroline was considered "the best read woman in the community," and was called "Aunt Caroline," by most of her friends in her old age. She was consulted by most of the prominent men of the community on various subjects, who seemed to enjoy conversing with her. She often referred to the Bible by chapter and verse, and then quoted the verse, to sustain her point.

Census of 1830, Pike, Bradford County, Pa.: Titus Waterman, 1 male 30 to 40, 1 male and 1 female 20 to 30, 1 male 5 to 10, 1 male under 5.

(Charles Waterman, ae. 18, b. in Conn., was also listed with a family of Thayers and Wrights in Middletown; and John Waterman, ae. 13, b. in Conn., was also listed in the family of Elias N. Newton in Middletown.)

Henry Waterman of Middletown, for $600.00, bought on 27 Dec. 1843 from Nathaniel Bacon land in Middletown North Society at the Nooks, with a dwelling house. He bought from Olive Ingram, 14 Feb. 1846, giving a mortgage back; and on 7 Apr. 1851 received a conveyance from Edmund Sage and gave a mortgage to Alfred Southmayd. [Land Rec. Middletown, 72-375; 75-300, 301; 80-240; 81-400.]

Cromwell, formerly the North Parish in Middletown, became a separate town in 1851. Henry Waterman and some members of his family had a number of land transactions recorded there. Several of these transactions were with Edmund Sage, who was of Cromwell in 1853 and 1858 and of Newark, N. J., in 1866. Henry Waterman of Cromwell mortgaged his homestead to George Waterman of Saybrook in 1867, and received a release the following year. Bulkeley Edwards of Cromwell, administrator of the estate of Henry Waterman of Cromwell, deceased, sold real estate to Elisha T. Sage, by order of the Probate Court dated 24 Dec. 1885. [Land Rec. Cromwell, 1-86, 543; 2-161, 208, 489; 5-27, 258, 260, 466, 467, 543, 546; 7-74, 161; 8-132; 12-274.]

George Waterman of Saybrook received a quitclaim deed from Samuel H. Colt of Chester, Conn., 9 Jan. 1861, and bought 30 June 1864 from Hiram

Willmot of Saybrook. George Waterman of Saybrook sold to Henry Waterman of Cromwell, Conn., 12 Feb. 1866, and received back a quitclaim from him, 27 Aug. 1866. On 5 Aug. 1869, George Waterman of Hadlyme, Conn., sold to George E. Bailey of Deep River, Conn. [Land Rec. Chester, 5-278, 546; 6-441, 526; 8-126.]

It is believed that the 1850 Census errs in stating his birth-place as Ireland. The man whose name appears directly above his, belonging to a different household, was born in Ireland, and that is dittoed for Charles Waterman. But in the 1860 Census his birthplace was stated as Connecticut.

His daughter-in-law writes: "He lived and was in business in Meriden, a patentee and manufacturer of small novelties, later going to New York, was in the lamp and oil business. . . . . His wife Mary Rice was born in Wallingford, Ct. There were seven grown children."

He had numerous deeds in Meriden, but on 1 June 1861 was of Norwalk, Conn. [Land Rec. Meriden, 21-249.] Justus Rice of Meriden in 1857 conveyed to Mary D. wife of Charles Waterman. [ib., 18-431.]

924. Murray[7] Waterman (Anson[6], Ezekiel[5], Ebenezer[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Addison, Vt., 12 Jan. 1796, died at Clyde, N. Y., 22 Feb. 1875, aged 79-1-10 (gravestone); married at Addison, Vt., 19 Dec. 1816, Fanny A. Dudley, born at Guilford, Conn., 30 Aug. 1796, died at Wolcott, N. Y., 16 Sept. 1870, daughter of Darling and Artemisia (Stannard) Dudley.

His mother's sister, Anna Murray, became the wife of Stephen Joiner who in the Spring of 1811 came from Vermont to Wolcott, Wayne Co., N. Y., and settled on Port Bay Street. Murray Waterman came to Wolcott as a young unmarried man, probably because his aunt lived there. Fanny A. Dudley was elder sister of Horace Dudley of Wolcott, and moved in 1810 with her parents to Addison, Vt.

After marriage, the Watermans made their home on a small place, a part of the Elisha Plank tract on East Port Bay Street at its intersection with a crossroad extending eastward through the old William S. Thacker farm now owned (1936) by Bert Novee. Their first home was the customary log house, and the well that was dug near it for their convenience is still doing duty after a lapse of more than a century. The original water-drawing device was the old-time well sweep. At a later date, the family moved to a frame house on the same side of the street ten or more rods to the north which had been built by a shoemaker, Otis Reed; it burned a few years ago.

For many years Mr. Waterman was "handy man" for the old Furnace Company at Furnace Village. He could do almost anything and do it well, and insisted on doing it that way. One day while setting posts for a horizontal board fence, and sighting along the posts to see if they were in line, he was reproved by a neighbor,—"Murray, why don't you slap it up, what is the use of spending so much time squinting?" Mr. Waterman, not the least perturbed, replied,—"Mr. Arne, I want you to understand that I get paid for doing this work well." He died at the home of his daughter Charlotte.

On 1 Jan. 1822, Murray Waterman of Wolcott, Seneca Co., N. Y. [Wayne County was set off from Ontario and Seneca Counties, 11 Apr. 1823], bought for $155.25 from Andrew McNab of Geneva, Ontario Co., N. Y., and Joseph Fellows of the same by McNab his attorney, land in Williamson Patent in Wolcott containing 17¼ acres. He bought adjacent land, 20 Apr. 1827, from Levi Hendrick and Cornelia his wife, Isaac Leavenworth and Ann his wife, and Elisha L. Leavenworth, all of Wolcott. Murray sold land in Wolcott, with his wife Fanny A., 26 Apr. 1869. [Deeds, Wayne County, 4-62; 29-393; 99-435.]

Murray Waterman's stone is standing (1940) in the cemetery at Wolcott, N. Y.; the next stone is gone except for the foundation.

Asaph Waterman died in the Village of Lyons, 4 Feb. 1901, aged 83 years intestate. Petition for administration dated 8 Feb. 1901 by his widow Marilla S. Waterman. Surviving next of kin: Charles M. Waterman, a son, aged 56, of Savannah, N. Y.; Kate P. Carver, a daughter, aged 46, of Lyons; and Sarah D. Waterman, a daughter, aged 14, of Lyons. Administration was granted to the widow and son. [Probate, Wayne County, A-338.]

On 8 Mar. 1901, the mother Marilla S. Waterman was appointed guardian to Sarah D., a minor aged 14 on 16 Nov. 1900, entitled to a farm of 148 acres in Lyons. Marilla S. Brooks, formerly Waterman, was about to leave the State, 11 Sept. 1903. Arrangements were made to educate Sarah D. at Cazenovia Seminary. On 26 June 1906 said infant eloped and was married at Village of Newark to Marsh Wright, aged barely 20, employed at that time in a blacksmith shop at Lyons. She became 21 on 16 Nov. 1907. 934. ELEAZER[7] WATERMAN (Calvin[6], Ebenezer[5], Ebenezer[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Pittsfield, Mass., about 1792, died at Delta, Eaton Co., Mich., 7 Oct. 1856, while visiting his son James; married at Van Buren, N. Y., 30 June 1816, CHLOE PECK, born at Pompey, N. Y., 11 June 1799, died at Van Buren, N. Y., in 1882, daughter of Enos and Lavina (Wilcox) Peck.

His wife and son Almon P. are buried in Warners Cemetery, Van Buren, N. Y.; the monument states that he was buried in Michigan. In the 1850 Census, Lavina Olcott, aged 80, born in Conn., was listed in his household, presumably his wife's mother under a second married name.

Petition for administration, 16 Feb. 1857, by Chloe Waterman of Van Buren, widow of Eleazer Waterman who died 7 Oct. 1856, late of town of Van Buren. He left his widow, and the following children: Almon P. Waterman, Caroline wife of Jacob Lamerson, Asa D. Waterman, and Mary wife of Asa Peck, all of Van Buren, and James Waterman, of Delta, Eaton Co., Mich.; and grandchildren, Ezra and Ida Ellen Waterman, children of Horace K. Waterman, of said Delta. She requested that Asa D. Waterman and Nathaniel Cornell be co-administrators with her, which was granted. [Miscellaneous papers on file; Books B-276, C-451, D-120, Onondaga County Surrogate's Office.]

Pension Files, War of 1812, W. O. 32457, W. C. 19076. Elezer Waterman, Capt. Tupper's Co., New York Militia. Application for pension, Onondaga County, N. Y., by his widow, June 1878. Chloe Waterman, of Van Buren, N. Y., aged 79 years; deposed that Elezer was a fifer in Col. T. M. Woods' Regt.; he enlisted at Camillus, N. Y., 18 Oct. 1814, for 6 months, and was honorably discharged 18 Nov. 1814, after one month's service. At enlistment he was about 19 years of age, with brown hair, blue eyes, and light complexion. She was married to Elezer 30 June 1816, at Van Buren, N. Y., by Isaac Earll, J. P.; she was then Chloe Peck, and neither had been previously married. Elezer died 7 Oct. 1856, at Delta, Eaton County, Mich. He received a Bounty Land Warrant in 1855 for 160 acres.—Charles Slocum, aged 62, and Leroy Farnham, aged 57, both of Delta, testified to the death and burial of Elezer; their post-office address was Lansing, Ingham County.—Hezekiah R. Dow, aged 68, and Cyrus H. Kingsley, aged 88, had known Chloe for 50 and 64 years, respectively.—Asa D. Waterman and Caroline Lamerson, formerly Waterman, son and daughter of Chloe, testified in her behalf.

A codicil, 9 Apr. 1889, changed the bequest to Menands Mission to $3,000.00 towards a parsonage if they raise the same amount; if not, to Board of Education of Presbyterian Church in U. S. A. [Wills, Albany County, 36-495.]

CHARLES F. WATERMAN

(From the Albany Times, Thursday evening, May 30, 1889.)

The news of the death yesterday of Charles F. Waterman, although anticipated for some weeks, came with inexpressible sadness to all who knew that most estimable young man. He was the second son of Jeremiah Waterman, and lived with his father at Menands, his delicate health for years preventing him from engaging in any regular business. He was born in Albany in 1854. He was educated at the Albany Academy, but before graduation was compelled to leave school on account of weak lungs. With a brave and hopeful spirit he sought a restoration of health in Europe and later in Colorado. More than once he was near to death's door, and his rallies were sometimes a matter of astonishment even to his physicians. The seat of disease was the heart. He was out for the last time to vote at the Watervliet town election in April. Since then he has been very low, at times giving slight promise of being better, but for the last few days, during which he suffered terribly, all hope has been abandoned, and death came as a relief.

The character of Mr. Waterman was as rare as it was beautiful. He embodied the tenderness, sympathy and quick intuitions of a woman, with the force, enterprise and persistency of a man. Thwarted by ill health in his wish to become a regular minister of the gospel, he went about doing good in his own way as he had opportunity. A more devoted or more spiritual-minded Christian never served the Master. For the past few years the Menands mission was the great object of his labors. It was very largely through his instrumentality that the Presbyterian church of stone, just completed and not yet dedicated, was erected. It was the pet project of his life. He not only gave freely of his own substance, but he sought by every means in his power to interest others, especially those who live near by, and who by contributing as they could afford, would be led to feel that the church was theirs. He also solicited funds from his friends in this city and elsewhere, and increased the amount finally given to nearly double what was at first proposed. Largely through him, also, steps were taken to form a church organization which will come into existence next month. In all this work, to which he devoted more strength than he had to spare, his modesty, his deference to the opinions of others, his eagerness to keep himself in the background, were most noticeable and most lovable.

Now, just as the beautiful chapel has received its finishing touches, and just before the church organization has been perfected, when success was to crown his months and years of effort, and all that he had longed for was to become an established fact, the summons comes and he has been called to his eternal rest. To those to whom it has not been given to know the unutterable joys laid up for the redeemed, it seems as though the other world itself could have had no greater happiness than would have come to him on earth had he lived to see his plans fulfilled; but with him it is well. No person who knew Charles Waterman doubts for a moment that he is among the glorified saints in Heaven.

The funeral will take place on Saturday at 3 p.m., and very appropriately from the chapel, it being the first exercises held within its walls. The building committee meet this evening to take action on his death. At a meeting of the Mission held in the schoolhouse last evening it was resolved, instead of the usual floral tributes, to place a tablet or perhaps a memorial window in the chapel.

Mr. Waterman was a member of the Third (Clinton Square) Presbyterian Church in this city. He was an active member of the Young Men's Christian Association, and aided largely in obtaining the ground for Jermain Hall.

"Samuel Waterman was the sixth in descent from Thomas Waterman, one of the original proprietors of Norwich, Conn., and seventh from Robert Waterman who came from England in 1635 and settled in Mansfield [sic, read Marshfield], Mass." The statement of generation sequence is correct. His wife's mother "was descended from Cornelius Cornelisson Bogart who came from Schoondonk, Holland, to Renselerwyck in 1641."

"Mrs. Waterman was a descendant of Hendrick Gerrette Van Wie, one of the first settlers of Albany, who came from Amsterdam, Holland, 1653. She was one of the little band that gathered the first Sabbath School in Albany in 1816 in a storehouse, corner of State and Green St." [Manuscript history of C. C. P. Waterman.] The Semicentennial anniversary of the Middle Dutch Sabbath School took place 1 Apr. 1866; "of the teachers in 1816, the only one surviving is Mrs. Sarah Waterman, then Miss Sarah Van Wie." [Munsell's Collections of History of Albany, 3-302.]

Administration on the estate of Samuel Waterman of Albany was granted, 15 Feb. 1826, to his widow Sarah and to Lambert Norton. [Administrations, Albany County, 5-67.]

962. Sally[7] Waterman (David Basset[6], Flavius[5], Ebenezer[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Franklin, Delaware Co., N. Y., 24 July 1797, died at Salt Lake City, Utah, 2 Jan. 1874; married at Smyrna, Chenango Co., N. Y., 28 Apr. 1815, William Wines Phelps, born at Dover, N. J., 7 Feb. 1792, died at Salt Lake City, Utah, 6 or 7 Mar. 1872, son of Enon and Mehitabel (Goldsmith) Phelps.

In 1800 Mr. Phelps removed with his father's family from Dover, N. J., to Homer, Cortland Co., N. Y. When quite young he removed to Ohio, but soon returned to Homer, where he started a paper called the Lake Light. From there he removed to Canandaigua, Ontario Co., N. Y., where he published a paper opposed to Masonry, called the Ontario Phoenix. While he resided here the "Book of Mormon" came before the world. He abandoned his paper, removed with his family to Ohio, and joined the Latter-Day Saints. He went to Missouri with the first Mormon missionaries. In the Fall he returned for his family, purchased a printing press in Cincinnati, and removed with his family to Independence, Jackson Co., Mich. In the Fall of 1833 he went with his co-religionists to Colville Co., Mo., and thence to Hancock, Ill., and finally to Salt Lake City. There he was a prominent man, and for many years held the position of Judge. His widow and several children survived. His widow wrote the following letter to Mr. O. S. Phelps shortly after his death:

Salt Lake City, 18 Mar., 1872,

Dear Friend: I received your kind letter and was glad to hear from you. I have to inform you that Mr. Phelps died the sixth day of March, and will have a part in the first resurrection of Saints and Apostles.

Through all his fightings and doings he has died at a good old age. Peace to his memory. His works will follow him. He is with Joseph and Hiram, the Blessed Martyrs, who died for the Testimony of Jesus, who believed in Revelation and Resurrection literally fulfilled. . . . .

Jesus and his Apostles were thought not fit to live on the Earth, and were slain for their religion, but we fear not what man can do unto us knowing that God is on our side. Should like you to come to Salt Lake City and see and hear for yourself. Should like to hear from you often. Accept my best wishes and may Peace attend you and yours, I remain your friend and well-wisher. Sally Phelps.

963. Flavius[7] Waterman (David Basset[6], Flavius[5], Ebenezer[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born in Chenango Co., N. Y., 5 Aug. 1800, died about 1854; married at Wooster, Ohio, 2 Apr. 1820, Mary (or Polly) Walker, born in Ohio about 1802.

He was called of Wooster, Ohio, in the record of his marriage; and the same year, the 1820 Census lists him at Wooster, the family being comprised of 1 male aged 26 to 45, and 1 male and 1 female aged 16 to 26.

On 9 Apr. 1822, Flavius Waterman of Homer township, Athens County, Ohio, bought land in Wooster from Shepard Collins and his wife Eunice of Wooster; deed witnessed by John R. Collins. [Land Rec. Washington County, 17-494.]

In the 1840 Census, Flavius was listed at Pennsville, Penn township, Morgan County, Ohio, his family being 1 male, 40 to 50; 1 female, 30 to 40; 3 males, 20 to 30; 1 female, 15 to 20; 1 female, 10 to 15; 1 female, 5 to 10; and 2 males and 1 female under 10.

The 1850 Census provides the following record, Windsor, Morgan County, Ohio:

Children of Flavius and Mary (Walker) Waterman, born in Ohio:*

i. DAVID[6], b. abt. 1822; apparently m. before 1850, ABIGAIL ———, b. abt. 1823.

ii. ISABEL, b. abt. 1829.

iii. MILES, b. abt. 1832; m. HANNAH ———, b. in Ohio, abt. 1832. Children, b. in Ohio:

I. William H.[9], b. 1852.

II. Ella M., b. 1854.

III. Rufus, b. 1858.

iv. HIRAM, b. abt. 1834.

v. ADELINE, b. abt. 1836.

vi. NEAL, b. abt. 1839. Probably he was the Neil W. Waterman who m. in Washington Co., Ohio, 28 Oct. 1874, Phebe Green, and had a daughter:

I. Tinnie[9], b. 9 Aug. 1875.

vii. HENRY, b. abt. 1841.

966. CALVINA[7] WATERMAN (David Basset[6], Flavius[5], Ebenezer[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Franklin, Delaware Co., N. Y., 1 Mar. 1810, died at Triumph, LaSalle Co., Ill., 25 Sept. 1885; married at Marietta, Ohio, 20 May 1830, ABNER DURFEE WESTGATE, born in Rhode Island, 16 Feb. 1799, died at Triumph, Ill., 25 Sept. 1885.

Mr. Westgate was a brick mason and farmer.

There is considerable doubt about Mrs. Westgate's name. In the family record found in Salt Lake Temple Records, it is Calvina, born 1 Mar. 1810, died about 1890. She was baptized at Franklin, 2 June 1810, her name being copied as Lavina. Her name is printed in the Jennings Genealogy as Catrina, which is believed to be due to a misreading of the unusual name Calvina; there was no reason for a name of Dutch form in this Waterman family. The Jennings book gives the birth of Catrina in New York, 10 Mar. 1810, very close to the date entered for Calvina. Except for Calvina, no Waterman girl is known who was born in New York in 1810, available for marriage in Marietta, Ohio, in 1830, and who would name a son David Waterman. Calvina's father, David B. Waterman, died at Watertown, near Marietta, in 1819.

Children of Abner Durfee and Calvina (Waterman) Westgate:

i. EMMA[8], b. 14 Feb. 1831; d. at Marietta, Ohio, 1 May 1833.

ii. WALTER S., b. 23 Sept. 1832; d. at Marietta, Ohio, 1 May 1833.

iii. THOMAS HENRY, b. 20 Mar. 1834; d. at Triumph, Ill., 10 Jan. 1868.

* David is placed hypothetically, but with some assurance, because he was living in the same township with Flavius in 1850, and as eldest son was named for the father of Flavius. There may have been other children before Isabel, perhaps a daughter (d. before 1850) who m. Aaron Matson and had a child Alice A., both living with Flavius Waterman in 1850.

iv. Joseph Lorenzo, b. at Hennepin, Ill., 17 Dec. 1835; a brick mason; m. in Iroquois Co., Ill., 12 May 1874, Alice Flemming, b. 6 Feb. 1845; one child.

v. Charlotte M., b. 19 Aug. 1837; d. at Triumph, Ill., 16 Sept. 1852.

vi. David Waterman, b. at Triumph, Ill., 10 Aug. 1839; res. Syracuse, Ill.; m. at Quincy, Ill., 22 June 1862, Martha Ann Gibbs, b. near Quincy, Ill., 29 May 1842; nine children.

vii. George Washington, b. 16 Apr. 1841; a farmer and shipper, res. Missouri; m. at Joliet, Ill., 20 Sept. 1866, Janet Cochrane, b. Sept. 1848; eight children.

viii. Rhoda E., b. 23 Mar. 1845; d. 12 Apr. 1845.

ix. Ada, b. 23 Dec. 1846; d. 23 July 1849.

x. Emily Adelia, b. 10 Sept. 1851; res. Kewanee, Ill.; m. at Triumph, Ill., in 1871, John Weddle, b. in Canada; four children.

982. ROSWELL[7] WATERMAN (David[6], Adonijah[5], Ebenezer[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Richfield, Otsego County, N. Y., 2 Apr. 1817, died at Ann Arbor, Mich., 17 Feb. 1903; married first, in 1837, ELSIE ROSE, born in 1819, died 6 Feb. 1838, daughter of Lester Rose; married second, 22 Feb. 1842, SOPHRONIA MARIA NOBLE, born at Syracuse, N. Y., 13 Sept. 1820, died at Ann Arbor, Mich., 26 Mar. 1911, daughter of Sylvester Drake and Pamela Ann (Wood) Noble.

Born on a farm outside the town of Richfield, Otsego Co., N. Y., he accompanied his parents to Detroit, Mich., and about 1838 moved onto a farm at Bronson, Branch Co., Mich. Here, it is recorded, much "stumping" was necessary. This was accomplished by blasting and twisting the tree trunks with a team hitched to a pole and chain.

From 1847 to 1874 he and his brother David conducted a dry goods store in Ann Arbor, Mich. Later, his health failing, he bought a farm in Pittsfield, near Ann Arbor. He was a successful merchant and farmer, who had the knack of making everything pay. He was a Methodist.

Sophronia M. Noble's father after 1815 lived successively in Otisco, Salina, Hastings, and Syracuse, N. Y., and moved in 1835 to Ann Arbor, Mich., where he lived the rest of his life.

982-2. Noble Roswell[8] Waterman (Roswell[7], David[6], Adonijah[5], Ebenezer[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at (Ann Arbor?), Mich., 26 Feb. 1846, died at Salt Lake City, Utah, 29 Dec. 1929; married 27 May 1873, Lucy Ann Rouse, born at Saline, Mich., 24 Apr. 1850, died at Salt Lake City, 15 Feb. 1936, daughter of Jefferson Clinton and Caroline M. (Hulbert) Rouse.

* Name in census record reported as Rawson, an error.

He worked on his father's farm without wages until he was of age; went to "Mills" country school, and took a business course in Ann Arbor. He worked on the Ann Arbor Courier and did editorial writing. For a time he sold bath tubs on the road. He spent several years issuing books on the history and citizens of various counties, which was a lucrative business.

He moved about 1885 to Lincoln, Kans, where he entered the mortgage loan business and prospered, being also active in town affairs. He moved about 1891 to Salt Lake City, where he was a stock broker on the Mining Exchange, and also became a mine owner. He interested himself in geology, especially the study of rare metals. His fortune dwindled.

In his prime he was of fine build, over six feet tall, and weighing 200 pounds; he had grey eyes, a good face, and was lovable and generous. He was a 32° Mason, and gave widely to charity. He and his wife are buried at Mount Olivet, Salt Lake City.

Children of Noble Roswell and Lucy Ann (Rouse) Waterman:

i. Ralph Edgar[9], b. at Ann Arbor, Mich., 8 June 1875, d. at San Jose, Calif., 30 July 1931; m. at Reno, Nev., 10 Jan. 1907, Cecil May Cotton, b. at Stafford, co. Stafford, Eng., 31 Aug. 1882, dau. of James and Annie (———) Cotton. He received his grade schooling at Ann Arbor, and finished High School in Lincoln, Kans., where he was a newsboy for the Kansas City Star and played ball—without catching gloves. After the family moved to Salt Lake City, he attended the University of Michigan two years, living at the ΦΔΘ Frat House, and was in the University Mandolin and Glee Club. He played piano by ear. Returning to Salt Lake City, he worked at T. R. Jones & Co. Bank, and joined the Elks Lodge. He then embarked on a career of salesmanship and promotion which carried him into nearly every state in the country. His business ventures are too numerous to describe in full. In rapid succession he became a book agent, mining man, insurance salesman, organizer of a building and loan company, a broker on the Salt Lake Stock Exchange, and later on the Goldfield Nevada Exchange. He entered the manufacturing business, and promoted a six-day-bike-track at Butte, Mont.; with his uncle Edgar D. Waterman sold coal stock in Sioux City, Iowa (where he met his future wife); sold farm lands in the Sacramento (Calif.) district, a very profitable project; sold oil stock and oil leases in Texas and Okla.; and sold Pacific States Loan Stock. He owned property in Oakland, Calif., and homesteaded in Goldfield, Nev. His fortunes alternately rose and fell. He was a man of good appearance; had large brown eyes, a well-shaped head and reddish hair. He was sociable and jovial in disposition, and a good family man. Child:

I. Glenn Cotton[10], b. at Philadelphia, Pa., 8 Apr. 1912; m. at Auburn, Calif., 21 May 1938, Agnes June Renfro, b. in Whatcom County, Wash., 1 June 1914, dau. of Charles Elmer and Aenid Alma (Webber) Renfro.* In early youth he moved about much, his father being a freelance salesman who traveled from job to job and from city to city. He had his principal schooling in Oakland, Calif., and was an Eagle in the Boy Scouts. Leaving Piedmont High School, he attended Whitman College at Walla Walla, Wash. In school he was a natural leader, a ball player, golfer, skiier, and piano player. He was graduated from Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., where he joined the ΣX fraternity. He immediately joined the geological staff of the Idaho Maryland Mine at Grass Valley, Calif., working continuously to date (1940). He built a home on Collins Lane, Grass Valley. Children, b. at Grass Valley:

(1) Glenn Noble[11], b. 18 Apr. 1939.
(2) Gary Lea, b. 4 Dec. 1941.

ii. Glenn Rouse, b. at Saline, near Ann Arbor, Mich., 19 July 1882; m. at Salt Lake City, Utah, 10 Sept. 1913, Adelaide Smith, b. at Grass Valley, Utah, 11 Aug. 1887, dau. of Byard and Nancy (Mercer) Smith.* He had schooling in Lincoln, Kans., and Salt Lake City, including grade and High School and Business College. He received piano instruction from John J. McClellan, Mormon Tabernacle organist, and Arthur Sheppard, head of Theory, New England Conservatory of Music. He entered the paper business; worked on the Salt Lake Stock Exchange; was a bookkeeper; a collector; a book agent with his brother Ralph; a sleight-of-hand performer on Western Vaudeville circuits; organized a Savings and Loan Association; manufactured talking machine devices; worked for brokers during the Goldfield Nevada stock "boom"; a life insurance agent; worked for the Oregon Short Line Auditors Dept.; a piano salesman on the Pacific coast. He wrote and published two books on Commercial Piano Playing, which have had a marked influence on the modern popular music trend; teachers have adopted this method in England, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, and throughout the English speaking world. Author of "Waterman's Piano Arrangements" (1918), and "Waterman's Piano Forms and Arrangements" (1932). Member of the Elks. No issue.

Edgar David[8] Waterman (Roswell[7], David[6], Adonijah[5], Ebenezer[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at (Pittsfield?), Mich., 26 June 1849, died at Sioux City, Iowa, 23 June 1906; married 3 June 1874, Mary Agnes Anderson, born in Wayne County, Mich., 28 Apr. 1850, died at Pasadena, Calif., 10 Jan. 1939, daughter of Lewis S. and Eliza (Dunn) Anderson.

He worked on his father's farm until 21; went to "Mills" country school. He was a natural-born salesman, and early took to the road selling books, family medicine chests, etc. He went to Nome, Alaska, during the gold rush. He was a great story-teller, always laughing, and without a serious thought. He rather leaned on his brother, Noble R., and was his partner in Lincoln, Kans., and also in Salt Lake City, Utah.

993-3-2. MYRON ALFRED[9] WATERMAN (Henry[8], Ralph[7], Daniel[6], Daniel[5], Daniel[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Westville, N. Y., 28 Oct. 1855, died at Kansas City, Kansas, 20 Dec. 1937; married first, ELLA PEARL CAMPBELL, born , died ; married second, 27 Jan. 1897, ALICE GERTRUDE SHELDON, born 15 Oct. 1862.

Mr. Waterman learned the drug business in his uncle Harvey's store in Ravenna, Ohio; clerked in the business for a few years in Fort Scott, Kansas, and later went into business for himself at Mapleton, Kansas.

He established and edited The Scott Lantern, during the Populist movement in Kansas, making cartoons a feature, which he produced by the old chalk plate process.

In 1894 he was appointed Deputy State Bank Commissioner, and served until 1901. He then organized The Citizens State Savings Bank in Kansas City, Kansas, which he ran for several years as cashier. In 1917 he was appointed by the Federal Farm Loan Board, "Special Assistant in Charge of Organization," his work being the establishment of Federal Land Banks. When that task had been finished, he was appointed Federal Land Examiner; a few years later, he resigned and accepted a position with the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis as Special Representative. Owing to a stroke, he was forced to retire in 1926.

Thereafter he made a hobby of sculpturing and exhibited some of his work at the Mid-Western Artists Exhibition, held under the auspices of the Kansas City Art Institute. He was a member of the Kansas Authors Club, due to his feature articles and pen and ink drawings.

He was a powerful lecturer in several states in campaigns for constitutional state prohibition, and wrote, illustrated and published several pieces of literature on the subject of prohibiting the liquor traffic. His second wife was sister of Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, author of the noted religious novel, "In His Steps."

Child of Myron Alfred and Ella Pearl (Campbell) Waterman, born at Mapleton, Kans.:

994. HEMAN[7] WATERMAN (Daniel[6], Daniel[5], Daniel[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Norwich, Vt., 9 Aug. 1794, died ; married at Norwich, Vt., 1 Jan. 1816, RUBY SMALLEY, born at Norwich, Vt., 2 Apr. 1796, died at Hardin, Mo., 1880 to 1886, daughter of Abel and Ruby (———) Smalley.

Heman moved very soon after his marriage to Perrysburg, N. Y., where his elder half-brothers Benjamin and Simon, and cousin Elijah Waterman, also located. Heman had Lot 5, and Simon had Lot 8. Fourteen years later, "Herman" Waterman had Lot 7 outside of Gowanda. The Broadway Cheese Factory was on this Lot 7, but there is nothing to show that Heman was connected with the factory.

Census of 1820, Perrysburg, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., family of Heman Waterman: 3 males and 1 female, 26 to 45; 2 females under 10.

Census of 1830, Perrysburg, family of Heman Waterman: 1 male and 1 female, 30 to 40; 2 females, 10 to 15; 1 male, 5 to 10; 3 females under 5.

He was appointed Lieutenant in the 198th Regt., Cattaraugus County, 1821 [N. Y. Council of Appointment, 3-2241].

N. Y. Census of 1835, Persia, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y: Heman Waterman, 2 males (1 a voter, none military duty, 1 born during past year) and 5 females (1 married, under 45; 4 unmarried, 16 to 45).

His widow survived him many years, and died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Mallory. The brothers Heman Waterman of Collins, N. Y., and Simon Waterman of Perrysburgh, N. Y., divided land in Norwich, Vt., 11 Nov. 1825.

He engaged for some years in his later life in gold mining operations in the State of Sonora, Mexico, living between trips at San Diego, Calif. About 1900 he spent some time in Kansas City, Mo., visiting with his relatives and raising money for further mining operations. His daughter Anna, then living in Chicago, joined him there, and went to live with him and make a home for him in San Diego. His third wife, before and after her marriage to him, was a teacher, writer and lecturer on Domestic Science. The San Diego Union, issue of 13 May 1911, in its obituary calls him a native of New York, and states that he was husband of Alice (Cary) Waterman, father of Anna M. Waterman of Philadelphia, and grandfather of James Gibson and Mary (Gibson) Kingsbury of Los Angeles. Children by first or second wife:

994-2. JULIA ANNA[8] WATERMAN (Heman[7], Daniel[6], Daniel[5], Daniel[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Perrysburg, N. Y., 1829, died at Sweet Springs, Saline Co., Mo., 14 Dec. 1875, aged 46 (gravestone); married (in Tennessee?) about 1849, WILLIAM PINCKNEY SHAW, born (probably at Fairfield, Bedford Co., Tenn.), 24 July 1823, died at Sweet Springs, Mo., 19 May 1895, son of Thomas Lewis David William and Elizabeth (Cunningham) Shaw. He married second, about 1883, Margaret Elder, who survived him.

She was brought up in Cattaraugus County, N. Y., at Perrysburg, from which Persia was taken, and later Gowanda was taken from Persia. The family lived by a "river," perhaps Cattaraugus Creek, in which Julia was nearly drowned when she was a little girl. She taught school in her girlhood. She went to Tennessee "to visit friends," or "to accept a teaching position," and there met and married Mr. Shaw.

Mr. Shaw's grandfather, Christopher Shaw, a native of South Carolina and a veteran of the Revolution, settled in Fairfield, Bedford Co., Tenn., in 1808, the year the county was erected, and died there in 1832. His father moved to Ray County, Mo., near Richmond, where the family had a large tobacco plantation. Soon after marriage, Julia and her husband located there for several years. During the Civil War, Mr. Shaw was a Paymaster in the Confederate Army.

After the war, the Shaws were pioneer settlers of Brownsville, later called Sweet Springs, Mo. He was Superintendent of the Methodist Sunday School there for thirty years. Mr. Shaw was very tall, "the tallest man in the county," was of blond coloring and wore his hair in curls to his shoulders until late in life. His wife was very dark, and small, and never weighed over 100 pounds. She was gifted in writing, and had articles and poems published in local papers.

Notes

Administration on the estate of Mrs. Mary A. Waterman of Bradford, Vt., was granted, 11 Sept. 1883, to James A. Waterman. [Probate, Orange County, 22-526, 527.]

The will of William Waterman of Bradford, Vt., made 7 Nov. 1853, presented 13 Dec. 1853, gave to wife Jane, for her support and the support and education of our children, Jane Eliza, William Frederick, and Emma Annah; witnesses, Joel Morris, Linus P. Waterman, J. C. Russell. The inventory included home farm (120 acres with buildings, $4500), Brush woodlot (about 60 acres, $400); sawmill and Brush wood (about 2 acres, $125); Crocker lot at Thetford (90 acres, one undivided half, $300); an undivided half of a slip in the Congregational Meeting house, Bradford, ($12). The widow was authorized to sell the half of the Crocker lot in Thetford, and the land and sawmill in Fairlee, known as Dodges Sawmill. Among the creditors were Joel Morris, Linus P. Waterman, and Landers(?) Waterman. On 3 Aug. 1858, the former executrix being deceased, Charles McDuffee was appointed administrator. He was also appointed guardian to the three children, 10 Aug. 1858, replacing Willard Waterman of Bradford who had been appointed guardian, 13 Mar. 1857. Hon. Arad Stebbins replaced McDuffee as administrator and guardian, 17 Feb. 1859.

At a hearing before a Referee, it was represented that Dr. W. H. M. Howard married Jane, widow of William Waterman, March 1856, and died 7 Aug. 1858 leaving a son, Charles H. Howard. On 17 Mar. 1860, the three children chose Ellis Bliss of Bradford for guardian. He was also appointed administrator, and rendered his final account in 1870. [Probate, Orange County, 10-82 to 93; 11-436 to 441; 12-50, 235 to 237, 240 to 249; 14-180, 188, 189, 384 to 386.]

Administration on the estate of Sally Waterman (also called Sarah E. Waterman) of Norwich was granted, 3 July 1891, to Joseph C. Enright of Windsor. The residue was distributed to her son, Joseph M. Waterman, the only legal heir. [Probate, Windsor County, 45-396.]

Submit S. Waterman of Bradford, Vt., married at Fairlee, Vt., 10 July 1851, Hiram Hackett, born at Sandwich, N. H., 12 Oct. 1827, died there 2 Sept. 1854, son of John and Hannah (McGaffey) Hackett. This is the branch of the Waterman family which was living at Bradford; and the mother of James[7] was named Submit Sullard. At the time Submit S. Waterman married, the two sons of James[7] were living at Bradford, and his only brother Dyer[7] at Fairlee. It is likely that Submit was living with one of her brothers, hence "of Bradford," and she may have been married at her uncle's home in Fairlee.

Mandana C. Waterman was married at Bradford, where this branch of the family lived, and in 1853 her husband witnessed the will of William[8] Waterman, and was a creditor of his estate.

Administration on the estate of John Waterman, 2d, of Norwich, was granted, 5 Sept. 1827, to Ethan Burnap. Inventory, $1592.00; included 54 acres of land on Ompomanoosuc meadow. Claims were made against the estate by Lyman Baldwin, Daniel Waterman, Elisha Waterman, John Waterman, Jr., David Waterman, Warren Waterman, James Waterman, Latham Hyde, Shubel Waterman, and Ethan Burnap. Dower was set to the widow, Malinda Waterman, 1 Oct. 1828. On 6 July 1829, Malinda Waterman, widow, Milo Marsh, Jr., and Elizabeth his wife, and Lucia Waterman, adult heirs, and Milo Marsh, Jr., and John S. Paine, as guardians of minor heirs, asked for removal of Ethan Burnap as administrator, because his sureties, Elijah Waterman and Samuel Gleason, both died insolvent. John S. Paine and Milo Marsh, Jr., were appointed, but Marsh was removed 7 Jan. 1832 because of removal from the State. [Probate Rec. Windsor County.]

On 13 Feb. 1828, John S. Paine of Norwich, Vt., was appointed guardian of Nelson, Harriet, Caroline, Thomas Emerson, and Carlos Waterman, minors under 14, heirs of John Waterman, 2d, late of Norwich. Elijah C. and Marcia Waterman, aged over 14, heirs of the same, chose Milo Marsh, jr., of Norwich for guardian, 5 Mar. 1828. [Probate Rec. Windsor County, 9-287.]

1015. ELIJAH[7] WATERMAN (Levi[6], Daniel[5], Daniel[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Thetford, Vt., 29 Apr. 1790; died at McHenry, Ill., 21 Oct. 1855; married at Perrysburg, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., 20 Apr. 1822, POLLY BARNHART, born about 1800, died

Elijah Waterman and Polly his wife of Persia, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., for $1,000.00, sold 2 May 1839 to Benona Hawkins of Hanover, Chautauqua Co., N. Y., 100 acres in Persia, part of Lot 6 in 6th Town and 8th Range, subject to a mortgage of $300.00 to Holland Land Co. [Deeds, Cattaraugus County, 9-375.]

Pension Files, War of 1812, W. O. 33519, W. C. 26041. Service shown by a Company Roll, 17 Sept. 1812 to 30 Nov. 1812, with allowance for 210 miles travel.

Application for pension, 6 Nov. 1878, by Polly Waterman, 868 Madison Street, Chicago, Ill., aged 78, widow of Elijah Waterman, who died at McHenry, Ill., 21 Oct. 1855. At enlistment, Elijah was about six feet tall, with brown eyes and black hair. She was married to Elijah, 20 Apr. 1822, at Perrysburg, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y., by Hugh Campbell, J. P. Her maiden name was Polly Barnhart; neither had been previously married. After the War, Elijah resided in Perrysburg, N. Y., and McHenry, St. Charles, Princeton, and Chicago, in Illinois.

Major Ford Erwin, M.D., aged 60, and Franklin F. Sprague, both of Chicago, had known the applicant for 38 or 40 years.

Dr. Irwin, 389 W. Randolph Street, Chicago, again testified. He became acquainted with Elijah Waterman and his wife Polly in McHenry County, Ill., in 1843. They were then living on a farm on or near Section 7, Nunda Township. He recalled their children, Amelia and Kate, and others whose names were forgotten. They lived there until Elijah's death, 18 Oct. 1854, testate. Dr. Irwin removed to Chicago in 1870.

Franklin F. Spencer, of Hubbard, Spencer & Company, corner of Cook and Lake Street, aged 61, testified. He knew the Watermans in Perrysburg, N. Y., from 1825 to 1836, and subsequently in Kane County, Ill., in 1839-40 and 41. He visited the family, and they visited in Perrysburg at the home of his father, Phineas Spencer. He also knew Hugh Campbell, Esq., the Justice who married the Watermans.

Polly Waterman received a Bounty Land Warrant, No. 96627. She was living in Wayne, Du Page County, Ill. In 1868, her agent made an offer of $59 cash for her Warrant, or "if she bids higher," he will sell his half.

In the 1830 Census, Elijah Waterman was listed at Perrysburg, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y.: 1 male aged 40 to 50; 1 female, 30 to 40; 1 male and 3 females, 5 to 10; 1 male and 1 female under 5.

N. Y. Census of 1835, Perrysburgh, Cattaraugus Co., N. Y.: 4 males (1 voter) and 7 females (1 married, under 45; 6 unmarried, 16 to 45).

1029. Benjamin[7] Waterman (Charles[6], Ezra[5], Daniel[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Bolton, Conn., 2 July 1799, died at Coventry, Conn., 13 Jan. 1842, aged 42; married at Coventry, 27 Jan. 1829, Harriet Porter, born at Coventry, 25 July 1804, died there 24 May 1874, aged 74, daughter of Zelotes and Elizabeth (Flint) Porter. She married second, at Tolland, Conn., 15 Feb. 1847, as his third wife, Frank Hatch, born at Tolland, 28 Apr. 1790, died there 18 July 1874.

Benjamin Waterman of Bolton sold 23 Apr. 1830 to Marvin Berge of Bolton, for $350.00, all the lands and buildings which were distributed to said Benjamin Waterman and Ezra K. Waterman from the estate of Ezra Waterman deceased. On 28 Feb. 1834, he conveyed to Zelotes Porter of Coventry, land bounded westerly on Lydia and Mary Waterman's land; and Zelotes Porter of Coventry sold it as trustee. [Land Rec. Bolton, 11-35, 370, 525.]

In 1834 Benjamin Waterman of Bolton was an insolvent debtor, and Zelotes Porter was trustee of his estate, which amounted to $1,151.34. On 1 Feb. 1842, administration on the estate of Benjamin Waterman of Coventry deceased was granted to Zelotes Porter of Coventry. The estate inventoried at $162.00, which was used to pay creditors except for the dower set to Harriet Waterman, widow of Benjamin. [Probate Rec. Andover, 12-155, 173; 14-304, 333 to 335.]

In the Census of 1830, his family was listed at Bolton, 1 male 30 to 40, 1 female 20 to 30, and 1 male under 5; in the Census of 1840, at Coventry, 1 male 40 to 50, 1 female 30 to 40, 1 male 10 to 15, and 1 female under 5.

Children of Benjamin and Harriet (Porter) Waterman:

i. Charles Porter[8], b. at Bolton, 27 Apr. 1830; d. at Vernon, Conn., 29 Aug. 1882 (gravestone); m. (1) Lectana Fenton, b. 22 May 1832, d. 6 Nov. 1859 (inscription, both Coventry and Vernon); m. (2) Eliza A. Kingsley, b. 8 Sept. 1840, d. 24 June 1897 (gravestone, Vernon), dau. of Shubael W. and Mary (Loomis) Kingsley. His will, made 29 Dec. 1871, proved 2 Sept. 1882, gave a legacy to his mother, Harriett W. Hatch, and the residue to his wife Eliza A., whom he named executrix; inventory, $10,973.00. [Probate Rec. Ellington, 12-590; 13-403.] He was of Rockville in the Town of Vernon in 1879; and his widow Eliza A. was of Rockville in 1884 when she sold land in West Hartford devised to her by his will. [Land Rec. West Hartford, 7-682; 9-467, 499; 8-470.]

ii. ELIZABETH JANE, b. 1835-6; d. at Coventry, 2 Feb. 1841, ae. 5.

Ezra Fitch Waterman of Sherburne sold land to Christopher C. Foster of Sherburne, 14 May 1827. On 25 Feb. 1858, Stephen Tinker and Polly his wife [acknowledged in Oswego County], Thomas S. Tinker and Hellen M. his wife, John Mather and Belinda his wife, Bowton Benedict and Lucy his wife [the foregoing all acknowledged in Chautauqua County], and Ezra F. Waterman and Prudence his wife, and Emily Tinker [these acknowledged in Chenango County], sold to Silvanus Tinker of Sherburne a farm containing 101¾ acres. [Deeds, Chenango County, LL-438; 105-166.]

One Lowell Howard died 1 Apr. 1864, and in his will made 28 Mar. 1864 named his wife Chloe C. and his brothers and sisters. His widow, reversing her names to Caroline C. Howard, of New Berlin, Chenango County, in her will dated 23 May 1878, proved 30 Apr. 1883, gave legacies to niece Abbie Briggs of Sherburne, N. Y., niece Maranda Cutler, nephew Edwin Howard. niece Emma Howard, Alice Howard daughter of niece Mary Arnold, Percy Terrell son of niece Amelia Terrell of Detroit, Mich., Orrin Howard, friend Sidney A. Finch, niece Margarette Dewey; gave $100 to A. Fitch Waterman; sisters Mary A. Pultz and Angeline Bryan; residue to sister Esther E. Bryan and niece Ella Lucas.

Citations were issued to her heirs-at-law and next of kin. These were named as Mary L. Pultz, Esther E. Bryant, Angeline Bryant, Ellen Lucas, Giles A. Waterman, Andrew F. Waterman, Andrew Davis, and Warren Davis. [Wills, Chenango County, X-133.]

Most of those mentioned in Mrs. Howard's will were her husband's relatives, but it is clear that she had sisters Mary L., Esther E., and Angeline, and that the respective parents of Ella Lucas, of Giles A. and Andrew F. Waterman, and of Andrew and Warren Davis, were also her sisters or brothers. The mother of Giles and Andrew Waterman seems to have been Prudence Tinker, whose brothers and sisters are revealed in the deed above quoted. The Waterman relationship to Mrs. Howard therefore came through the Waterman, not the Tinker, side. Ezra Fitch Waterman and his sister Sarah Ann (who married George Davis) lost their father at an early age, and their mother remarried. It is likely that Mrs. Chloe Caroline Howard and her sisters were younger half-sisters on the maternal side of Ezra Fitch Waterman, and that the two Davis heirs were sons of Sarah Ann (Waterman) Davis.

On 18 Dec. 1884, Andrew F. Waterman petitioned as father of A Fitch Waterman, a minor resident in Chenango County, stating that said A. Fitch was 13 years old on 26 Mar. 1884, and that the only relatives of said minor are Isabella A. Fitch, his mother; Amasa S. Skinner, his grandfather, of New Berlin, N. Y.; and Ferdinand A. Skinner and Linn A. Skinner, of New Berlin, and Sidney S. Skinner, of Norwich, N. Y., uncles of said infant; that said minor is entitled to personal property to the value of about $100, a legacy under the will of Caroline C. Howard who died 10 Apr. 1883. Inventory and account, 31 May 1886. [Wills, Chenango County, X-131.]

On 3 Dec. 1852, William Fowler and Roxana his wife of Sherburne, Chenango County, for $1600.00, sold to Andrew and Giles A. Waterman of Sherburne, 50 acres in that town. [Deeds, Chenango County, 90-237.]

Children of Ezra Fitch and Prudence (Tinker) Waterman, born at Sherburne, N. Y.:

i. ANDREW F.[8], b. 1829; m. ISABELLA A. SKINNER, dau. of Amasa S. Skinner. Child:
I. A. Fitch[9], b. 26 Mar. 1871.

ii. GILES ALEXANDER, b. 1833; probably d. before 1884; m. at Brookfield, N. Y., Oct. 1871, HANNAH AMELIA BABCOCK, b. at Brookfield, 15 Aug. 1836, living 1914, dau. of Ezra and Hannah (Brown) Babcock. "He was a farmer in New Berlin, N. Y., where he lived until his death. He was a much-respected citizen, a good husband, and very kind and helpful to everybody. He was buried in New Berlin. His father and mother lived and died in Sherburne, N. Y. Mrs. Waterman had the advantages of an academic education and was a good scholar. She taught school in Brookfield, where she was educated. She is a member of the Methodist Church. She now (1914) is in very feeble health and nearly blind. Her older sister, Mrs. Cynthia O. Jennings, has lived with her since the death of her husband, and is lovingly caring for her. No issue."

1073. SARAH ANN[7] WATERMAN (Andrew[6], Andrew[5], Elisha[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Lebanon, Conn., 28 Feb. 1808, died ; married GEORGE DAVIS.

Probable children of George and Sarah Ann (Waterman) Davis:

i. ANDREW[8].
ii. WARREN.

1075. Nancy Mason[7] Waterman (Elisha[6], Andrew[5], Elisha[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Lebanon, Conn., about 1828, died there in 1898; married at Lebanon, Conn., 10 Apr. 1848, James M. Peckham, born at Columbia, Conn., 3 Feb. 1820, died at Lebanon, Conn., in 1890, son of Simeon and Lucy T. (Avery) Peckham.

Mr. Peckham was brought up on the farm, working summers and attending school winters, until his seventeenth year, when he went to Kingston, R. I., and entered the employ of T. S. Taylor & Co., merchants of that place. With this house he remained ten years, until 1847, when he returned to Lebanon and commenced business as a merchant. He continued this until Sept. 1848, when he purchased a half interest with Elisha Waterman, Jr., at Bozrahville. On 16 Oct. of the same year, his store at Lebanon was burned, and after that he devoted his attention to the establishment at Bozrahville. Elisha Waterman died in 1855, and Mr. Peckham took a younger brother, Andrew Waterman, as partner and the business was continued under the firm-name of Peckham & Waterman.

Mr. Peckham also had an interest in various manufacturing companies, was director of the Second National Bank of Norwich, and held various positions of trust and honor, such as selectman, town agent, member of board of relief, justice of the peace; was in the Legislature in 1855, and Senate in 1858, and was postmaster about twenty-five years. In politics he was first a Democrat, later a Republican. In religion both he and his wife were members of the Congregational Church at Goshen, of which Mr. Peckham was one of the chief supporters.

The will of James M. Peckham, of Lebanon, dated 25 Feb. 1873, proved 26 May 1890, gave to his sisters Mary W. and Sarah M. Peckham his interest in the homestead in Lebanon now occupied by them; to daughter Elizabeth Waterman, $1,000.00; residue to wife Nancy W. Peckham, she to be executrix; should wife and daughter not marry or die without issue, then the house in which I now live shall vest in Andrew Waterman. Waiver of notice signed by Nancy W. Peckham and Elizabeth W. Hobart. On 8 Aug. 1898, Elizabeth W. Hobart of Cleveland, Ohio, gave bond as administratrix on the estate of Nancy W. Peckham of Lebanon; sureties, Andrew and Elisha Waterman. [Probate Rec. Lebanon, Files 969 and 972.]

Children of James M. and Nancy Mason (Waterman) Peckham:

i. Elizabeth Waterman[8], m. M. M. Hobart, of Cleveland, Ohio. On 18 Aug. 1898, Elizabeth W. Hobart (the only surviving heir of James M. Peckham and Nancy W. Peckham, formerly of Lebanon, Conn., now deceased), and M. M. Hobart her husband, of Cleveland, Ohio, quitclaimed to Andrew Waterman of Lebanon, "the Real Estate of which Nancy W. Peckham, now deceased, died possessed of—which . . . . . came to her by or through the estates of her father or Mother Elisha Waterman and Betsey Waterman formerly of Lebanon, Conn., now deceased." [Land Rec. Lebanon, 44-21.]

1076. ANDREW[7] WATERMAN (Elisha[6], Andrew[5], Elisha[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Lebanon, Conn., 13 June 1833, died there 8 Mar. 1910, aged 76 yrs. 8 mos. 25 days; married at Lebanon, 5 Feb. 1873, JULIA EMMA STARK, born at Lebanon, 13 Jan. 1847, died there 2 Mar. 1898, aged 51 yrs. 1 mo. 17 days, daughter of Henry Nelson and Sarah Ann (Geer) Stark.

He was educated in the district schools and Norwich Academy, and spent his life on the home farm, which he inherited from his father. During his active life the property was greatly improved and the main part of the present house was built. He pursued general farming and cattle-raising operations, and upon his retirement in his later years the management of the farm fell upon his son. He was a Republican.

The will of Julia Emma Waterman of Lebanon, dated 1 Mar. 1898, proved 15 Aug. 1898, gave life use of her estate to her husband, Andrew Waterman, then to her children, not named. [Probate Rec. Lebanon, 10-594, 595.]

Application on the estate of Andrew Waterman who died 8 Mar. 1910 named the heirs as Elisha and Clarence M. Waterman of Lebanon, sons, and Mrs. Frank Bartlett of Torrington, and Mary Emma Waterman of Lebanon, daughters. [ib., 12-561.]

After attending the district schools, he entered Bacon Academy, and was later a student in Spencer's Business College, of Cleveland, Ohio, where he was graduated 1 Sept. 1894. In young manhood, he established a trucking business for the Bozrahville Cotton Company, also taking charge of the home farm when his father retired. He later inherited the homestead, and to the original 300 acres added 150 acres by purchase. Along with agricultural operations, he raised and dealt extensively in cattle, specializing in Holstein stock.

For many years, he was chairman of the Republican Town Committee, and in 1909 filled a seat in the State Legislature. In 1919 he served in the State Senate. He was a member of the Congregational Church, and affiliated with Wooster Lodge, No. 10, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons. He was identified with all progressive movements in the district.

The probate records of Elisha's estate names the widow and two daughters. [Probate Rec. Lebanon, 16-199, 200.]

1092. Erastus[7] Waterman (Asa[6], Arunah[5], Asa[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Johnson, Vt., 27 Feb. 1807, died ; married Nancy Gleason, born in N. Y., about 1811.

Detroit District, General Land Office, Washtenaw County, Mich., Certificate #2137, 2 June 1826, to Erastus Waterman, East ½, N. W. ¼, Sec. 2, R. 8, 77 acres.

Census of 1850, Saline, Washtenaw Co., Mich.:

		age	born
Erastus	Waterman	39	Vt.	Miller
Nancy	"	39	N. Y.
Asa E.	"	6	Mich.
Wallace E.	"	3	"
Willis E.	"	3	"

* Also appears in records as Laura.

† Entered Russell at birth.

On 21 Oct. 1850, Erastus Waterman and Nancy his wife of Saline, Washtenaw Co., Mich., and David Young and Harriet his wife of Hartland, Livingston Co., Mich., sold to Hannah A. Gleason and Elizabeth A. Gleason of Hartland, Niagara Co., N. Y., land in Hartland, N. Y. [Deeds, Niagara County, 45-277.]

Children of Erastus and Nancy (Gleason) Waterman, born in Mich.:

i. ASA E.[8], b. abt. 1844.
ii. WALLACE E. (twin), b. abt. 1847.
iii. WILLIS E. (twin), b. abt. 1847.

1093. ARUNAH[7] WATERMAN (Asa[6], Arunah[5], Asa[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Johnson, Vt., 2 Feb. 1809, died ; married MAGDALEN ———, born about 1817.

According to the Hyde Genealogy, Arunah went to Texas while a young man, where he probably died unmarried; but John Asa[8] Waterman, his nephew, stated that he "went west when young, and was not heard from for forty years, when he was located in Covington, Kentucky, married with a large family."

Supposing that Arunah was about twenty when he left home, forty years after that would make him about sixty when his Vermont relatives learned he was in Covington, Ky. The date would be close to 1870, and the 1870 Census reveals the following family at Covington:

	age	born
Aaron Waterman	58	Conn.	Laborer
Magdalen "	53	Pa.
Catherine "	24	Pa.
Mary "	15 [18?]	Pa.
Sylvester "	16	Pa.
Noah "	10	Ky.

It is not unlikely that he shortened the name Arunah to Aaron; or the census-taker may have misunderstood an unusual name. The age was understated by three years, and he was born in Vermont, not Connecticut; but his father was a native of the latter State, and such mistakes are not uncommon in the census records.

Children of Aaron and Magdalen (———) Waterman, born in Pennsylvania except youngest:

i. CATHERINE[8], b. abt. 1846.
ii. MARY, b. abt. 1852[?].
iii. SYLVESTER, b. abt. 1854.
iv. NOAH, b. abt. 1860.

1094. LEVI ATWOOD[7] WATERMAN (Asa[6], Arunah[5], Asa[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Johnson, Vt., 26 Oct. 1818, died at McHenry, Ill., 19 Sept. 1905; married at Johnson, Vt., 25 Nov. 1851, HANNAH DODGE WHITING, born at Johnson, 6 Mar. 1819, died at McHenry, 18 Jan. 1903, daughter of Zachariah and Lucinda (Dodge) Whiting.

He was a farmer, and lived at Johnson until 1 Dec. 1865, when he left Vermont and moved with his family to McHenry, near Ringwood, Ill., where he engaged in farming.

In 1885 he was superintendent of the McHenry Pickle Factory.

Noyes	"	1	"

"Major Waterman was a native of Johnson, but spent most of the earlier part of his life at Montpelier, Vt. After a few years spent in trade at Lockport, N. Y., he commenced business in Greensboro, where he has resided for the last 24 years—a highly successful merchant, and an influential citizen. His sudden removal is sensibly felt by the entire community, as well as by many relatives and friends." [Nathan Crosby: Annual Obituary Notices (1857), 1-378.]

Administration on the estate of Loring F. Waterman of Greensboro, Vt., was granted to his widow Flora S., 16 June 1857; the inventory included dwelling house, store, "Red House," half a starch factory, and several parcels of land. Distribution was made to the widow and to the children, Arba and Noyes F. [Probate, Orleans County, Docket 2, File 287.]

Child of Loring Franklin and Mary (Stevens) Waterman, born at Greensboro:

i. ARBA NELSON[8], b. 5 Feb. 1836; d. at Chicago, Ill., 16 Mar. 1917; A.B. (Norwich University, 1856); student in Albany School, 1860-1; LL.D. (University of Vt., 1892); m. at Chicago, 16 Dec. 1862, ELOISE HALL. He served as Lt.-Col. of the 100th Ill. Vols. in the Civil War, and was wounded at the battle of Chickamauga, and had his horse killed under him in battle. He was admitted to the bar of the Supreme Court of New York, 1861; settled in Chicago as a lawyer; Judge of Circuit Court, Cook County, Ill., 1887-1903; assigned as Judge, Appellate Court, 1st District of Illinois; Dean of John Marshall Law School since 1902. He was author of A Century of Caste (1901); A Consideration of the Influences that Have Made Chicago and the Prospect as to its Future. He accumulated an estate of $150,000 and built a house in the then exclusive Groveland Park section of Chicago. In his old age he fell under the dominance of a clever crook known as the "Count of Coxsackie," who gained control of most of his property, but old friends came to his rescue and one of them was appointed his conservator.

Children of Loring Franklin and Flora (Somers) Waterman, born at Greensboro:

ii. Daughter, d. in infancy.

iii. NOYES FRANKLIN, b. 1849; living in 1917, in Illinois; m. at Troy, Vt., 26 Jan. 1871, EMMA RAYMON. He was the only heir of [his mother] Flora S. Waterman in 1867 [Probate, Orleans County, File 851.]

1120. (REV.) THOMAS TILESTON[7] WATERMAN (Elijah[6], Nehemiah[5], Nehemiah[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Windham, Conn., 24 Sept. 1801, died at Stratford, Conn., 2 Aug. 1873, aged 71 yrs. 11 mos.; married at Mansfield Center, Conn., 11 Dec. 1827, DELIA STORRS, born at Mansfield Center, 1 July 1806, died at St. Mary's, Georgia, 10 July 1881, aged 75 yrs. 10 days, daughter of Dan and Mary (Southworth) Storrs.

He was a Presbyterian and Congregational minister; graduated from Yale College, 1822. He studied theology with his father; was ordained pastor, 13 Dec. 1826, of the Richmond Street Congregational Church, Providence, R. I.; in 1837 became pastor of the Fifth Presbyterian Church of Philadelphia, Pa., where he continued until 1843, when he returned to Providence and was installed pastor of the Fourth Congregational Church (the Free Evangelical Church). He held pastorates in the Second Presbyterian Church at Galena, Ill., 1852-1856; and in the Congregational Churches at Winona, Minn., 1856-1857; at Danielson, Conn., 1857-1861; at Spencer, Mass., 1861-1863; and at Monroe, Conn., 1864-1868. He remained a resident of Monroe after his retirement, but died at the home of his daughter in Stratford.

At Winona he had the pleasure of assisting that society in erecting a building with steeple and bell, the first of its kind north of Dubuque, Iowa, on the west bank of the Mississippi River. He also assisted in establishing churches in Springfield, Ill., and Marshall, Mich. In the last years of his life, he suffered frequently from illness, but continued to preach occasionally until the very end.

Thomas T. Waterman and Delia S. his wife, both of Providence, R. I., for $2,000, sold to Zalmon Storrs, Juba Storrs, and Lucius Storrs, all of Mansfield, all title they have "as heirs at law to the Estate of Mr. Dan Storrs late of said Mansfield deceased—the said Delia S. Waterman being the Daughter of the s^{d} deceased," 22 Oct. 1831. On 8 Feb. 1861, Shubael Hutchins and Maria S. his wife, of Providence, R. I., and Thomas T. Waterman, and Delia S. his wife, for $200, sold to Zalmon Storrs of Mansfield all real estate belonging to the estate of Juba Storrs of Mansfield, dec'd, the said Maria and Delia being sisters of Juba. Note

(Col.) George Isham[8] Waterman (1834-1884), a native of Providence, R. I., was graduated in 1856 from Beloit College, Wis., and taught a year as principal of the Maquoketa Academy at Maquoketa, Iowa. From the autumn of 1857 until April 1861, he was a deputy clerk of the U. S. Circuit and District Courts in Chicago.

He enlisted in the Union Army during the Civil War, leaving Chicago with the first troops which went to the front from that city, and remaining until the close of the war. On 17 Jan. 1862, he was commissioned 2d Lieutenant in the 51st Illinois Infantry, afterwards 1st Lieutenant and later Captain in the same regiment with brevet rank of Lieut.-Colonel for "gallant and meritorious conduct." Much of his military service was in the capacity of a staff officer; at first as Aide-de-Camp to Gen. J. D. Morgan (5 June 1862 to 22 Aug. 1864), and afterwards as Assistant Adj.-General to Gen. Luther P. Bradley. Both of these officers commanded divisions in the Army of the Cumberland. His earlier service was with his regiment in Gen. Pope's Army of the Mississippi.

He was severely wounded at the battle of Spring Hill near Franklin, Tenn., in the autumn of 1864, and being left upon the field was taken prisoner, but was recaptured when the enemy was driven back from Nashville later in the year.

At the close of the war, Col. Waterman studied law in Springfield, Ill. He settled in Chicago in 1867, where he practised his profession until failing health obliged him to seek another home. In 1878 he removed to Hawley, Minn., and remained there until his death.

He never married and never held public office except the clerkship early in life. He was never a candidate for office, although often active in advocating measures which he deemed essential to the well-being of the community. In the presidential campaigns of 1860, 1868 and 1872, his recognized ability as an orator of unusual power attracted much notice. During those years, his voice was frequently heard in Illinois on behalf of the Republican ticket.

For a long period he was secretary of the Society of the Army of the Cumberland. His companions of that Army chose him to deliver the annual oration before the Society, in Sept. 1875, at Utica, N. Y.

1120-2. (Rev.) Alfred Tileston[8] Waterman (Thomas Tileston[7], Elijah[6], Nehemiah[5], Nehemiah[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Providence, R. I., 13 Dec. 1832, died at Washington, D. C., 29 Dec. 1909; married at Westfield, Mass., 8 Dec. 1865, Jerusha Emily Stocking, born at Orvomiah, Persia, 28 Apr. 1842, died at Washington, D. C., 8 Apr. 1910, daughter of (Rev.) William Redfield and Jerusha (Gilbert) Stocking.

Like his father and grandfather, Mr. Waterman was a graduate of Yale College (1855); thereafter, he taught two years in a Mississippi family, studied in Union Theological Seminary, 1857-58, and completed the theological course in Princeton (1860). He became a Congregational minister, and after preaching a year each in Plainfield, Vt., and in Fitchville (Bozrah), Conn., and studying in the Yale Theological Seminary, 1863, he was pastor at Westfield, Mass., 1864-1869; Berlin, Conn., June 1869 to June 1874; and Monroe, Conn., Aug. 1874 to Jan. 1876. For about twenty-five years his active work was done in Michigan Congregational churches. His pastorates were at Marshall, Mich., 1876-1877; Fort Scott, Kansas, 1877-1878; Grand Blanc, Mich., 1878-1882; and at East Tawas, Ovid, Charlevoix, Bancroft, Hartford, Baldwin, and Nashville, all in Michigan. He retired in 1900 and settled in Washington, D. C., where the rest of his life was spent.

"He left a record of uncompromising hostility to sham, and was noted for telling his congregation things which applied directly to them, instead of dealing in generalities about the rest of the world. Frequently he sacrificed his own comfort to his conception of his duty as a minister. In every parish he was a revelation of complete freedom from selfish considerations and of absolute disregard for the aristocracy of wealth. When Mr. Waterman left Nashville and abandoned pastoral work, he severed his connection with the ministerial association and never again claimed the courtesies customarily granted to ministers, or sought fraternal intercourse with them in the active ministry. He followed this course in the face of the usual custom, because it seemed to him unseemly that a man no longer in the active ministry should appear as a minister."

Before his death he expressed the wish that his remains be cremated and that the ashes be scattered, and this request was complied with.

Mrs. Waterman's father went to Persia as a missionary in 1837, returned in 1853, and died 30 Apr. 1854; her mother died in California 28 June 1892 at the age of 80.

1120-2-1. JASON[9] WATERMAN (Alfred Tileston[8], Thomas Tileston[7], Elijah[6], Nehemiah[5], Nehemiah[4], Thomas[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Middletown, Conn., 3 Dec. 1868, died at Washington, D. C., 12 Jan. 1937; married at Paducah, Ky., 5 Aug. 1897, MAUD EVELYN HOLLY, born at Burlington, Iowa, 9 Apr. 1872, daughter of Frederick Henry and Stella Evelyn (Cortright) Holly.

Mr. Waterman was a lawyer by profession, employed as a statistician in U. S. Public Health Service. He came to Washington, D. C., from Bay City, Mich., in Nov. 1895. He was graduated from George Washington University in 1903, winning highest honors in one of the largest classes ever graduated from the Law School of that institution. During the World War, he was awarded a medal for services, in particular speaking in public in the Liberty Loan Bond drive. In the Federal service since 1895, he was employed in the Government Printing Office until 1913, and was then transferred to the Public Health Service, where he rose to be administrative assistant to the Assistant Surgeon-General in the Sanitary Reports and Statistics Division.

He was a Congregationalist; and a Scottish Rite Mason. He was Master of Washington Centennial Lodge No. 14 (D.C.) in 1913, and was Grand Patron of the Order of Eastern Star (D.C.) in 1909. He was a member of the Society of Mayflower Descendants in the District of Columbia; and of the American Public Health Association.

A letter from Thomas Parran, Surgeon-General, states: "Mr. Waterman entered the Government service November 29, 1895, as a compositor in the Government Printing Office and after advancing through various grades he resigned to accept appointment as assistant editor in the Public Health Service, entering on duty in that capacity, July 21, 1913. From the beginning of his service, which was continuous from the time of his original appointment, Mr. Waterman displayed marked efficiency and was accordingly advanced, finally becoming administrative assistant in the Division of Sanitary Reports and Statistics. I am confident that a more faithful, loyal and efficient employee never served his Government. Mr. Waterman was highly regarded both for his ability and for his character and in his death the Public Health Service sustains a distinct loss."

1137. Pamela Janett[7] Waterman (Thomas Glasby[6], David[5], David Bassett[4], John[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Binghamton, N. Y., 5 Dec. 1818, died at Mt. Vernon, N. Y., 17 Sept. 1892, and buried at Rye, N. Y.; married at Christ Church, Binghamton, 4 Sept. 1840, Charles Eldredge, born at Chenango Point, N. Y., 6 Oct. 1814, died at Newburgh, N. Y., 3 July 1866, son of Christopher and Olive (Whitney) Eldredge.

Mr. Eldredge's mother was a sister of Thomas Glasby Waterman's wife. Mrs. Eldredge was considered beautiful when a girl, and her children were fine looking, and popular in society. The family lived a few years in Detroit, Mich., then returned to Binghamton, where they lived until the Fall of 1864. They then settled in Mamaroneck, N. Y., where Mr. Eldredge purchased a villa. He died soon after, but the family continued to reside there some years.

Mr. Eldredge was a lawyer of note and received signal honors in his profession. During the Civil War, he was commissioned with William M. Evarts by the United States Government to persuade the English Government to maintain its neutrality. For five years he was engaged in controversy regarding the titles of the Almaden quicksilver mine, which he owned jointly with James Eldredge, his brother. He was a gentleman of gracious demeanor, and kindly consideration, with a fine sense of humor which added to the charm of his personality.

Y., Moravian School, Bethlehem, Pa., and St. Paul's School, Concord, N. H., and entered Columbia University in 1875. There he distinguished himself as an athlete, being captain of the Freshman crew, and was subsequently chosen as substitute on the famous Henley Four, celebrated in the regatta of 1878. Following his graduation, he studied at the College of Physicians and Surgeons, but he did not enter the medical profession. He entered the employ of the Port Chester Bolt and Nut Company, becoming secretary. He held this office until the company was consolidated with the firm of Russell, Birdsall & Ward, of which he became a director. He was supervisor of the town of Rye in 1898, 1899 and 1900. He was an active member of the Village Improvement Association, and was the third Village President, from 21 Mar. 1905 until his death. He was a 1138. THOMAS WHITNEY[7] WATERMAN (Thomas Glasby[6], David[5], David Bassett[4], John[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Binghamton, N. Y., 28 June 1821, died there 7 Dec. 1898; married at Christ Church, Binghamton, N. Y., 3 Dec. 1850, MARY JOANNA ANDREWS, born , died 30 Dec. 1871, daughter of (Rev.) Edward and Elizabeth (Harper) Andrews.

He entered Yale University in 1838, but was not graduated, leaving to make a two-year tour of Europe. Later he studied law, and in 1848 began practice in New York City, as an associate of his brother-in-law, Judge James W. White. There he remained until 1861. In that year he was called back to Binghamton by his father's last illness, and subsequently made it his home. After many years of active practice, he retired to devote his entire time and abilities to legal authorship, many of his works being considered standard.

He edited J. H. Dart's "Vendors and Purchasers of Real Estate" (1851); J. F. Archbold's "New System of Criminal Procedure" (1852); Robert Henry Eden's "Treatise on the Law of Injunctions" (1852); Alonzo C. Page's "Reports of Cases in the Court of Chancery of the State of New York" (1852); Murray Hoffman's "Chancery Reports" (1853); George Carnes' "New York Reports" (1854); Elijah Paine's "Reports of Cases Argued and Determined in the Circuit Court of the United States for the Second Circuit, 1816-26" (1856); the fourth American edition of William Paley's "Treatise on the Law of Principal and Agent" (1856), and three volumes of John L. Wendell's "Reports of Cases in the Supreme Court of Judicature . . . . . of New York, 1828-41" (1857). He was the author of a "Treatise on the Civil Jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace . . . . . in the State of New York" (1849); a three-volume work, "The American Chancery Digest" (1851); "Treatise on the Civil and Criminal Jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace for the States of Wisconsin and Iowa" (1853), originally written by his brother Joshua; "Treatise on the Principles of Law and Equity Which Govern Courts in the Granting of New Trials in Cases Civil and Criminal" (1855); "Digest of the Reported Decisions of the Superior Court and of the Supreme Court of Errors of the State of Connecticut from the Organization of Said Courts to the Present Time" (1858).

After his return to Binghamton, he published several more books on legal subjects, the latest being "A Treatise on the Law of Corporations" (2 vols. 1888). Shortly after, he suffered a stroke of paralysis, which partially incapacitated him during his last years.

A daughter wrote of him in his last days: "Father is a very fine looking man, a high forehead, brown eyes that sparkle now, after three strokes, and a long face. . . . . He always told the servant to feed all tramps, so many came to the house. . . . . A great person to joke when he was well. . . . . One time two playmates and I got some of Father's law writing out of a trunk, and used it to build a fire. Even then he did not whip me, as I deserved."

Mr. Waterman and his wife were married by her father, Rev. Edward Andrews, an Episcopal clergyman of Binghamton. He was from Connecticut and rector of Christ Church, Binghamton, fourteen years; his wife was daughter of Edward Harper, an early professor of mathematics in King's [Columbia] College, New York. Mrs. Waterman was short in stature, a handsome and talented woman. Mr. Waterman was a Democrat; not a church member, but attended Christ Church with his wife.

1139-1. CAMERON DAVENPORT[8] WATERMAN (Joshua Whitney[7], Thomas Glasby[6], David[5], David Bassett[4], John[3], Thomas[2], Robert[1]), born at Bath, N. Y., 9 Aug. 1852, died at Detroit, Mich., 20 Feb. 1923; married at Detroit, 12 Feb. 1878, ELIZABETH HALL BEACH, born at Pontiac, Mich., 8 Aug. 1857, died at Detroit, Mich., 4 May 1920, daughter of Eben Charles and Harriet R. (Hall) Beach.

Like his father and grandfather, he was a graduate of Yale College (B.A., 1874). His preparatory training was received at the Detroit High School. He was a member of the Class Crew during all four years, and of the University Crew in Junior year. He was also captain of the '74 Boat Club for three years. He was a member of the Class Glee Club, and of the Yale Glee Club in Junior and Senior years, and for two years sang in the College Choir. In Junior year he took part in the Gymnastic Exhibition for the benefit of the Yale Navy, and in Senior year he played on the university football team, taking part in the first Yale-Princeton game. He was treasurer of the Yale Shooting Club, and in Senior year served on the Committee on the new Boat House and on the Thanksgiving Jubilee Committee, and was Class Historian.

After graduation he traveled abroad, and then purchased a farm on Grosse Ile, about twelve miles below Detroit in the Detroit River. This was his legal residence for the remainder of his life, although he lived in Detroit during the winter months. In addition to the management of his farm, he was engaged in the real estate business to the extent of subdividing and selling property of his own in and around Detroit, and at the time of his death he held a half interest in the real estate firm of C. W. Harrah. Mr. Waterman also owned a large plantation in Cuba, and at one period of his life spent much of his time there.

He was a pioneer among the Great Lakes yachtsmen. He had owned a yacht since 1879, and cruised almost every summer, his usual trip being to and along the north shore of Lake Superior. He was one of the few yachtsmen who were licensed pilots. He held a pilot's license covering the Great Lakes from Buffalo to Duluth, and a certificate from the United States Government as master of steam vessels.

His love for outdoor exercise was expressed in the days of the bicycle by numerous trips from Detroit through New York and the Atlantic States, and for many years by annual bicycle tours in Europe. At that time he became a life member of the Touring Club of France. With the advent of the earliest American motor cars, he began to cover by automobile his favorite tours in the United States, and until the time of his death made from two to four trips each year. His love of music and amateur theatricals, which began in college, lasted throughout his life, as was evidenced by his active interest in the Boylston and Comedy clubs, as well as by membership in the Detroit Symphony Society and the Harmonic Society.

He was a life member of the Y. M. C. A., and was president of the Davenport Home for Orphan Children at Bath, an institution founded by his grandfather, Ira Davenport. He was a communicant of Christ Church (Prot. Episcopal), Detroit, which, as well as St. Thomas' Episcopal Church in Bath, the Arnold Home for the Aged, and the Protestant Orphan Asylum in Detroit, were benefited by his will.

He was graduated from Yale College (B.A., 1901), and from the Yale Law School (LL.B., 1904). While in college he was captain of the University Crew in 1903. He became an attorney-at-law, and a manufacturer and manager of real estate. He invented and patented the first "Outboard Motor" in 1905, and the following year founded the Waterman Marine Motor Co. to manufacture them. There was no other outboard on the market for several years. He is a Presbyterian, and since 1922 Elder of the Grosse Pointe Memorial Church (until 1932 or thereafter). In the World War, he was Civilian Aero. Mechanical Engineer, Sept. to Dec. 1917; enlisted and commissioned, 20 Dec. 1917, Captain, Signal Corps, U. S. R. C. In 1918 he designed Air Service and Signal Corps Standard Machine Shop Truck and Equipment. He was appointed Chief of Transportation, Air Service, A. E. Mrs. Engle was fêted by school-children at South Pasadena, Calif., 15 Mar. 1936, on the occasion of her 101st birthday. "Bearing flowers, poems and messages, twenty-five children from Miss Mattaline Crabtree's class at the Marengo Avenue school presented a brief program for Mrs. Engle as they have been doing on her birthday for the past ten years. Grandma Engle responded with one of her famous smiles, which, friends say, are worth walking miles to see. Mrs. Engle has always been an ardent reader and corresponded with forty or more friends in various parts of the country until she was 95. Failing eyesight has deprived her of this pleasure during recent years. Born in Coolville, Ohio, Mrs. Engle served as a school-teacher prior to her marriage to the late Richard Engle. She held the office of postmistress at Camp Chase during the Civil War. Mrs. Engle has resided in South Pasadena for twenty-nine years, devoting herself to service in the First Methodist Church. She is a strong Republican and has been her family's 'political observer' for years. She makes her home with her two sons, William B. and Edwin C. Engle, at 1308 Marengo Avenue."

1194. (Capt.) James[7] Waterman (Anthony[6], Anthony[5], Thomas[4], Anthony[3], Joseph[2], Robert[1]), born at Scituate, Mass., 19 Feb. 1798, died at South Scituate, Mass., 28 Apr. 1877, aged 79; married at Hanover, Mass., 16 May 1830, Huldah Copeland, born at South Scituate, 26 June 1804, died at Hanover, 1 Feb. 1882, aged 77, daughter of Ebenezer and Sarah (Winslow) (Waterman) Copeland.

He was a tanner and currier, and had a tannery on the old Turner and Copeland place, South Scituate.

Administration on the estate of James Waterman of South Scituate was granted, 27 Aug. 1877, to Huldah Waterman of South Scituate; sureties, John B. Bates of South Scituate and Eben C. Waterman of Hanover. Lydia C. Bates of Hanover, for $500.00, paid by Ebenezer C. Waterman of Hanover, Administrator, released to him her interest in the estate of James Waterman, 22 Sept. 1882. [Probate Rec. Plymouth County, 138-192; 153-378.]

Mrs. Waterman joined St. Andrew's Church (of Scituate to 1811, then of Hanover), 7 Apr. 1835, and her husband, 28 Mar. 1842. In 1882 an altar cross made of the wood of the three successive chancel-rails in St. Andrew's by Ebenezer Copeland Waterman as a memorial to his parents, was presented when the Alms were offered. A silver plate on the upper step of the cross has engraved on it these words, "In Remembrance of James and Huldah Waterman."

1201. LEMUEL CUSHING[7] WATERMAN (Samuel[6], Anthony[5], Thomas[4], Anthony[3], Joseph[2], Robert[1]), born at Scituate, Mass., 14 July 1814, died at Boston, Mass., 11 Mar. 1889, aged 74-7-28; married at Hanover, Mass., 27 May 1839, ELIZABETH BROWN GOODING, born at Boston, Mass., 3 Oct. 1814, died at Hanover, 2 Mar. 1899, aged 84, daughter of Henry and Elizabeth (Brown) Gooding.*

He was educated at Hanover Academy, and began work in a wholesale dry-goods store in Boston. After two years, he returned to South Scituate and taught school. At twenty-five he married, and soon after he was employed in the tack factory of Samuel Salmond at Tiffany, being superintendent at one time, and remaining until Mr. Salmond's death.

In 1860 L. C. Waterman & Co. leased a part of the old tack factory on Project Dale, with dam power, of George Curtis. The original firm was composed of five partners:—Lemuel Cushing Waterman, Josiah M. Smith,

* Henry Gooding was a watch and clock dealer, who carried on business in Dock Square, Boston.

George P. Clapp, William J. Kender, and William P. Winslow, all practical tack makers. Twelve machines were put in at first with a capacity of fifty to sixty tons per year, the full force of persons employed being eight to ten. Mr. Waterman subsequently bought out the interests of his partners and took into the firm his son Rodolphus Cushing, and later, his son Iraeneus Lloyd, and the style changed to L. C. Waterman & Sons. In 1870 the firm purchased the entire factory property and power of George Curtis, and thereafter made extensive improvements as the business increased. In 1875 L. C. Waterman retired from active connection with the business, devoting his time to the care of the George Curtis estate, of which he was trustee. The George Curtis Library at Hanover is one of the benefactions of the estate.

In 1855 he was appointed as justice of the peace and after that was continuously appointed. For several years he served on the school committee of South Scituate, and for five years was a member of the board of assessors, the latter part of the time being chairman. He was also a selectman and overseer of the poor. In 1858 he represented his town in the first session of the General Court, his district including Hanover and South Scituate. After the close of that session he publicly declined to become a candidate for a public office.

He and his wife joined St. Andrew's Church, Hanover, 6 Nov. 1842. He was a churchman from 1860 and senior warden of St. Andrew's. (His son, Rodolphus, was also senior warden of St. Andrew's for many years until his death in 1917.) For a number of years he was a director of the Hanover Branch Railroad. He lived on the homestead purchased by Anthony Waterman in 1761 from Capt. Joseph Sylvester. He left his business to his three sons.

1203. Foster[7] Waterman (Jotham[6], Anthony[5], Thomas[4], Anthony[3], Joseph[2], Robert[1]), born at Barnstable, Mass., 2 June 1805, died at Nantasket Beach, Mass., 22 July 1870; married at South Scituate [Norwell], Mass., 13 Apr. 1830, Charlotte Vose Cushing, born at Boston, Mass., 12 Feb. 1809, died there 16 May 1891, aged 82-3-4, daughter of George and Nancy (Cushing) Cushing.

Mr. Waterman began life as a ship-carpenter, serving his apprenticeship with Noah Brooks, of South Boston. He became known as one of the most skilful and enterprising ship-builders in Medford, where for many years he was engaged in business as a member of the firm of Waterman & Ewell. The superiority of their workmanship rendered Medford ships famous on every sea.

By 1850 he retired from ship-building, and engaged in pursuits connected with commerce, navigation, and real estate enterprises in Boston. Endowed with a shrewd business talent, he was successful in these undertakings, and acquired an ample fortune. His strict integrity and sound judgment caused him to be held in high esteem by the business community, while he won friends by his unaffected simplicity of character, social disposition, kindness, and generosity. He was a director of the Home for Aged Men and the Home for Orphans, contributing liberally to their support during his life, and remembering them by legacies in his will. He was a member of the Episcopal Church, and for many years a vestryman in St. Paul's Church, Boston. He gave his influence and money to Christian efforts in a benevolent spirit without regard to denominational differences.

1228. Perry Green[7] Waterman (Zebulon[6], Bildad[5], Zebulon[4], Anthony[3], Joseph[2], Robert[1]), born 19 Sept. 1796, died at Glenmore, N. Y., 15 Sept. 1877; married first, ——— ———; married second, at Charleston Four Corners, Montgomery Co., N. Y., 12 Sept. 1830, Hephzibah Thompson, born 22 Mar. 1800, died at Camden, N. Y., 17 or 18 July 1885, daughter of Thomas and ——— (———) Thompson.

Perry G. Waterman was listed at Columbus, Chenango Co., N. Y., in the 1820 Census, aged 16 to 26, with another male under 10 years.

Pension Files, W. O. 32301, W. C. 16548. Application for pension of Hepzibah Waterman filed 25 Sept. 1878; post-office Camden, Oneida Co., N. Y. Perry G. Waterman enlisted in Otsego Co., N. Y., and was discharged at Sackett's Harbor, N. Y. Bounty Land Claim, 18 Oct. 1859, shows he served in Capt. Asa Chatfield's Co., 5 Oct. 1814 to 11 Nov. 1814. Hepzibah Waterman, of Camden, aged 77, made affidavit 16 Sept. 1878, stating her marriage at Charlestown, Montgomery Co., 12 Sept. 1830, and the death of Perry G. at Glenmore, 15 Sept. 1877. Bounty Land Warrant No. 90117 issued to soldier; signature witnessed by James Secor of Florida, N. Y., who had known him two years, and by David Brewster of Annsville, who had known him fifteen years. John Hicks of Southburg, aged 73, certified his presence at the wedding of Perry G. Waterman to Hepzibah Thompson by Justice Kimball about 1830. Belinda Chilson of Camden, aged 63, knew Hepzibah when but 16 years old; she lived at Charleston, Four Corners, Montgomery County, and was present at marriage of Perry G. Waterman to Hepzibah Thompson by Kimble, Justice of the Peace. Stephen Simpkins, aged 77, and William H. Bullock, aged 29, both of East Florence, Oneida County, N. Y., attended the funeral of Perry G. and have lived neighbors to Hepzibah ever since; she has never remarried; witnesses, W. B. Waterman and Enoch Simpkins. On 5 Aug. 1887, Camden, Oneida County, Western B. Waterman, aged 54, son of Perry G. and Hepzibah, made oath that Hepzibah died 17 July 1885. Joseph Stark, aged 52, produce merchant, of Camden, testified that the record of death says 18 July 1885, but the family say 17 July.

Perry G. Waterman of Paris, Oneida Co., N. Y., bought 56 acres, part of Lot 27, in the 7th Grand Division of Coxe's Patent, 1 Mar. 1838, from Stephen Savage of Paris. He sold 46 acres of that Lot, 25 Mar. 1839, with wife Hepzibah, being still of Paris, to John Grandy of Paris. On 23 July 1843, Perry G. Waterman and wife Hepzibah of Annsville, sold to Zebulon Waterman of Winfield, 129 acres in Lot 56 in 3d township of Scriba's Patent; witnessed by Asa W. Hyde. [Deeds, Oneida County, 91-125, 127; 110-263.]

He was not listed at Paris in the Oneida County Census in 1835, so probably settled there in 1838 about the time of his purchase there; he moved to Annsville between 1839 and 1843.

On 1 May 1846, David S. Jones and Hervey K. Bogert, executors of the estate of Augustine Hicks Laurence, sold to Perry G. Waterman of Annsville, 129 acres in Lot 56 in 3d township of Scriba's Patent; and on 21 Sept. 1860, Perry G. Waterman and wife Hepzebah of Annsville conveyed to Western B. Waterman of Annsville, part of Lot 56 in 3d township of Scriba's Patent, bounded south by 43 acres deeded 21 Sept. 1860 to Washington S. Waterman. [Deeds, Oneida County, 326-279, 282.]

The above record is terribly written; some of the names are scarcely decipherable, and some of the ages are grossly inaccurate. Furthermore, the four younger children are separated from the rest of the family, coming at the top of a page following an Irish family on the preceding page headed by one Canada Burnix. It is clear from this and other indications that some of the pages were wrongly numbered and hence bound in the wrong order.

1229. JOHN[7] WATERMAN (Zebulon[6], Bildad[5], Zebulon[4], Anthony[3], Joseph[2], Robert[1]), born 1798, died at Moline, Rock Island Co., Ill., between 1870 and 1876; married EMELINE SHEPARD, born at Hartford, Conn., 6 Oct. 1805, died , daughter of Aaron and Mercy (Crocker) Shepard.

John Waterman was listed in the Census of 1840 at Grove, Allegany Co., N. Y., aged 40 to 50, with 1 female 30 to 40, 2 females 5 to 10, and 1 male and 1 female under 5. John Waterman of Allegany County bought land at Grove, 13 Mar. 1837, from William B. Welles of Utica, N. Y.; and with his wife Emeline sold the same property, 15 Aug. 1842. [Land Rec. Allegany County, 14-51, 52.]

He was in Winfield, listed with his father, in the 1860 Census, but was described as of Moline in 1865; and George H. Edwards was administrator of his estate in Moline in 1876.

According to a grand-nephew, he married "among the Mormons, became a bit unbalanced mentally, returned to East Winfield, N. Y., took a 7-pound axe, built a log cabin in the woods and lived there by himself." That there is some foundation for the story is indicated by the 1860 Census record, when John was listed in East Winfield apart from his family, and also by the change his father made in his will between 1861 and 1863, whereby John was to receive only the interest of his share during life.

Census of 1860, Moline Village, Rock Island Co., Ill.:

	age		born
George H. Edwards	29	Painter	Vt.
Maria M. "	24	Wife	N. Y.
Milton F. "	2		Ill.
Fanny Watterman	18	Teacher	N. H.
Emeline "	54	mother-in-law	Conn.

Census of 1870, Moline township, Rock Island Co., Ill.:

	age	born
John Waterman	73	N. Y.	(Insane)
Emerline "	65	Conn.
Sarah Prosens	31	N. Y.	(lives with mother)
Emma "	10	Minn.
Charles "	8	Minn.
Lotta "	6	Minn.
[Also, separated by thirty-eight pages]
John Waterman	70	N. Y.	Farmer
Emeline "	61	N. Y.

It will be noted that in 1860, when John had returned to his father in New York State, his wife was living with her daughter, Mrs. Edwards; while in 1870 Mrs. Waterman was living apart from her husband, with her daughter, Mrs. Prosens, yet John turned in a separate statement, as a result of which he and Emeline were twice listed.

Emeline Waterman (born at Hartford, Conn., 6 Oct. 1805, daughter of Aaron and Mercy Sheperd), received a blessing at Nauvoo, Ill., 17 June 1845. [Church of Latter-Day Saints, Historian's Office, Patriarchal Blessings, 9-247.] She was endowed 18 Dec. 1845. [Nauvoo Supplement, Temple Records.] Lucy Waterman, born 28 Feb. 1829, was in Nauvoo at the Temple, 10 Jan. 1846; it is believed that this refers to the daughter of Emeline.

Children of John and Emeline (Shepard) Waterman:

i. MARY ANN[8], m. ——— COREY.
ii. JOHN, d. young.
iii. LUCY, b. 28 Feb. 1829; m. ——— MCCURDY.

1234. Eliza Matilda[7] Waterman (Henry[6], Zebulon[5], Zebulon[4], Anthony[3], Joseph[2], Robert[1]), born 10 Dec. 1810, died ; married at First Congregational Church, Hartford, Conn., 19 Aug. 1833, (Hon.) Edwin Denison Morgan, born at Washington, Mass., 8 Feb. 1811, died at New York, N. Y., 14 Feb. 1883, son of Jasper and Catherine (Copp) Morgan.

The Morgan Genealogy of 1869 contains the following account: "Gov. Morgan was a native of Massachusetts, though of the recent Groton, Conn. stock. All his ancestors were born and buried in Groton, the old hive of our family. His father was also born there, and settled there after his marriage, but in 1809, removed to Washington, Berkshire Co., Mass. where he resided a few years, and where this son, Edwin D. was born. He subsequently returned to Connecticut, and settled in Windsor, where his sons were reared as farmer's boys, attending the local free Academy at that place, in winter;

Edwin D. also attending one term at Bacon Academy, at Colchester, in the winter of 1826; and this comprised all his school advantages. In 1828, at the age of 17, he entered as clerk in the wholesale grocery store of his uncle, Nathan, at Hartford; became partner in the business in 1831, at the age of 20; and soon after majority he was chosen a common councilman in the city government. In 1836, he removed to New York city, where he has ever since resided; extensively and with eminent success devoted to commercial pursuits, accumulating a princely fortune. In 1849, he was elected Alderman of the city, and the same year was elected State Senator for two years, and re-elected in 1851, serving two terms. In 1855, he was appointed a Commissioner of Emigration, and held that office until 1858; was a Vice-president of the National Republican Convention, at Pittsburgh, which nominated John C. Fremont, for President of the U. S. and was then chosen chairman of the National Republican Committee, and continued in that office eight years, and until 1864, when he became the Chairman of the Union Congressional Committee. In 1858, he was elected Governor of the State of New York, for two years; his administration a popular and successful one, and in 1860, he was re-elected for another term; the only re-election to that office which had occurred in twenty years. In 1861, Sept. 30, he was appointed by President Lincoln, a Major General of Volunteers, and the state of New York was created a military department, under his command; for which services as Major General he declined to receive pay. In 1863, he was elected a Senator from that state, in the Congress of the U. S. for six years; serving on the Committee on Finance, on Commerce, on the Pacific Railroad, and the Congressional Library."

He was founder of the banking house of E. D. Morgan & Co., New York City. In 1867 he received the degree of LL.D. from Williams College. He gave $300,000.00 to that college, including Morgan Hall, a dormitory. He served as U. S. Senator from 1863 to 1869. He was chairman of the Republican National Committee in 1872. In 1876 he was nominated again for Governor of New York, and was defeated. In 1881 he was offered and declined the office of Secretary of the Treasury in the Cabinet of President Arthur.

1240. MARY ELIZABETH[7] WATERMAN (Levi Lincoln[6], David[5], Josiah[4], Thomas[3], Robert[2], Robert[1]), born in Virginia, 26 or 30 Oct. 1821, died ; married 15 Feb. 1842, JOHN SYLVESTER BOOHER, born in Tenn.

The Boohers are said to be of French origin, coming to America in colonial days after a sojourn in Holland. Some of the family spell the name Booker. J. S. Booher and his family moved in 1873 from Virginia to Texas, locating first in Lamar County and a year later moving to Hood County, where he followed farming, milling and stock raising. He was an old line Whig, but after the war supported the Democratic party. He served (with his eldest son) two years in Co. I, 48th Va. Vol. Inf., in the Civil War, and later was Captain of a reserve force. His wife was a member of the Methodist Church South. He is remembered as fond of practical jokes.

Children of John Sylvester and Mary Elizabeth (Waterman) Booher:

i. George L.[8], b. in Sullivan Co., Tenn., 6 July 1842; d. 26 Nov. 1927; m. 24 Feb. 1881, Nannie D. Fuller, b. at Fair Mount, Ga., 15 Feb. 1858, dau. of Samuel O. and E. S. (Bates) Fuller. He served in the Civil War, in Co. I, 48th Va. Vol. Inf., and participated in the engagements around Petersburg and at Appomattox. After the war he went to school for three years, then engaged in teaching in Virginia and for two years after the family removed to Texas. He was then Deputy County Clerk for three years, Deputy Sheriff two years, and in 1882 was elected Sheriff. On his retirement from that office a year later, he divided his attention between stock raising and teaching. In school he had studied civil engineering, which helped to qualify him for the office of Surveyor of Somervell County, to which he was elected in 1889 and filled for several years. Democrat; Methodist; member of Glen Rose Lodge, No. 525, A. F. and A. M. His wife was a member of the Missionary Baptist Church. Being in public office, he said he would have a name that people could spell, and changed the spelling to Booker. Children [Booker]:

Collection of C. C. P. Waterman.

"David Levi Dickey spent his first sixteen years on the old homestead his grandfather Levi Lincoln Waterman and grandmother Mary Ann (Cutler) Waterman established in Washington County, southwest Virginia, in 1820.

After the death of his parents he went, with his two brothers, Jim and Will, and sister Mary, to live with their Dickey relatives at Sweetwater, Tenn.

He entered Hiwassee College that fall and spent two years in this institution. He taught school in Arkansas for some two years. He then took up the study of medicine, and was associated with Dr. Duncan in a drug store in Atlanta, Ga. Not having money to attend Medical School, he gave up the study of medicine. He went to Florida where Jim was living and remained there one year. Then he went to Texas, and engaged in farming. In the fall of 1888 he and his brother-in-law, Rufus Echols, came to Greer County, and became members of the Dickey Colony. In the early part of 1889, he returned to Texas, and was married to Lulu Echols. He made two crops on her father's farm. Then, in the fall of 1890, he moved with his wife and baby and his father and mother-in-law to his homestead at Olustee, Okla.

The developing of a farm on that new land was hard and difficult. The hardships were borne by the women and children as well as the men. The native sod was tough and difficult to turn and get into shape for planting. The first years the wheat yield was very good, but when the boys had considerable acreage in cultivation, a period of drouth years set in and crop yields were reduced to almost nothing. The crop failures of 1894-6 reduced the settlers to penury. The whole northwest Texas country was almost depopulated. Hundreds of families left their homes, never to return.

In some way the Dickey boys were enabled to stay with their claims. The drouth was the cause of all that country turning from exclusive small grain farming to the raising of cotton and the diversifying of crops. This was a great blessing and placed farming on a firmer basis.

Lulu and Vada, Jim's wife, are deserving of much praise for their heroic attitude during these distressing years. They had never been accustomed to such hardships and self-denials before. With their young children around, they went about their daily duties with smiling faces and uncomplaining spirits. And the Lord wonderfully blessed them for their fidelity. With the coming of better crops and the railroad, the community was built up. Better school and church facilities were afforded their children, better houses were built, and homes made more comfortable.

David and Lulu had ten children who grew to maturity,—four boys and six girls. These all received high school educations, and some received college degrees.

In middle life, David responded to his call to the ministry, which he probably had felt from boyhood. On account of his large family he was not permitted to enter into the public ministry but for a short time. His preaching was clear and forceful, of the expository type. He raised his children around a family altar, and that religious influence is manifested to this day in the lives of children, in-laws, grandchildren and great-grandchildren to the number of 43 persons. David and Lulu lived to see them all grown, and most of them married. They are both buried in the Olustee Cemetery near their old home. Many call them blessed."

"James Witten Dickey, after his father's death in 1876, went to Sweetwater, Tenn., to make his home for two years with uncle Andrew Dickey. He then entered Hiwassee College for a period of two years. Next he attended the University of Tennessee at Knoxville for two years. After his years of schooling he located in Orlando, Fla., for some three or four years.

In 1888, having saved up a sum of money, his pioneer spirit prompted him to seek free land in northwest Texas country. He first stopped in Stephens County and visited with his cousin Nathan Booher, whose family had migrated from Clear Branch, Va., to Texas in 1875. Nathan assisted him in getting an outfit of horses, wagon, camp utensils, gun and dog. He traveled a number of days northwest toward the Red River. At Quanah, Texas he learned of the great opportunities in Greer County, north of Red River. He settled on a section of land in the forks of Turkey Creek and Salt Fork of Red River. This was the beginning of the Dickey Colony in Okla. The residential section of Olustee, Okla. is on the northeast quarter of this section of land. Members of the Dickey family have been residents of that community for over fifty years.

Insignificant incidents, at the time, sometimes change the whole tenor of human lives. Will had made a visit to Tennessee. His story of the possibilities of the West was attractive to young men of pioneer spirit. Bob Byrd, son of a prominent family, was greatly interested in Will's account. One cold day in Dec. 1889, Bob and Stonewall Margrave, his cousin, showed up at the old dugout of the Dickeys. They both secured beautiful tracts of land.

In the summer of 1890 Vada Byrd, Bob's sister, came out to keep house for him. hoping to improve her health. Jim and Vada had never met before and it seemed providential that they should meet in this wild west country. They were ideally suited to each other. Vada returned to her Tenn. home in the fall of 1891. Jim went to Tenn. in Jan. 1892. In a few weeks they were married and returned to Okla. Vada adapted herself to the hard pioneer life. Thus was laid the foundation of another happy home of the Dickey Colony.

The coming of the railroad in 1903 made a great change in the community. The town of Olustee was established on quarters just north of Jim and Will. Better school and church facilities were furnished the children. They had the benefit of the local High School and also college training. Thus the children grew to maturity, were married and established homes of their own. Jim and Vada's religious lives were of the highest quality. Their faith and hope were 'both sure and steadfast.' They were honored and respected by all who knew them. Jim was a fond father and devoted husband. Vada was an exceptional mother, a loving wife and helpful companion. Their greatest contribution to society was the children they raised.

Their deaths were somewhat premature, being in their early sixties. They had both contracted influenza, which developed into pneumonia. Jim passed away first, Vada followed in five days. The two lovers died, as probably they wished, and went 'home' together. They are buried at Durant, Okla."

"Mary Ann Cutler Dickey, after the death of her parents, went to Sweetwater, Tenn., where it was her good fortune to be placed in the home of her Uncle and Aunt David A. Browder. Aunt Lettie was her father's only sister. The family consisted of five boys and one girl. Bettie, the daughter, was some two or three years older than Mary. No orphan girl was more fortunate than Mary in this lovely, cultured Christian home.

Mary attended school with the other Browder children at the nearby 'County Line' school house, until she was old enough to enter the Sweetwater Female College, under the presidency of Dr. J. H. Brunner and the management of Dr. F. M. Grace. Mary graduated from this college with high honors, taking the gold medal for excellency in mathematics. She also excelled in her art studies. Soon after her graduation, she received an appointment as teacher in mathematics in the Mansfield (La.) Female College, where Dr. Grace was president. After some years of teaching, her health failed, and in the fall of 1885 she and her youngest brother, Will, went to Florida, where her two older brothers David and Jim were living. She kept house for her brothers in Orlando, Fla., the first time the four children had lived together since their father died in 1876.

After several months, the Florida climate not agreeing with Mary, she returned to her Sweetwater home. We next find her teaching art in Whitewright (Texas) College. This was about 1887. She had one very precocious art student. His name was Samuel Houston Landrum. He conceived the idea of becoming an art teacher himself and converting her into a housekeeper. The scheme worked marvelously. We next hear of him teaching at Waco (Texas) Female College. Their first child, Lynn Wiley, was born in Waco. After this, Sam went to Washington, D. C. to study art under a very capable teacher. Mary and the baby went back to the Browder home.

Next we find Sam as art teacher at the Cumberlain University, Lebanon, Tenn. Their second child, Miriam was born here.

Sam decided that he could be more helpful to society as a doctor than as an art teacher. While teaching in the University, he took medical courses at Vanderbilt University, and began his practice of medicine at Ardmore, Okla. Later the famly moved to Whitewright, Texas, and next to Olustee, Okla, where Mary's brothers had lived since 1888. The Dickey Colony was complete. Sam advanced as a physician and surgeon until larger cities demanded his services. They moved to Altus, Okla., and he was wonderfully successful in his profession until his useful and self-denying life was ended by an auto accident.

Soon afterward Mary moved to Austin, Texas, so that her children could have the advantages of the University of Texas. Lynn completed his academic studies and then took a law course. He had to give up his law practice because of poor hearing. He then turned to newspaper work, and has made a wonderful success as a writer. He is now a popular columnist on the Dallas News. Miriam completed her academic course and majored in music. She has very successfully established and manages the Austin Musical Institute.

Mary is still living, keeping house for Miriam and takes great pleasure in her children and grandson."

"William Alfred and Susan Letitia Dickey were twins, the youngest of the family. The mother of the twins died when they were two and a half years old. Susan Letitia joined her mother in 1874. Their father died 1876. That summer the Dickey children—David, Jim, Mary and Will, went to Tennessee to make their homes with their Dickey relatives. Will made his home with his Dickey grandparents. Under their loving care and supervision he received wonderful training that was a blessing through all his future years.

He attended public and private schools until he was 15 years old, when he entered Hiwassee College. His health failed, and in the fall of 1885 he and his sister Mary went to Florida. There he learned the printer's trade and continued this work until the summer of 1888, when he left for northwest Texas to join his brother Jim in acquiring land in what was known as Greer County, Texas, afterwards a part of Oklahoma.

David Dickey joined his brothers in the fall of 1888. The three brothers went through all the privation and hardships of pioneer life. They 'batched' together until the two older brothers married. Then Will continued his bachelor life in his 'dugout' until 1895. In the spring of this year, during a very spirited revival, Will surrendered to his call to the ministry, and began making plans to attend college and complete his education.

The wheat crop of 1895 was a total failure, so the only source Will had to raise money for college was to sell some young horses he had raised. In August of that year he and Joe Hardin, a friend, started east to dispose of six head of horses. There was not much demand for horses, so they traveled across five states and into East Tennessee before they were all sold.

Will entered Emory and Henry College in Va. in Jan. 1896 and continued there until June 1897. In July of that year he returned to Okla. and filed on the homestead he had left in 1895. He also made application to purchase his west quarter at $1.25 per acre. In due time he received Government patents to 320 acres of land.

He joined the Indian Mission Conference (now Oklahoma Conference) in November 1898 at Norman, Okla. His first appointment was Wapanucka, on the line of the Choctaw and Chickasaw nations. Contracting malaria, he asked to be sent into the northwest part of Okla. He was appointed to Cheyenne on the Washita River. His health was not much better here, and on his doctor's advice he transferred in Nov. 1900 to Alamogordo, New Mexico. His church was burned in Feb. 1901, and was not rebuilt until that fall. Will was assigned to do missionary work in the Sacramento Mountains. He expected to be returned for another year, but was appointed to Lordsburg, New Mexico, near Arizona line, the hardest appointment in the Conference. This was his hardest 'knock.' Will was hurt and his people at Alamogordo did not help matters much by advising him not to go. With Luke and Selem to his light wagon, he once more traveled west. For five days he had a chance to talk with the Father about his heartache and got the victory. He never let his people know that he did not like his appointment. He did not know at that time that God had his greatest blessing awaiting him in that wicked town. Before he decided to preach, he tried to marry; after his decision, he delayed to find the ideal minister's wife. The 'Ruth' who has been his constant companion, sharing his joys and triumphs, his labors and hardships, through a long period of years, was there waiting for him.

William A. Dickey and Mary (Crocker) Dickey were married in the Methodist Church in Lordsburg, New Mexico, 19 Feb. 1902, Rev. J. T. French officiating. Their two years at Lordsburg were the most gratifying and happy of all the years of their Christian activity.

On account of Will's poor health, he and Mary returned in 1903 to the old homestead at Olustee, Okla. They remained there until the fall of 1910, when again they started west and located at Chino, Calif. Will was appointed postmaster of the Chino office, 15 Feb. 1915 and served until Oct. 1923. Mary was his assistant postmaster through these years. They still live there, in their own home." —Contributed.

APPENDIX I

FURTHER ADDENDA TO VOLUME I

55. Daniel[4] Waterman (page 112) married second, at Norwich, Conn., 20 Apr. 1763, Elizabeth (———) Haskell, widow of Roger Haskell (page 675). She was probably the Betsey Waterman who married at First Church, Norwich, 10 Apr. 1791, William Huntington. He was born 1 Feb. 1736/7, died 4 July 1816; resided at Norwich and Lebanon, Conn., and Middlebury, Vt.; this was his third marriage, and probably also her third. [Norwich Vital Rec. 1-545; Huntington Family Memoir (1863), p. 135; Perkins' Old Houses of Norwich, p. 480.]

97, i. Joshua[6] Waterman, born at Plymouth, Mass., 1 Dec. 1757, was perhaps the man of this name whose marriage intention was published at Boston, Mass., 17 Apr. 1780, to Eunice Pratt. He had been in Boston with the American troops. No evidence has been seen that the intended marriage took place.

257. Betsey[6] [or Elizabeth] Waterman (page 345), baptized at Portland, Conn., 13 Oct. 1777; probably married at Blandford, Mass., 21 Feb. 1796, Ebenezer Shoals or Sholes. They soon moved to Rutland, Vt., where they had a son Daniel[7] born 26 Sept. 1800. Daniel married a second wife in Ridgefield, Conn., in 1838. [S. Whitney Phoenix: The Whitney Family of Connecticut (1878), 1-888.]

273. Prince[6] Waterman (page 358) married at Hanover, Mass., 3 Feb. 1791, Lucinda Bates, baptized at Hanover, 21 July 1771, daughter of Solomon and Aquilla (Bates) Bates, and maternally the granddaughter of John Bates of Scituate, Mass. Her parents removed from Hanover, Mass., to Greene, Maine. She married second, Jabez Merritt, and was living in 1853. [The Bates Bulletin, 3rd Series, p. 69.]

361. Ambrose[6] Waterman (page 413) and his first wife, Huldah Sanford, had children in addition to Dwight, Cyrus, and Lovina, among whom were:

> Elmina[7], b. in Vermont, 5 July 1813; d. at Kennedy, N. Y., 10 Aug. 1862; m. at Napoli, N. Y., 19 Feb. 1829, Henry Whitney Gates, b. at Malone, N. Y., 1 Aug. 1806, son of Ira and Clarissa (Heath) Gates. They lived at Ellington, N. Y., until 1855, then removed to Kennedy, N. Y.; he m. (2) 24 Sept. 1863, Jane Wolcott. Elmina had seven children: Harvey[8], Cordelia, Andrew Jackson, Martin, Lucy Jane, Philo, and Henry Clay. Four of the sons (all but Harvey who had died) served in the Civil War. Further details are given in S. Whitney Phoenix: The Whitney Family of Connecticut (1878), 1-519; 2-1213 to 1215.

HARRIET, b. ; m. at Napoli, N. Y., 4 Jan. 1839, ORAMEL GRIFFIN GATES, b. at Perry, N. Y., 3 Nov. 1818, son of Ira and Clarissa (Heath) Gates. He m. (2) Louisa Horr and res. (1874) Beaver Dam, Wis. Harriet had two children, Laura B., and Hiram B. [ib., 1-520; 2-1217.]

412. WILLIAM[6] WATERMAN (page 466) was probably the man of this name who was appointed Paymaster of Maj. James Clapp's Battalion, Montgomery County, N. Y., 1809. [N. Y. Council of Appointment, 2-1055.]

POLLY[7] WATERMAN (page 499), perhaps daughter of Flavius[6] [No. 437], born in Ohio, 7 July 1817, died at Bronson, Branch County, Mich., 5 Apr. 1848; married at Bronson, 12 Aug. 1833, (Hon.) WALES H. ADAMS, born at Medway, Mass., 2 Mar. 1804, died at Bronson, 2 Nov. 1879, son of (Gen.) Eliakim and Hannah Ballard (Plimpton) Adams.

Mr. Adams removed to Bronson, Branch County, Mich., 1830-1, and was Ensign of a company raised to repel the Indians, May 1832. He established mills on a creek eight miles west of Bronson. He was a Democrat; member of the Michigan Legislature, 1844, 1845, and of the Constitutional Convention, 1850.

He was mustered in 25 May, discharged 3 June 1832, as Ensign in Co. 3, in Black Hawk War.

Children of Wales H. and Polly (Waterman) Adams, born at Bronson, Mich.:

i. HAMBLET BARBOUR[8], b. 21 June 1835; an attorney, of Ypsilanti, Mich.; m. at Rome, N. Y., 16 Feb. 1864, JULIA B. PARKHURST, b. at Durhamville, N. Y., 18 Oct. 1840.

FERRAND[7] WATERMAN (page 499), perhaps son of Flavius[6] [No. 437], was listed in the Census of 1850 at Bronson, Branch Co., Mich., as aged 28, born in Ohio. It was probably the same man (name read as Frerran or Frenan Waterman) who was listed as a laborer, aged 40, born in Mich., in the Census of 1860, at Fort Dodge, Webster Co., Iowa, residing with Stephen and Catherine Magher, natives of Ireland. At Fort Dodge in 1860 was also one Maria C. Waterman, aged 20, born in N. Y., living with George W. Reeve (aged 27, b. Ill.) and Jennette Reeve (aged 28, b. N. Y.).

446. JAMES[6] WATERMAN (page 506) had a second wife Anna who survived him, and it was suggested that she married second, 25 June 1828,

Samuel Partridge. This is proved by Norwich Deeds, 7-177. On 14 Jan. 1832, Dyer Waterman of Fairlee, Vt., quitclaimed to Calvin Seaver, Jr., of Norwich, Vt., land "now in the seizure and possesion of Samuel Partridge and Annah Partridge," being all the interest which "I the said Dyer Waterman have in and to the real estate of James Waterman late of Norwich deceased by reason of being the son and one of the heirs at law of the said James Waterman deceased."

497, x. Eliza Isabella[7] Waterman (page 542), b. 4 July 1827, was living in Montpelier, Vt., 1862, in Joliet, Ill., 1864 [Deeds, Montpelier].

531, vi. Robert Asher[7] Gray (page 570), son of Robert and Isabella (Waterman) Gray, born 12 Sept. 1826, died 27 Aug. 1887, married 30 Sept. 1850, Mary Preston Peyton, born 18 Apr. 1829, daughter of (Hon.) John Howe and Anne Montgomery (Lewis) Peyton. They had five children: (1) Susan, b. 28 Apr. 1852, m. 31 Dec. 1889, Rockingham Paul, a lawyer, of Bristol, Tenn.; (2) Isabella Waterman, b. 26 Jan. 1856, m. 28 Nov. 1889, (Dr.) William Sellman Welch, of Annapolis, Md.; (3) Robert, b. 10 Mar. 1859; (4) Howe Peyton, b. 5 Feb. 1861, m. Bessie Massie of Lynchburg, Va.; (5) Preston Lewis, b. 11 Oct. 1866, Commonwealth's Attorney at Bristol, Va., m. 27 Dec. 1893, Mary Stuart Bingham, dau. of (Col.) William Bingham of N. C., who wrote Bingham's Latin Grammar. [Lewisiana, 5-12.]

871. ANNA[7] WATERMAN (Vol. 1, p. 455), born probably about 1768. She may have married first, at the First Church, Lebanon, Conn., 4 Oct. 1787, ROGER ABEL; for no other Anne of proper age and residence has been found. She certainly married (perhaps second), before 8 June 1819, the date of her father's will, ——— KINGSLEY.

1025. MILICENT RILEY[7] WATERMAN (Vol. 1, p. 522), born at Berlin, Conn., 8 Dec. 1805; m. [reported in Connecticut Mirror, issue of 19 June 1826], CALEB H. AUSTIN. It was inferred from Berlin deeds that she died without issue, but this may have been a wrong inference.

1161. WILLIAM B.[7] WATERMAN (Vol. 1, p. 566), born at Troy, Ohio, about 1819; married in Washington County, Ohio, 17 Feb. 1848, SUSAN MARIA STONE, born at Belpre, Ohio, 10 June 1831, died at Portsmouth, Ohio, 21 Jan. 1917, daughter of Jonathan and Lydia (Jones) Stone. She married second, Hiram L. Jackson.

Census of 1850, Troy, Athens Co., Ohio:

1164. HOMER[7] WATERMAN (Vol. 1, p. 566), born at Troy, Ohio, about 1827; married about 1849-50, SARAH ANN RATHBURN, born in Ohio, about 1832, daughter of (Dr.) Alvin Rathburn.

He served as Surgeon in the Union Army; later history not learned.

Census of 1850, Rutland, Meigs Co., Ohio:

	age	born
Alvin Rathburn	58	Conn.	Physician
Margret "	10	Ohio
Richard Richey	24	"	Dental Surgery

Sarah Ann "	18	"

Children, if any, not ascertained.

APPENDIX III

A FEW UNPLACED FAMILIES

The compilers still have a large number of miscellaneous records of Watermans whose place in the Robert Waterman family or in other Waterman families has not yet been determined. Some of these may yet be placed as descendants of the Richard Waterman family of Rhode Island, and it has been decided to hold back publication of most of these records until the third volume is completed. This, it is planned, will contain (1) the Richard Waterman family, (2) several Waterman families which, like the Oliver Waterman family of Dutchess and Albany Counties, N. Y., have been traced for several generations, but which we have not succeeded in connecting with the early colonial families of the name, and (3) miscellaneous records and items relating to Watermans.

In this Appendix we are including only a few records of Watermans who, although unplaced, are believed to descend from the Robert Waterman family.

BALDWIN AND FREDERICK WATERMAN OF MIDDLETOWN, CONN.

Census of 1850, Middletown (City), Middlesex Co., Conn.:

	age	born
Stephen Kingsland	44	Conn.	Blacksmith
Sarah "	43	"
Sarah J. "	14	"
Harriet "	10	"
Selena "	7	"
Stephen "	5	"
Hannah Brion	20	Ireland
David Fountain	23	Conn.	Blacksmith
Allen "	24	"
Baldwin Waterman	24	"	Machinist; married within yr.
Clarissa "	23	"
Frederick "	17	"	Laborer

Probably Baldwin Waterman, born about 1826, and Frederick Waterman, born about 1833, were brothers. Baldwin married 1849-50, and his wife Clarissa was possibly daughter of Stephen Kingsland. No other record of this family has been found in Connecticut, or elsewhere, and further light is desired.

DANIEL WATERMAN OF WALWORTH, N. Y.

Daniel Waterman, born in N. Y., about 1811, died at Walworth, Wayne Co., N. Y., in 1890 or 1891; married Polly Gould, born about 1815, died at Walworth, 25 Jan. 1880, probably daughter of Daniel and Carlintha (———) Gould.

A great-grandson stated that he was from New Jersey, and lived on a farm in Lincoln, Wayne Co., N. Y., from 1833; but his birthplace was stated as New York State in the 1850 Census. He may have been a son of John[7] Waterman [No. 873, page 335], who was living in Wayne County in 1832.

Polly Waterman received land in Walworth from Ebenezer Gould and Israel Gould, 22 Oct. 1851 [Deeds, Wayne County, 51-389, 391]. Evidently Polly's parents lived with her in 1850, and there is no evidence that Daniel ever owned land in his own name.

Census of 1850, Walworth, Wayne Co., N. Y.:

	age	born
Daniel Waterman	39	N. Y.	Farmer
Polly "	35	"
Almond L. "	17	"	Farmer
Daniel Gould	72	"	None
Carlintha "	66	Conn.

The will of Polly Waterman of Walworth, dated 16 Aug. 1878, proved 29 Mar. 1880; aged 65 years; to husband Daniel Waterman the use of 24 acres on which she resides during his life, then to her son Almond L. for life, then to the children of said Almond L. in fee to be equally divided, excepting Glenn Almond and Ora J. who are not to take any interest; said premises were conveyed to Polly by Israel Gould and wife by deed dated 1 Apr. 1846 recorded in Wayne County Deeds, Liber 51, page 391. To Almond L. for life, or until Glenn Almond and Ora J. are 21 years, the 24 acres known as South lot "conveyed to me by Ebenezer Gould and wife" by deed dated 25 Aug. 1849 (Liber 51, page 389), then to go to Glenn Almond and Ora J. Bequests to granddaughters Mary A. Waterman and Rosilla A. Hampshire, to grandson R. D. Waterman, and to Ida Parker daughter of niece Caroline Parker. Executors, her son Almond L. Waterman, her brother Joseph Gould, and her nephew Sanford B. Gould. Witnesses: Marquis D. Gould of Flushing, N. Y.; Joseph Gould of Walworth, N. Y.; Mercy M. Peacock of Walworth, N. Y. Petition for proof of will of Polly Waterman, who died at Walworth 25 Jan. 1880, was made 28 Feb. 1880 by Almond L. Waterman, only heir and next of kin. [Wills, Wayne County, R-38 to 40.]

MISCELLANEOUS

Anson Waterman married 20 Mar. 1854, Clarina [possibly Clarissa] Waterman [Washington County, Ohio, Marriages]. Anson had a deed from Ferrand Waterman [No. 960, page 446; Washington County Deeds, 43-89]. Declaration of Juliani Waterman, 22 Aug. 1877, to administer estate of Anson Waterman; William Bingham appointed [Washington County Probate, Docket F-193; 5-217; Bond C-385].

Blanche E. Waterman, born at Boston, Mass., about 1868, residence Castine, Me., married at Lowell, Mass., 9 May 1893, James F. Ross, a barber, born in Scotland about 1848, his second marriage, son of Thomas and Isabella Ross. She may have been an adopted or foster daughter of Carlos W. and Lucy (Surry) Waterman, see page 167.

Deborah Waterman died at Kingston, Mass., 29 Oct. 1793, aged 20; not identified.

George Waterman, born in Conn., about 1852; married Nellie E. Flannery, born in Athlone, Ireland, June 1855 (by death record), or about 1863 (by birth record of her son), died at Hartford, Conn., 5 Nov. 1931, aged 76 yrs. 5 mos., daughter of Keron and Margaret (Coakley) Flannery. [There was a George Nelson Waterman born in Conn. in 1853, see page 95; but we have no reason aside from age to identify him with the George of the present record.] Following the death of Mrs. Waterman, her son and "only heir" was appointed Administrator [Probate Rec. Hartford, 371-607; 416-534]. Child:

i. Edward Joseph, b. at Hartford, Conn., 5 Oct. 1884.

Jennie E. Waterman married at New Haven, Conn., 29 July 1874, Albert Collins, born in Mass., about 1850. [This could be a first marriage of the Jennie E. at the top of page 404, but there is no reason to suppose so.]

Jesse A. Waterman, born at Brownington, Vt., also given as Barton, Vt., about 1879; married Nancy Mabel Ash, born at Sheffield, Vt., about 1884. A branch of the family which was connected with Barton and Brownington will be found on page 153, but it has not been learned whether Jesse A. belongs to that branch. Children:

i. Lawrence Alfonso, b. at Sheffield, Vt., 18 Mar. 1902.
ii. Child, b. abt. 1904.

iii. Flossie May, b. at Sheffield, Vt., 5 July 1906.
iv. Child, b. abt. 1908.
v. Curtis Bertram, b. at Brownington, Vt., 13 Apr. 1910.
vi. Bessie Buryl, b. at Littleton, N. H., 17 Apr. 1912; d. there 11 Sept. 1912.

Louis Clyde Waterman, born at Columbia, N. H., 22 Feb. 1907. Parents: William Waterman, born at Barton, Vt., about 1887, and Lilla P. Bunnell, born at Colebrook, N. H., about 1887.

Maria L. Waterman, born at East Hartford, Conn., about 1853; married at St. John's Episcopal Church, Hartford, Conn., 11 Nov. 1871, James F. Ward, born at Albany, N. Y., about 1851.

Maria (———) Waterman, born at East Hartford, Conn., about 1855; divorced; married second, at Hartford, Conn., 9 Aug. 1877, Thomas R. King, a widower, born at New Britain, Conn., about 1848.

Russell W. Waterman, born at Appleton, Maine, 10 Feb. 1896, died at Bangor, Maine, 26 Dec. 1928; a farmer; married at Appleton, Maine, 4 June 1924, Lucia J. Belgard, born at Montville, Maine, about 1902, daughter of Elijah and Florence H. (Bennett) Belgard. Children:

i. Sarah Florence, b. at Appleton, 23 Mar. 1925.
ii. Wilber E., b. at Montville, 15 Apr. 1926.

Sarah Waterman m. Josiah Porter, probably son of William, and had eight children, according to J. W. Porter's "A Genealogy of the Descendants of Richard and John Porter" (1878), p. 255; but Salem, Mass., Vital Records show that Josiah Porter married at Rowley in 1749, Sarah Bradstreet. The name Waterman in the Porter book is, we conclude, erroneous.

William Waterman, born at Charleston, Vt., 13 Jan. 1885; married first, at Charleston, 15 Oct. 1903, Edna Bell Bennett, born at Charleston, about 1887, daughter of Charles H. and Flora (Wilson) Bennett; divorced; she married second, at Enfield, Conn., 12 June 1922, Charles H. Allen, born at Westfield, Mass., about 1865, son of Erastus and Georgianna (Hayden) Allen. Mr. Waterman married second, at Derby, Vt., 27 Sept. 1918, Winifred Bertha Mosher. Children by first wife, first three born at Charleston, Vt.:

i. Cecil Ray, b. 14 May 1904; m. at Westfield, Mass., 12 May 1933, Evelyn Leona Dorrington, b. at Westfield, abt. 1910, dau. of Solomon C. and Julia (Volence) Dorrington. Adopted child:
I. Raymond Joseph (born Jose Raymon Dorrington), b. at Westfield, Mass., 16 Feb. 1928.
ii. Ralph Walter, b. 14 Dec. 1905.
iii. Son, b. 16 Sept. 1907; d. 29 Sept. 1907.
iv. Derwood E., b. at Brownington, Vt., 20 June 1909; d. at Barton, Vt., 28 July 1909.
v. Ruth Esther, b. at Westfield, Mass., 17 Mar. 1918; d. there 24 Jan. 1919 ae. 10 mos. 7 days.

APPENDIX IV

THE ISAIAH SHAW FAMILY

I. ISAIAH SHAW, SR.

Isaiah Shaw first bought land near New Brunswick, N. J., 28 Apr. 1761, and settled in Cranbury township; but he was in Middlesex County, N. J., at least four years earlier, for he was one of the appraisers of the estate of James Guiberson, 23 Feb. 1757. [N. J. Archives, 32-136.]

His origin has not been ascertained. Geographically, the nearest Shaw family was that located in Cape May County, N. J., which came there early from Long Island. There were also Shaw families in various parts of New England, on Long Island, and in New York State.

His first wife was Catherine,* who died 13 Mar. 1767, aged 44 yrs. 11 mos. 27 days, hence born about 17 Mar. 1722. His second wife was Ruth [?Disbrow], born about 1744, died about 1826, who married second, 20 Dec. 1792, ——— Knox.

Isaiah Shaw was a wagoner in the Revolutionary War. [Register of Officers and Men of New Jersey in the Revolution, p. 858.]

He died early in 1790, leaving a will dated 2 May 1789:

In the Name of God Amen I Isaiah Shaw of the Southward of New Brunswick being Very Sick and Weak in Body but of perfect mind and Memory thanks be given unto God, Calling unto Mind the Mortality of my Body and knowing that it is appointed for all men once to die do make and ordain this my last Will and testament that is to Say Principally and first of all I give and recommend my Soul into the hands of Almighty God that gave it, and my body I recommend to the earth to be buried in decent Christian Burial at the discretion of my executors Nothing doubting but at the general resurrection I shall receive the same again by the mighty power of God and as touching such worldly estate wherewith it has pleased God to bless me with in this life, I give demise and dispose of the same in in [sic] the following manner and form

Item I give and bequeath and desire that all my funeral Charges and Just debts be first paid out of my estate by my Executors hereafter mentioned.

Item I give and order that my beloved Wife Ruth shall have all the benefits and right to my homested lott of land in manner and form as follows that is that I order my Executors hereafter named to sell and dispose of twenty acres on the North Side of said lott Joyining Henry Letts land to rune, a straight Course as said Letts line runs from Amboy road to Georges road and to divide said twenty acres into Separate lotts to suite the purtchesors or as they think will answer for the Best and the money arising from the Sales to be taken to pay off a certain Mortgage that is upon said lott in the Loane office and the rimanding part of it to pay my Just debts; and after the above debts is discharged if ther is any left I order that it may be given to my Wife, and all the remander of said Lott with the building & priviledges I give to my Wife during her natural life, and shee is to bring up the children untill they are fit to be put out to

* An ancestral chart in possession of a descendant of Isaiah's son John (Mrs. Katharine Woolsey Slack of San Francisco, Calif.) states that John was son of Isaiah Shaw and Charlotte Haver, but the first name of Isaiah's wife is incorrect, and the statement regarding her maiden name may not be authentic. In any event, John's mother was the second wife, Ruth [? Disbrow].

trades which I order my Executors to do, and I desire that my son Isaiah may be bound to my son in law William Newton to learne the Blacksmith's trade and after my Wife's desace I order that the above lott be Sold by my Executors and the money Arising for the Sales of said lott to equaley devided, that is to say to all the Surviving Childring, that is then living of this my last Wife I will and order that it be devided to them Share and Share alike, and I ordain and appoint my loveing wife Ruth to be my Exetrix and my beloved friend James Patton to be my Exetores of this my last Will and testament, disaneling and setting all other Wills aside, and do by these presents declare Signe and Seal this to be my last Will and testament,

In Witness wherein to I have Sett my hand and Seale this second day of May one thousand Seven hundred and eighty Nine 1789

Published and Signed and Sealed in presence of us — Isaiah Shaw (L. S.)
Peter Dewitt
William Egbert Junr.
Ruth Dixbrow (her mark)

The will was proved by testimony of the first two witnesses, 6 Apr. 1790, and probate was granted to Ruth Shaw and James Patton. [Probate Files at Trenton, File 570; recorded in Middlesex County Wills, 30-528.]

In the same file is found the petition of Samuel Shaw, aged over 14, on 30 Mar. 1795, to have Amos Shaw appointed his guardian; and the guardianship bond of Amos Shaw, the same date, with Simon Hillyer as surety, both of Middlesex County.

Amos Shaw and Hannah his wife, of Bernard, Somerset County, N. J., mortgaged land in Bernard, 16 May 1799, and sold it 10 Apr. 1801; and they also sold land in Bernard, 8 Aug. 1801, being then of Middlesex County. [Mortgages, Somerset County, E-326; Deeds, B-763, C-114.]

On 14 Oct. 1795, "James Patton Ex^{r} & Ruth Knox late Ruth Shaw Ex^{x} of Isaiah Shaw dec^{d}" complained that ——— Shaw "Guard^{n} of Samuel Shaw one of the children of the s^{d} dec^{d} has taken the s^{d} Samuel out of their hands," and the Court ordered them to bind out Samuel as the will directs. [Minutes of Orphans Court, Middlesex County, N. J., 1-203.]

It is probable that Amos Shaw was a son of Isaiah by his first marriage, and the complaint may have been made partly because Amos was then living in Somerset County. As shown by the deeds quoted above, however, he moved in 1801 to Middlesex County; and on 1 Apr. 1805 he was of South Brunswick and bought land in "Cranberrytown" from David Chambers and Ruth his wife. [Deeds, Middlesex County, 6-18.]

The complaint shows that the widow Ruth by 1795 had married a man named Knox. The records of the First Presbyterian Church at Cranbury contain an entry of the marriage of Widow Shaw at her house on 20 Dec. 1792, but fail to state the second husband's name. He perhaps soon died or left her, for in later deeds she appears under the name of Ruth Shaw.

A year before Isaiah's death, on 21 July 1788, with Ruth his wife, he sold land in South Brunswick to Samuel Disbrow, and in the description referred to land previously conveyed by him to Henry Disbrow, though the latter deed is not found on record. The deed to Samuel Disbrow was not recorded until long afterwards, and was acknowledged 7 May 1804 by Ruth Shaw, widow of Isaiah. [Deeds, Middlesex County, 5-536.]

The sale of land by Isaiah and Ruth Shaw to Samuel and Henry Disbrow, the fact that two of the Shaw children were named Samuel and Henry, and the further fact that Ruth Disbrow was a witness to Isaiah Shaw's will, make it likely that Isaiah Shaw's wife was a Disbrow or closely connected with the Disbrows. It will be noted that later three of the Shaw sons appointed Samuel Disbrow their attorney to sell their South Brunswick land.

Some of the Shaw children sold their interest in Isaiah Shaw's land, and probably the others gave conveyances which were not recorded or have not been found in the records. The earlier deeds were given in 1814 and 1818, and mention Ruth as living, but they were not recorded until early in 1827, and in 1828 Ruth is referred to as deceased. Since Ruth had a life interest in the land, it is to be inferred that none of the deeds was recorded until after her death, and that she died not very long before 8 Feb. 1827, the earliest date of recording. Her death therefore probably occurred during 1826 or in the first month of 1827.

Deeds of the heirs cannot be quoted in full, but in substance they are as follows. On 16 Feb. 1814, John Shaw of Charleston, Montgomery Co., N. Y., conveyed to Samuel Jackson and Adam Smith of Montgomery County, one-eighth of 64 acres in Cranbury, "as one of the heirs of Isaiah Shaw deceased late of the town of Cranbury . . . . subject to the life of my mother Ruth Shaw widow aged about seventy years agreeable to the will of my late Father Isaiah Shaw aforementioned"; recorded 8 Feb. 1827 [Deeds, Middlesex County, N. J., 19-138.]

Henry Shaw of Charleston, Montgomery Co., N. Y., conveyed 27 Nov. 1818 to Samuel Jackson and Adam Smith of Montgomery County, one-eighth of 64 acres in Cranbury, "subject to the life of my Mother Ruth Shaw widow aged about seventy four years agreeable to the will of my late Father Isaiah Shaw"; recorded 7 Mar. 1827 [ib., 19-179].

George Shaw of South Brunswick, Middlesex Co., N. J., conveyed 10 May 1827 to William McChesney of South Brunswick, one-third of "thirty odd acres" in New Brunswick "formerly belonging to Isaiah Shaw and bequeathed to his wife Ruth during her natural life and then to her surviving children of which said party of the first part is one"; recorded same date [ib., 19-375].

Henry Shaw of the town and County of Schoharie, N. Y., conveyed 12 July 1827 to Samuel Jackson and Adam Smith of Montgomery County, N. Y., his interest in "all the lands tenements and hereditaments of which Isaiah Shaw my father or Ruth Shaw my mother died seized situate in Cranbury, County of Middlesex and State of New Jersey"; recorded 14 July 1827 [ib., 19-517].

On 12 May 1827, Samuel Disbrow of South Brunswick, Middlesex Co., N. J., conveyed to Dr. George Davis of the same place, 22 82/100 acres in South Brunswick, stating that he "has by good and sufficient powers of attorney to him for that purpose directed and delivered and made and executed by John Shaw, Henry Shaw and George Shaw . . . . to grant, bargain, sell and convey"; recorded 21 Apr. 1830 [ib., 22-214].

On 30 May 1828, John Shaw and Joanna his wife of Charleston, Montgomery Co., N. Y., conveyed to Samuel Jackson and Adam Smith of Montgomery County, land in South Brunswick, "which Isaiah Shaw . . . . devised to his wife Ruth Shaw, during her natural life-time, and after her death to her surviving children"; the land, containing 35 acres, is bounded north by lands of Sarah Disbrow and Joseph McChesney, east by the Bordentown Road and South Amboy Turnpike, south by land of Joseph McChesney and Dr. Ralph Lott, and west by the road leading from Cranbury to New Brunswick; recorded 11 June 1828 [ib., 20-383].

Finally, on 4 July 1832, Samuel Jackson of Florida, Montgomery Co., N. Y., quitclaimed to Joseph McChesney of Cranbury, Middlesex Co., N. J., land in Middlesex County "which formerly belonged to Isaiah Shaw deceased and devised to his surviving heirs after the death of Ruth Shaw their Mother widow of said deceased," bounded north and west by the road leading from Cranbury to New Brunswick commonly called Georges Road, north and east by lands belonging to Sarah Disbrow and Joseph McChesney, south and east by the Bordentown and South Amboy turnpike road, and west by lands of Joseph McChesney and Dr. Ralph P. Lott, containing 35 acres [ib., 39-504].

II. ISAIAH SHAW, JR.

Isaiah Shaw, Jr., by his father's will, was to be apprenticed to his brother-in-law, William Newton, to learn the trade of blacksmith. He was born, by his age at death, 16 Aug. 1772. Probably he settled in Charleston, Montgomery Co., N. Y., as early as 1799; he was there, called "Isaah Shaw," in the Census of 1800, his family consisting of himself and one female, both aged 16 to 26. In 1810 Isaiah Shaw was listed at Charleston with a household of one female over 45 (perhaps his wife's mother), one male and one female between 26 and 45 (himself and wife), one female between 10 and 16 (the daughter Susan), and one male and three females under 10 (Hiram, Ruth Ann, and perhaps two other girls who died young).

Isaiah's first purchase in Charleston seems not to have been recorded, but on 9 Mar. 1808 he mortgaged for $515 to Samuel Jackson of Florida, Montgomery Co., N. Y., two pieces of land in the William Curry patent in Charleston (half of Lot 21 and part of Lot 20) containing 100 acres. On 29 Mar. 1814, Isaiah Shaw and Sarah his wife of Charleston mortgaged to James Voorhees of the same, for $700, part of Lot 23, containing 4 1/8 acres. [Mortgages, Montgomery County, 5-346; 9-222.]

On 1 Apr. 1814, Daniel Kimball and Mary his wife, for $1500, sold to Isaiah Shaw the southern half of Lot 22 of the William Curry patent, containing 100 acres; and Isaiah Shaw and Sarah his wife mortgaged the same property back to Daniel Kimball the same day for the same amount. [Deeds, Montgomery County, 16-428; Mortgages, 9-283.]

Isaiah Shaw and Sally his wife, of Charleston, on 27 Apr. 1816, sold to Rufus Parsons of the same, for $400, an acre and 26½ rods in Lot 23 in the Curry patent. [Deeds, Montgomery County, 15-272.]

On 24 June 1816, he mortgaged the land bought from Kimball to Billy B. Brown of Jefferson, Schoharie Co., N. Y., for $300. [Mortgages, Montgomery County, 10-385.]

While residing at Charleston, Isaiah Shaw served as an officer in the New York Militia. He was appointed Cornet of the 1st Squadron, 4th Division of Cavalry, in 1808, and was promoted to 2d Lieutenant in 1815. [N. Y. Council of Appointment, 2-1003, 1610.]

We know from the New Jersey Deeds that Isaiah's brothers John* and Henry also lived in Charleston, though Henry has no deeds recorded and removed to Schoharie. A James Shaw, living at Charleston in 1800 may have been another brother, not mentioned in New Jersey records [Mortgages, Montgomery County, 3-345]. There are a number of John Shaw deeds, but some of them pertain to an unrelated man of that name, who came from Bedford, Mass., in 1795, and was living in Johnstown, Montgomery County, in 1804 [Deeds, Montgomery County, 4-118; 11-87].

Between 1816 and 1818, Isaiah Shaw removed to Albany, N. Y. He was living in that city 10 Oct. 1818, when he mortgaged to Elijah Burton of Hillsdale, Columbia Co., N. Y., for $300, land in the William Curry patent in Clarksfield, containing 100 3/4 acres; the mortgage was released 29 Apr. 1826. [Mortgages, Montgomery County, 11-556; 16-522.]

Isaiah Shaw is buried in the Baptist Church Cemetery in Albany. His gravestone inscription gives his death as 23 May 1826, aged 53 yrs. 9 mos. 7 days. His wife Sarah gave her age as 72, and birthplace New York State,

* The John Shaw (b. 10 Mar. 1760, d. at Albany, 16 July 1826), who had a wife Isabella, was not the brother of Isaiah.

in the Census of 1850, at which time she was living in the family of her daughter, Mrs. Schuyler, in Amsterdam, N. Y. She died at Amsterdam, 14 Dec. 1852, aged 73 yrs. 3 mos. 22 days, birthplace stated as Dutchess County, N. Y. [Sexton's Burial Records, Green Hill Cemetery, Amsterdam, N. Y.]

Her estate was administered by John I. Schuyler, 7 Jan. 1853. The petition for administration states that her only surviving children were Susan the wife of the petitioner of Amsterdam, and Ruth A. Waterman of Albany. [Probate Rec. Montgomery County, Box 56.]

ADDITIONS AND CORRECTIONS TO ALLIED FAMILIES IN APPENDIX OF VOLUME I

ALLYN (page 605). John[2] Allyn m. (1) Elizabeth Gager, dau. of John and Elizabeth (———) Gager. John Gager left a widow Elizabeth [The American Genealogist, 11-154, 155]. John[2] Allyn m. (2) Hester (Allen) Andrews. She was daughter of George Allen of Sandwich and widow of John Andrews of Plymouth [Boston Evening Transcript, 12 Jan. 1927, article by the late Gen. Simeon M. Fox].

BOURNE (page 620). Thomas Tilden, Jr., m. 20 Dec. 1692, Hannah Mendall.

BRADFORD (page 629). Meletiah[3] Bradford m. (2) Samuel Stevens.

ANCESTRY OF SYBIL (CLARK) WATERMAN (chart on page 636, and page 644). John[1] Clark of Farmington, Conn., married Rebecca[2] Marvin, daughter of Matthew and Elizabeth (———) Marvin of Norwalk, Conn.

CUSHMAN (page 646). Robert[1] Cushman m. (2) at Leyden, Holland, 5 June 1617, Mary Singleton [The Mayflower Descendant, 10-193; the day of the month (v) is not very clear in the photograph facing this page, and has been read as 3 (iii)]. Thomas[2] Cushman was bapt. at St. Andrew's, Canterbury, 8 Feb. 1607/8.

(Page 647.) The date of marriage of Eleazer[4] Cushman should evidently be interpreted as 1686/7, not 1687/8.

FRENCH (page 660). The origin of this family will be found in Topsfield, Mass., where Samuel French was born 29 Jan. 1710/11.

GIFFORD (page 663). 4. John[2] Gifford m. Martha Gallup; she was dau. of Thomas Gallup of Plainfield, Conn.

HUNTINGTON (page 670). Ruth[3] Huntington m. 26 May, not Mar. 1681. Judith (Stevens) Brewster was widow of Jonathan Brewster.

Ruth (Rockwell) Huntington's date of birth should read 1633, not 1653.

PEMBER (page 677). Correct parentage of Elizabeth Hackley; her mother was Elizabeth (Waterhouse) (Baker) Hackley, see pp. 672-673.

STURTEVANT (page 681). Samuel[3] Sturtevant m. Mary Price; she was probably b. at Boston, 25 July 1685, dau. of Hugh and Mary (Wright) Price.

TOMSON (page 684). Mary[2] Tomson m. June 1672 (Capt.) Thomas Tabor, who d. 11 Nov. 1730; she d. 3 May 1734 [Austin's Dictionary of Rhode Island, p. 195]. Elizabeth[2] Tomson did not m. William Swift. This erroneous statement has appeared in many printed sources, even in The Mayflower Descendant, and was accepted by the present editor on the authority of that meticulous journal. However, Mr. Clarence Almon Torrey has informed us by convincing evidence that she m. (marriage bond dated 22 Sept. 1687) Thomas Swift, both called of Weymouth; there are court records proving her identity, and her only child was the son Thomas named in her father's will.

(Page 685.) John[2] Tomson m. Mary Tinkham, b. at Middleboro, 5 Aug. 1661. Jacob[2] Tomson m. Abigail Wadsworth, b. 25 Oct. 1670.

VAN VLIET (page 707). Arie[4] Van Vliet, bapt. 11 Oct. 1741, was a Revolutionary soldier, settled near Smyrna and Sherburne, Chenango Co., N. Y., and had sons Tunis (of Cortland Co., N. Y.), Aaron, Joseph, and Peter [Boston Evening Transcript, 25 Feb. 1939].

GARDENIER (page 718). 4. Albert[2] Jacobse Gardenier had another child, Sara, bapt. at Tarrytown, N. Y., 2 Aug. 1698; and two other sons, Jacob and Albert or Albertus, whose baptisms have not been found. Those interested in the Westchester County branch of the family will find a great deal of information in the printed records of the Tarrytown church. The suggestion in the footnote that the New York City group of Gardeniers belonged to this branch is correct.

(Pages 719 and 732.) The name of the author of "Old Kinderhook" is Edward A. Collier.

(Page 727.) Johanna Gardenier, who was hypothetically placed "with much misgiving" among the children of 10. Jan[3], was the eldest child of Arie[3] (No. 5, iii, see page 720). She is named in the will of her brother William of Kinderhook in 1790. [Courtesy of Innes Getty, Esq., of Yonkers, N. Y., who has collected data on this branch of the family.]

The name index is intended to be complete, with the following exceptions:

(a) Reference names in parentheses which indicate lines of descent are omitted.

(b) Names of officers from printed muster rolls in the service records are omitted, since they have no connection with the Waterman family and information is readily available in print to those who are interested in these outside names.

(c) Names of authors of books cited for reference are omitted, also names in titles of books.

All other names are included, such as grantors and grantees of deeds, and witnesses to wills, for although they frequently have no Waterman connection, most of these records are not in print, and it may aid others to learn that certain names appear in certain places at definite dates.

Women are indexed, as a rule, only under their maiden surnames when those are known, otherwise under the married name. This does not apply to the wives of Watermans, who are indexed both under their maiden surnames and also under Waterman in the form "Mary (Smith)."

Year dates of birth in italics are given for all individuals born with the Waterman name. These dates should not be accepted as always correct, for some are only approximations.

A reference in the form, 667-669, means that a name is found on those pages inclusive; in the form, 493-4, it means that a name is divided between the bottom of one page and the top of the next.
